POINCARE WANTS BRITAIN TO FORGIVE FRENCH DEBT TO HER

Is Willing in Return to Lighten Germany's Burden That Europe May Benefit

AND AID ENGLAND IN EAST

WOULD SOLVE REPARATIONS

Suggestion That United States Then Would Help With Debt Cancellations and Loan.

PARIS, July 10.—With very great political skill Premier Poincaré seems to be manoeuvring into a position with regard to the reparations problem which may be of enormous value to his country and of very great benefit to the rest of Europe.

Hitherto British arguments for reparations settlements have always been of the negative kind so far as France was concerned. In sum they have amounted to this: "Let Germany off a part of her burden and we will be lenient about your debts to us." M. Poincaré is trying to get the formula reversed, and, at least as far as England is concerned, turn it into this: "Let us off part of our burden and we will be lenient to Germany."

For the present the United States does not enter into his campaign, first for the reason that France has unshaken confidence that sooner or later America will remit her part of the debt, and, second, that in the three-cornered game that has now begun to develop on the European board America is not immediately concerned owing to her absence from the Reparation Commission.

The skill M. Poincaré has shown in this new move was first disclosed in his statement before the Senate on June 29, when he declared that France was at heart opposed to the policy of penalties for the reason that punitive expeditions cost enormously and yielded nothing. Since then he has let events work for him.

German Emissaries Arrive.

Today Herr Schroeder, Under Secretary of the German Finance Ministry, and Herr Fischer, President of the German War Debts Commission, arrived in Paris and held informal conversations with members of the Reparation Commission, in which they gave full and almost hysterical accounts of the catastrophe which threatens German finance if the reparation payment of 50,000,000 gold marks, due July 15, has to be made.

No official demand has yet been presented for any postponement of that payment, but it is not doubted that the two emissaries of the German Government will present it when they consider the moment opportune, and they will certainly ask that the remainder of the payments due this year under the moratorium shall be canceled or postponed.

In London there is talk in the Government-inspired newspapers of a meeting of the allied Finance Ministers to consider the situation which has arisen as a result of the new downward plunge of the mark and—with what the French naturally consider the utmost injustice—blame for the situation is being put on the failure of the Bankers' Committee "which was caused by France."

Now, say the French, what good in the world will a meeting of Finance Ministers or even Premiers do if it is to discuss German payments and that only? The Reparation Commission is already in existence for this purpose, and the last time the Premiers discussed the subject in May, 1920, they made a complete mess of the whole business and fixed a scale which has never since been adhered to. The Finance Ministers have quite enough to do with the finances of their own countries, and if they did meet the only thing they could do would be exactly what the Reparation Commission will probably do, and in face of the undoubted seriousness of the German financial situation extend the moratorium further to that country.

But M. Poincaré is willing to attend a conference either of Premiers or Finance Ministers whenever it is called—provided it is called to discuss something that will really help the financial situation of Germany and Europe.

Taking his stand in the failure of the Bankers' Committee to find substantial ground for floating a loan for reparations, he argues that that committee failed, not because of French opposition but because, first, of the financial chaos in Germany, and, second, because of the existence of a great mass of interallied debts. Confronted with these two factors, the bankers could not see their way to recommend any foreign loan for reparations, and therefore, argues the French Premier, these are two obstacles to be got out of the way.

Basis of Big Public Works Scheme.

How far he is willing to go toward remedying the first he has not yet disclosed. The French still cling obstinately to the idea of control of German finance, but it is likely that the Premier sees further and clearer than that. He has got ready for presentation the scheme of Minister Le Troquer for building in France great public works of exactly the same kind the Germans have been planning in their own country in defiance of their presumed bankrupt state.

That is the first point in his plan which he would be ready at any time to present for allied sanction. It will take nothing out of Germany's pocket further than she had planned to spend

Seaplanes Will Carry Roosevelt on a Tour

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10. — Acting Secretary Roosevelt will leave Washington tomorrow to inspect North Atlantic Coast training stations and bases, using a seaplane for transportation most of the way.

He will go by train to Atlantic City, where he will be met by two F-5-L seaplanes, a large type of scouting machine, detailed from the Atlantic Fleet to carry him and his aid, Lieut. Commander L. F. Warren.

"The use of seaplanes," said Mr. Roosevelt today, "enables me to keep in closer personal touch with units which are operating at considerable distance from Washington at the same time with the minimum absence from duties at the capital. Seaplanes are finding increasing uses for speeding up the work of the Navy Department in the transaction of official business and the transportation of personnel on urgent duty. The seaplane has established itself as an invaluable economic adjunct to the conduct of business in the navy."

TRAILING $2,000,000 BUCKETSHOP SPOILS

FORMULATE RAIDING PLAN

Discuss Method by Which Essential Records of Suspected Firms May Be Seized.

Philip R. Davis, a Chicago attorney, arrived here yesterday on the trail of $2,000,000 worth of securities which he seeks to reclaim for about 3,000 Chicago and Mid-Western creditors of five failed Chicago-New York brokerage houses, suspected of "bucketing." Mr. Davis admitted that he was still "one step behind" the securities he is after.

As a side issue to his trip Mr. Davis conferred with District Attorney Joab H. Banton on a plan to have Mr. Banton's office and the office of Illinois State's Attorney Crowe work together to suppress spurious brokerage firms.

In addition to representing the several thousand creditors, Mr. Davis is working in co-operation with James A. Davis, head of the Advertisers' and Investors' Protective Bureau of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and with A. G. Davis, Secretary of the Securities Division of the Illinois State Department. The various Davises are not related.

"The Chicago Association of Commerce," said Philip R. Davis at the Hotel Pennsylvania yesterday, "has been very active in cleaning up violations of the 'blue sky' law, and now that that work has been virtually completed they have turned their attention to the job of getting rid of the bucket shop. The bucket shop evil has grown tremendously.

"I talked to District Attorney Banton this noon and laid before him a tentative plan to obtain closer co-operation between his office and our officials out in Chicago. Under the New York State law the officials can not raid a house while it is doing business, although the officials may have reason to believe that things are not being conducted as they should be.

"Under the law out in Chicago, however, we can go right in and grab them. But often when we have done so we have been informed by the people in the office that all their books and other records were in their branch or main offices in New York. What we aim to do is to arrange some sort of system that will enable us out in Chicago to tip off New York that we plan to raid such-and-such a firm and when we do so to have a raid staged simultaneously here. In that way we hope to nab the essential records.

"I have traced about $2,000,000 worth of securities which I hope to reclaim. The batch I am seeking just now was eventually traced to this city. One of the reclamation editions that I have with me is for $35,000 alone. In tracing these things I have found instances where securities were 'split' fifteen different ways, under assumed names and with new numbers. That made the work of following them rather complicated."

Big German Gold Shipment Is Lost.

GERMANY'S WEAPON IN WAR

USE NOW PHILANTHROPIC

Country Had Right to Take Back Patents Granted by Congress to Benefit Whole People.

Francis P. Garvan, President of the Chemical Foundation, Inc., yesterday received a letter from Colonel Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, making formal demand for the return of the German dye and drug patents which the foundation took over from the Government three years ago under an amendment to the Trading with the Enemy act. The letter was delivered to Mr. Garvan personally by Fred H. Wilson, secretary to Colonel Miller.

In an interview just before he left for Washington yesterday afternoon to appear before the Grand Jury with the books and accounts of the Chemical Foundation, Mr. Garvan characterized the demand as something without any authority in law, something that might have emanated from Trotsky and Lenin in Russia.

"They do not charge fraud; they do not charge undervaluation; they do not charge anything," he said. "They just make a bald demand for all our property."

He declared that the Chemical Foundation and he himself personally were going to see the fight through to a finish, and he reiterated his conviction that in acting against the Chemical Foundation the Harding Administration was simply being hoodwinked by the Germans, who wished above all things to get back into their own hands control of the organic chemical industry of the whole world.

Demand Had Been Expected.

Colonel Miller's communication did not come as a surprise to Mr. Garvan nor his associates, for it has been expected daily ever since President Harding wrote to the Alien Property Custodian directing him to make the demand for return of property which the foundation took over. In the letter Colonel Miller stated that he was acting upon the express direction and instruction of the President of the United States. The Chemical Foundation is ordered to immediately cease transacting any business whatsoever.

The letter follows:

Alien Property Custodian, Arlington Building, Vermont Avenue and H Street, Washington.

To the Chemical Foundation, Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, 81 Fulton Street, New York City, N. Y.

I, Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, duly appointed, qualified and acting under the provisions of the act of Congress approved Oct. 6, 1917, known as the Trading with the Enemy act, and the amendments thereto and the proclamations and executive orders issued pursuant thereto, and acting upon the express direction and instruction of the President of the United States of America, do hereby demand and require that you forthwith and immediately return, transfer, assign and account for to me, as Alien Property Custodian, all patents, trademarks, copyrights, contracts, applications on other properties or rights which have heretofore at any time been assigned, transferred, or in any manner delivered, or pretended to have been assigned, or in any manner transferred or delivered, or which have been enumerated, designated or in any manner described in any transfer or assignment or in any pretented transfers or assignments to you by the Alien Property Custodian, a list of which patents, trademarks, copyrights, contracts, applications and other properties and rights so far as how available is hereto attached and marked "Exhibit A" and is made a part hereof as fully and completely as if copied in the body of this demand, but this demand is intended to cover any and all patents, trademarks, copyrights, contracts, applications, and other properties and rights above described whether included in said "Exhibit A" or not, and

I, acting as such Alien Property Custodian as aforesaid, and under the instructions and directions as aforesaid, do further require and demand that

Sole Survivor of Shipwreck Floats 48 Hours With Barrel

SAN JUAN, July 10.—After keeping afloat for forty-eight hours with the aid of an empty barrel, Alfredo Mendoza reached shore near Fajardo, on the east coast of Porto Rico, late Saturday, telling of the capsizing on Thursday of a small vessel in which he and seven companions and a crew were on their way to Culebra, one of the small islands off the east coast.

Mendoza collapsed soon after reaching the shore and was still unconscious today. It is believed that he is the sole survivor.

HAS SHE DISCOVERED THE SOURCE OF LIFE?

MAKES WATER RADIO-ACTIVE

Said to Reduce Bodies to Elements—She Calls It a Scarab, but It May Be Vegetable.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 11.—The Daily Express says that an astonishing claim which appears to be supported by some material proof, is made by Mrs. Maud Dickinson, a Brighton scientist.

She states that she has discovered a certain minute "something," resembling in form the "self-created" scarab or beetle of ancient Egypt, the properties of which are as marvelous as any that the Egyptians attributed to their chief amulet.

It forms crystals outside and away from the bottle in which it is contained. If these crystals are placed in a sealed test tube and the tube is dipped in water, the water acquires, it is said, inexplicable radioactive power.

By means of it composite bodies are reduced to their elements. Flint becomes fine powder. Pain is alleviated. It is even asserted that gold can be made.

The Daily Express says the Brighton Corporation are using one of Mrs. Dickinson's radioactive cylinders with complete success to clear hot water pipes in their baths of incrustations. Mrs. Dickinson, who is a member of the Royal Institution, when asked how she made her discovery, is quoted as saying:

I was experimenting with oils for the purpose of making perfume and scenting soaps when I noticed on a paper at the top of the water some small crystals whose presence I could not understand. I took them to chemists in London, and on their suggestion I fused them, using an ordinary Bunsen burner. There was an alarming and unexpected explosion, which happily did not damage. When it was over I found this fine white crystal like a diamond, and also a particle or vegetable, which I have since found to be the scarab.

"It puzzled me altogether when I examined it under the microscope because of the rays it was emitting and I placed it in a bottle. When this bottle is laid in the sunlight the scarab throws off through the air and through the glass minute crystals which I use. Tomorrow when we sweep we shall find more where the bottle has been lying today."

Mrs. Dickinson says the scarab has moved since she placed it in the bottle eight years ago. She says it is not an insect, and she believes it to be vegetable life. "Perhaps," she added, "it is the source of all life."

DUKE'S OCEAN VENTURE SECOND PART OF WAGER

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 10.—The Duke of Leinster gave further details today of his proposed transatlantic trip single-handed in a twelve-ton ketch.

This adventure will be what he describes as "the second round of his wager," the first round being his motor ride from London to Aberdeen whereby he won $5,000. It is rumored that the transatlantic project is concerned with a romantic episode in the future history of the Fitzgerald family, but the Duke maintains a good deal of reticence in the matter.

"I am quite sure that when the press and the public learn the facts later," he says, "they will pardon my secrecy about the enterprise. I may add, however, that it has no concern with money or motor cars. My motor run to Aberdeen was only the first part of a wager between a middleman, whose identity I am in honor bound not to disclose at this stage, and myself."

The ketch is a lightly rigged vessel, but equipped with a 20-horsepower engine which he will employ only if the craft meets with difficulties. The crossing will be made from the west coast of Ireland and the objective is New York. A seaplane will escort the vessel for the first few hundred miles from this side and aircraft will possibly watch for the Duke's approach from the American coast.

In mid-ocean he will try to keep in the track of the transatlantic liners in order to obtain help if necessary. No time limit for accomplishing the trip has been stipulated.

ROADS NOW SHOWING STRIKE EFFECTS IN FREIGHT EMBARGO AND FEWER TRAINS; HARDING PROPOSES COAL PEACE PLAN

MOVE TO END MINE STRIKE

ASKS WORKERS TO RETURN

THEN A GENERAL INQUIRY

Miners Pleased at Outline, but the Operators Are Critical—Peace in Ten Days Seen.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Harding today laid before the operators and miners of the anthracite and bituminous coal fields a three-fold proposal for settling the strike that has been in effect since April 1. The Administration plan, put forward after it was finally established that the operators and miners could not effect a compromise by themselves, proposes:

The determination of permanent wage levels by commission arbitration, and

By the terms of the President's proposal the Wage Commission, composed of three members to be named by the operators, three by the miners and five by the President, would endeavor to establish a temporary wage scale by Aug. 10, this scale to remain effective until March 1, 1923.

The miners were asked to return to work on the scale of wages which expired on April 1, 1922, when the present strike was started. It was provided further that, should the commission be unable to determine upon a new temporary wage scale by Aug. 10, the old scale would be continued until this part of the commission's work was completed.

Effect of Proposal in Doubt.

Whether today's proposal by President Harding would bring an end to the coal strike remained in doubt tonight. Operators and miners were requested to hold separate meetings and make their replies by tonight, if possible. Late this afternoon the United Mine Workers of America placed before the President a statement in which it was contended that the officials on the scene were without authority to make a final decision and that the members of the Policy Committee—there are 123 of them—would be summoned to a meeting in Washington next Saturday and a definite answer given then.

The operators of the bituminous coal field, headed by Alfred M. Ogle, President of the National Coal Association, had not made a reply up to a late hour tonight. They might have done so except for the attitude taken by the miners in asking delay until Saturday. It was obvious, however, that the operators of the bituminous fields were surprised by the nature of the President's proposal and not at all pleased. They had hoped for arbitration by regions or districts, as proposed by them on July 3, when miners and operators were meeting here informally. Their formal reply may be withheld until Saturday when the United Mine Workers of America make known their decision.

The President's plan was presented to the operators and miners in a conference at the Executive offices, in which four members of the Cabinet—Secretaries Hoover, Davis and Fall and Attorney General Daugherty—took part. Earlier conferences between the rival groups, with Secretary Davis trying to bring them together, had failed. All the conferees then went to the Executive offices and after a short conference between the President and Secretaries Hoover, Davis and Fall, the entire group was received by the President.

Text of President's Plan.

In outlining his plan the President said:

The information has come to me that your conference is deadlocked, or at the best, attempting to agree on plans

1,250,000 Are Now Idle Through Strikes; Cause Loss of 10,000,000 Hours a Day

About 1,250,000 persons are idle in the United States as a direct result of strikes, says a review by the National Industrial Conference Board issued last night. This represents a loss of approximately 10,000,000 man hours of work each day.

"With each day that this strike condition exists more and more persons," said the review, "engaged in secondary or allied industries, which are dependent on the major industries, are thrown into involuntary unemployment, thereby imposing an additional burden on the community."

The board said that internationally the unsettled condition was reflected in "downward fluctuation in exchange rates of the Central European countries."

RAIL STRIKERS FIRM; TRAINS ARE CUT OFF

23 ERIE CANCELLATIONS

Officials Blame Coal Shortage; Men in Mass Meetings Agree to Risk Seniority.

Withdrawal of twenty-three trains on the Erie yesterday, laid to coal shortage, reported curtailment of service on other lines, tightening of the strikers' cordons of pickets, mass meetings throughout the metropolitan district, and conflicting assertions as to the return of men to work and of accessions to the strikers' ranks marked the tenth day of the railroad shop crafts strike. At the mass meetings, the men, now say, pledged themselves to keep up the fight despite threats to cancel their seniority and pension rights.

Executives of the eleven railroads entering New York discussed the situation at an informal conference and expressed themselves as satisfied with the situation. The New Haven road reported that they had a 50 per cent. force and was daily hiring hundreds of men. The Erie announced a contract for rebuilding at least 150 locomotives at Paterson, N. J. This affects 1,750 employed in the Jersey City shops.

Further walkouts were reported in the Jersey City yards, where guards appeared with double-barrelled shotguns. Cancellation of six freight trains on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, announced by Paterson strike headquarters, was denied by officials of the road, who said the road was looking for business. Pennsylvania officials reported that 300 strikers had surrendered their railroad passes at Trenton. Strike leaders appealed to Governor Edwards of New Jersey to investigate the Dunellen wreck, charging that the Jersey Central was making no inspections.

Report Men Returning.

Although further curtailment of train service was announced, railroad managers asserted that many of the striking shopmen had returned to work before noon, the time limit set for the loss of seniority. On the other hand, strike leaders declared that none of the strikers had returned and that the only effect of the seniority and pension annulment orders had been "to stiffen our resistance."

Strikers reported that because of the lack of air pressure for trains and for working the switches and signals in the yards movements in and out of the terminal of the Erie Railroad, Jersey City, were badly crippled. Although the station force had to handle fewer trains than usual because of the withdrawal of twenty-three trains, there was considerable yard congestion and delay in the delivering of passengers at the ferries and tubes.

Erie Railroad officials denied last night that there had been any serious interruption in train service due to failure of the air pressure. They said that no switches or signals had been affected, and the police report that hand brakes were being used was incorrect. Congestion, the road explained, was due to passengers being unacquainted with the new train schedules, but they said the situation, however, was working itself out satisfactorily.

Because of the congestion in the Erie

Federal Marshals Will Be Sent Wherever Needed, Attorney General Asserts.

MANY MAIL TRAINS CUT OFF

Interference by Strikers Curtails Service, Officials Report—Wabash Asks Aid.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Department of Justice's program for safeguarding mail trains and maintaining interstate commerce during the railroad shopmen's strike was laid before President Harding for his approval by Attorney General Daugherty this morning.

Before going to the White House Mr. Daugherty was in conference with Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railroad Executives, for over an hour. In addition he was acquainted with messages from railroad executives to the Post Office Department complaining that mail trains had been held up by strikers on the lookout for strike-breakers.

"After investigation and upon request of Federal Judges, District Attorneys and United States Marshals," said the Attorney General, "I have in the last few days authorized the appointment of a number of Deputy United States Marshals at various places from Chicago, West and Southwest, to protect property and life and to prevent interference with the transportation of the mail and interstate commerce.

"This policy will be continued wherever justified and required. Law and order must be preserved and property and life protected. Transportation of the mails must not be interfered with and interstate commerce must not be interrupted. The President has been fully advised and has the situation fully in hand."

Mail Trains Cut Off.

Disorders and interference with mail trains by striking railroad men have resulted in several appeals to the Government to afford protection. Serious charges of interference and assault and, in one case of forcible seizure of railroad employes, have caused the Post Office Department to lay the complaints before President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty. Passenger trains carrying mails have been discontinued in some instances.

The most serious complaint received by the Post Office Department came in a telegram sent yesterday from St. Louis by President J. E. Taussig of the Wabash Railroad Company. Post Office Inspectors have been sent to the points where Mr. Taussig says there has been interference with the mails. In his message Mr. Taussig says that he has wired the Governor of Missouri twice about interference with the operation of railroad trains "but so far he has not afforded protection."

Mr. Taussig suggests that United States marshals be directed to protect the movement of mail trains. Attorney General Daugherty has been notified of this suggestion and the attention of President Harding directed to the failure of the Governor of Missouri to act.

According to telegrams to the Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service at Fort Worth, Texas, twenty-six trains have been withdrawn on different branches of the M., K. & T. Railroad. All of them are railway Post Office trains with the exception of two, which carry closed pouches.

Z. V. Rawls, Attorney for Pamlico County, North Carolina, telegraphed the Post Office Department from Bayboro this afternoon that the Norfolk & Western Railroad Company had discontinued two passenger trains from Newbern to Oriental and that the mail service was completely paralyzed. A large portion of the mail, Mr. Rawls said, must be held over in Newbern from sixteen to forty hours, and mail on the Oriental section must lie over from twenty-four to forty-eight hours.

Mr. Rawls requested a prompt investigation and Post Office officials at Newbern and Oriental have been directed by the Post Office Department to report on the feasibility of installing temporary mail service between the two places, thirty miles apart.

The serious interference with the mails complained of by President Taussig of the Wabash was set forth in a long telegram, addressed to the Postmaster General.

"About 9 o'clock last night (Saturday)," says President Taussig, "strikers at Moberly, Mo., where one of our division shops is located, surrounded our mail train operating between Kansas

MANY TRAINS CANCELED

EMBARGO ON LIVE STOCK

FEW RETURN TO THE SHOPS

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 10.—With an embargo placed on outgoing shipments of livestock at Kansas City today by the Chicago & Alton Railroad, sixty trains dropped from its schedule by the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis, an intimation that the Wabash line will cancel several of its local trains, and the action of the M., K. & T. on Saturday in canceling forty-two trains, many points in the West and South today began to feel increasingly the effects of the shopmen's strike.

Comparatively few strikers are reported to have returned to work today to save their seniority rights which, according to general ultimatums by the roads, were lost today to all those who failed to return by noon.

There were few reports of violence throughout the country, but the situation remained tense, with three cities, Bloomington and Clinton, Ill., and Parsons, Kan., partially occupied by troops, and with the militia of five other States mobilized for threatened trouble.

Virtually every State reported Federal restraining orders barring strikers from illegal picketing and disorder, and following these reports came others which told of mobilization of scores of special United States Deputy Marshals to enforce the orders. Several railroads announced more trains annulled, and at Kansas City and other points shipments of live stock and grain were refused.

Chicago generally was quiet. The most important gathering of strikers was at the paymaster's office of the Illinois Central road at Burnside, where more than 2,000 shop craftsmen received their pay for work done up to the day of the strike.

At West Chicago, where several hundred special officers have been guarding the Chicago & Northwestern shops, some one fired a storehouse and material shed. Only the fact that the buildings were damp from Sunday night's rain prevented the flames spreading to the more than fifty passenger coaches stored near by.

Recruiting of "replacement workers," as the roads choose to call the new employes, was at its height during the day here. On West Madison Street virtually every employment agency had a sign asking for railway workers. The same was true on South Dearborn and State Streets.

The ordering of troops into Bloomington came after Mayor E. E. Jones of that city had telegraphed Acting Governor Fred Sterling that civil government there had collapsed.

Acting Governor Sterling, immediately after the receipt of this message, ordered Adjutant General Carlos Black to entrain the troops. At the same time he made public the following statement:

"From repeated appeals received from Sheriff Morrison of McLean County and Mayor Jones of Bloomington, as well as advices from Adjutant General Carlos E. Black, whom I dispatched to Bloomington to make a personal survey for me of the situation existing in that city, I am convinced that there is a paralysis and break-down of civil authority there and that the peace and order of the community is seriously threatened. In fulfillment of my oath I shall therefore exercise the fullest authority at my command for the preservation of peace and order, for the prevention of violence and the protection of life and property in the County of McLean, and hereby call upon and appeal to all citizens of that community to help and co-operate with the authorities, both civil and military, in the accomplishment of this purpose.

"While the responsibility of the office of Chief Executive of Illinois rests on my shoulders, I intend to be Governor in fact as well as in name, and to firmly perform my duty, in accordance with the law, without fear or favor."

Immediately thereafter orders were sent to companies at Springfield, Danville, Pontiac and Delavan to entrain for Bloomington.

They were met at the Bloomington railway station by a small crowd of strikers who jeered and taunted them with ribald comments. Two blocks away a much larger crowd was interested in a circus parade, the circus attracting far more attention than the troops.

The Chicago & Alton shops were immediately occupied by the arriving companies, and machine guns were set up at vantage points. Up to midnight no further trouble had been reported.

President W. G. Biard, of the Chicago & Alton Railway, left for Chicago, where it was reported he was to entrain several hundred strikebreakers.

Fears of violence with the opening of the Burlington shops at Aurora today did not materialize. Several deputy marshals from Chicago were there. Strikers at dawn paraded in huge numbers

Patrick Henry's Ring and Justice Marshall's Watch Carried Off by Spring Lake Thieves

Special to The New York Times.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., July 10.—A diamond ring, once the property of Patrick Henry, was in the $2,500 loot obtained on June 29 by burglars who robbed the home of the patriot's great-great-grandson, William L. Royall, at 214 Tuttle Avenue. An antique English hunting-case watch, which formerly belonged to Chief Justice Marshall of the United States Supreme Court, was also stolen.

Mr. Royall, who is a son-in-law of Thomas A. Buckner, Vice President of the New York Life Insurance Company, is agency director of that corporation and a Summer resident of the Spring Lake colony. He said today that no clue had been obtained to the burglar, who apparently gained entrance by using a key to a rear door.

On June 29 a Japanese butler left the house vacant to attend a "movie." Mrs. Royall returned home for a few minutes, but she left at about 4 o'clock. When she entered her bedroom at 11 o'clock that night she found that a bureau had been thoroughly ransacked. A jewel case, in which heirlooms had been stored, was lying empty on the floor. In addition to the Henry ring and the watch, pearls and other gems had been taken.

In their search the thieves overlooked jewels which Mr. Royall would describe only as "very valuable." These gems have since been placed in a safety deposit vault in a Manhattan bank.

The theft was reported to Chief of Police Jack Brown of Spring Lake, and he called in County Detective Charles O. Davenport of Monmouth County. Together the policemen went over the house carefully for evidence that would help in their quest for the robbers.

Nelson Rockefeller, the fourteen-year-old son of John D. Rockefeller Jr., is in the Presbyterian Hospital, a patient, with an air-rifle wound in the foot. He is doing so well that he is to rejoin his parents at Seal Harbor, Me., tomorrow. The fact that the grandson of the founder of the Standard Oil Company was in the hospital did not come out until yesterday, although the boy had been admitted for treatment on July 3.

One of those who called at the institution at Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street yesterday afternoon was John D. Rockefeller, who motored from his home at Pocantico Hills, and remained chatting with Nelson for about thirty minutes. He was noticed leaving the hospital, but with a twinkle of the eye and a smile he refused to discuss the matter.

According to Ivy L. Lee, a representative of the Rockefeller family, Nelson was playing with other boys of his own age on the grounds of his parents' estate at Pocantico on the afternoon of July 3. He pointed a rifle at the ground and fired. Instead of the small shot going into the lawn, it rebounded and struck in the tendon of the right foot.

The boy thought nothing of the wound until an hour had gone by. Then the leg began to swell and he finally told his mother what had happened. Nelson was bundled into an automobile and taken to the Presbyterian Hospital. Surgeons made an examination of the slight wound and found the leg still swelling. The shot was quickly extracted and the wound cauterized.

On his visit to the hospital yesterday John D. Rockefeller was accompanied by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. The surgeons at the hospital assured Mrs. Rockefeller that her son would be fit to make the trip to the Rockefeller Summer home in Maine tomorrow.

The 200 strikers expected to return to work in an attempt to save their seniority rights did not materialize. During the afternoon several impromptu meetings were held by strikers. All were peaceful in character. Strike leaders had impressed the fact on the men that if violence occurred sentence to jail for contempt of a Federal court would certainly ensue. This is believed to have had much to do with the inactivity there.

That the situation is still tense, however, was indicated late this evening when a report was circulated that a trainload of strikebreakers was to be brought into the shops at dusk. Knots of men rapidly gathered on street corners to discuss the rumor.

"The strikers are all acting like good American citizens," Marshal Levy said after hearing reports from his deputies.

The ultimatum of many railroads, declaring that unles strikers returned to work today they would lose all seniority rights, was termed an "old story" by B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen. He asserted that the unions were "not worried" about the ultimatum and said that it was merely "talking in thin air" to say the union men had now lost all their rights.

"These rights must be restored when a settlement is reached," he said, "and, of course, any settlement will be predicated on such restoration of rights."

Shots Are Fired in Bloomington.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 11.—Three shots were fired at State troopers guarding the Chicago and Alton shops soon after midnight. No trace of the person who fired was found.

Twenty-five men, congregated at a strikers' picket post in front of a grocery store at the north end of the shops, were warned to disperse and a machine gun was set up to cover the strike pickets.

Lieutenant-Colonel Charles Neupan, in command, ordered the sentry details doubled and posted additional machine-gun units at vantage points.

A sentry reported to the Lieutenant-Colonel that the strike pickets had warned two women, who passed the alone, to get out of the way "for the fireworks are about to start."

Embargo on Livestock.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10.—The Chicago & Alton today placed an embargo on outgoing shipments of livestock from Kansas City, effective until further notice. The action was due to the general strike, officials of the road intimated.

Equipment on this road was taxed to capacity before the strike, it was stated, and when repairs fell behind curtailment was necessary. The Chicago & Alton is one of the principal roads over which live cattle and hogs are shipped from here to the independent markets in St. Louis.

No disorders accompanied resumption of the operation of shop work at Parsons, Kansas, and Slater, Mo., today, according to reports from these points, where first attempts by railroads in this section to renew the work brought to a halt by the strike of railway shopmen more than a week ago were made. United States Marshals stood by and State troops either were held in readiness or were actually present to assist in the event of resistance by strikers.

At Parsons the first smoke from the boiler stacks at the roundhouse silhouetted national guardsmen, wearing steel helmets and with drawn bayonets, as they stood guard at all entrances to the shop yards.

The situation at Slater, where shop operations were again under way after a force of Deputy United States Marshals had made their appearance, was unchanged since yesterday, early reports indicated.

Requests for State assistance in maintaining order were received today from railroad officials at Goodland and Hesston, Kan., it was reported to Governor Allen's office. Rock Island Railroad officials are located in both of these towns, where investigation of reports that pickets are threatening employes are being made.

Although everything was quiet in Texas, United States Marshal Baggett announced that he was recruiting deputies to handle any trouble which may arise.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 10.—Discontinuance of sixty local and mixed passenger and freight trains on the Missouri Pacific system was announced here today. The announcement stated that the action was taken because of increases in coal prices due to the miners' strike. The Wabash announced that it probably would discontinue a number of locals for the same reason. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas discontinued forty-two locals on Saturday because of the shopmen's strike.

MOONVILLE, Mo., July 10.—Two National Guard companies, numbering 150 men and officers, were ordered to entrain for New Franklin, Mo., late tonight and take charge of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad property there.

The order was issued by Adjt. Gen. W. A. Raupp at Jefferson City, following alleged threats made against railroad officials by a committee of striking railroad shopmen who are reported to have warned the officials to leave the town within twenty-four hours.

More Injunctions Granted.

CHICAGO, July 10 (Associated Press).—Federal Judge Louis Fitzhenry this morning granted injunctions to the Illinois Central and Wabash railroads, restraining striking shopmen from picketing, intimidation of non-union workers, and acts of violence. The injunctions apply to the entire Southern District of Illinois.

The Chicago & Northwestern also obtained an injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with their operations. Federal Judge Wilkerson, who issued the Burlington writ covering Aurora on Saturday, issued today a order, which, covers the Northwestern's territory in the Northern District of Illinois.

With increasing numbers of state troops and emergency forces of United States Deputy Marshals on guard wherever outbreaks have been threatened, the Government today announced that life and property would be protected, the mails safeguarded and interstate commerce not interrupted, despite the strike of railroad shopmen.

After a conference with President Harding, Attorney General Harry Daugherty said that the Government would make certain that law and order were preserved through the appointment of Deputy Marshals.

The Attorney General's announcement came shortly after Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, acting head of the State of Illinois, had ordered five companies of National Guardsmen to Bloomington to protect the shops of the Chicago & Alton Railroad. The ordering out of the State troops followed appeals from the local authorities, who declared that civil authority had collapsed and that the soldiers were needed to protect life and property. They were greeted on their arrival at Bloomington by crowds of strike sympathizers with jeers and ribald comment.

At Clinton, Ill., where the Illinois Central shops have been under guard of State troops since Saturday night, when an outbreak was threatened following a fatal shooting affray, the day passed in comparative quiet, although several shots were fired by sentries at a group of men who were believed to have been advancing to attack the shops. The attackers fled, none of them being injured. At Aurora, Ill., where an emergency force of Deputy Marshals has been on guard since the Burlington obtained a temporary injunction against violence on Saturday, several hundred strikers and strike sympathizers held a silent parade about the shops. All of the Aurora police force and many railway guards watched the demonstration, which was orderly.

Aside from a few clashes, the cancellation of some passenger trains on the shorter runs and the reopening of shops in various sections of the country, there were few developments in the day. Railway executives had expected some demonstrations to furnish the turning point of the strike, because of the ultimatum of many roads that all strikers who did not return to work today would forfeit their seniority rights.

Little disorder was reported as the result of the efforts of the roads to reopen their shops. At Hoxie, Ark., 50 non-union workmen sent there were chased out of town and forced to entrain for Poplar Bluff, Mo. The "Katy" shops in Parsons, Kan., the scene of rioting earlier in the strike, reopened under the protection of 200 National Guardsmen with 150 non-union men on duty.

At Sacramento, Cal., operations were resumed at the local Southern Pacific and Western Pacific shops with no signs of disturbance. Southern Pacific officials announced that about 1,000 men were at work, but union leaders said that 1,800 workers were on strike. At the headquarters of the Erie Railway in Chicago, where a labor bureau was established after the strike was called, the following sign was posted at noon: "No more men wanted. Quota full."

The Illinois Central published an announcement saying that any of its men who returned to work before July 31 would retain their seniority rights. In Denver newly employed men were put to work in the shops without any sign of disturbance or even of picketing. At Altoona, Pa., it was reported that scores of men working in the shops there had thrown down their tools in jobs a demonstration of the strikers.

Some curtailment of train service was reported from St. Louis and Hannibal, Mo.; Louisiana, Illinois, New York and several other States.

Temporary restraining orders prohibiting striking shopmen from picketing or interfering with employes or persons seeking employment at Monroe, La., and at Little Rock, Ark., were issued today.

All train service on the International & Great Northern from Georgetown to Roundrock, Tex., was suspended.

Governor Alf Taylor of Tennessee received appeals to send troops to Memphis to protect properties and employes of the Frisco lines. Four special agents for the Frisco were arrested by Memphis police for carrying concealed weapons while off railroad property.

Investigations by State authorities in Kansas of the wreck of the Golden State Limited on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific at Topeka were under way. The State also took part in the investigation of a wreck at Burrtown on Saturday.

Disorders spread to the East when the homes of two Baltimore & Ohio employes, who refused to join the strike, were bombed at New Castle, Pa. A striker was shot at New Castle.

Two workmen for the Missouri Pacific at Monroe, La., were fired upon and wounded. A former employe was arrested, charged with the shooting. In that and in numerous instances of disturbances in connection with the strike union leaders deplored acts of violence.

In most places where appeals for troops were made, the strikers said all possible efforts would be made to preserve order and they denounced the calls for troops.

At Knoxville, Tenn., a policeman and a negro strike messenger fatally shot in a running pistol fight, which resulted in no casualties. The negro surrendered when his ammunition ran out.

Walter Floyd, a Baltimore & Ohio mechanic, was in a hospital as the result of a severe beating by six men at Ivy City, District of Columbia.

At Wilkes-Barre, Pa., William B. Roberts, Vice President of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, announced a meeting for Wednesday of twenty-two District Chairmen, representing twenty-eight railroads in the East, on the question of wage cuts by the Labor Board.

Reports to union headquarters today continued to depict an encouraging outlook. Additional men are joining the strikers, reported F. H. Knight, Assistant President of the Carmen's Union, and all others are staying out. The strikers are still "sitting tight" on the Southern Pacific system, according to the system Federation Secretary, who reported that 200 molders and patternmakers joined the walk-out yesterday at Sacramento, Cal. "The sidetracks are filling up with bad-order cars," his telegram reported.

Similar messages came from many points. A telegram from Congressman William D. Upshaw said he had addressed 2,000 shopmen at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday, and was "impressed with their law-abiding, conciliatory spirit."

WILMINGTON, Del., July 10.—Two hundred and fifty workmen at the Pullman car shops, who had been expected to resume work today after a two weeks' suspension, failed to report. Instead they went to labor headquarters and registered with the railroad shop strikers. This action was in response to a meeting of the men held yesterday.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 10.—Twenty-seven striking shopmen were arrested today charged with loitering, following their refusal to leave the vicinity of the local railroad shops. Bonds of $100 in each case were fixed for appearance tomorrow.

Pennsylvania Reports Things Normal.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—The order of the Pennsylvania Railroad requiring all striking shopmen to be back at their work by noon today or lose their seniority rights does not apply to the Eastern region, officials of the company said tonight. Strikers who report for work will be put on probation, it was stated.

Railroad service was reported normal, and while admission was made that men were out, a great many were said to be on vacation or sick leave.

Clinton S. Golden, international representative of the Machinists' Union, in charge of the strike here, predicted that the roads would begin to feel the lack of experienced men before the end of the week.

He claimed that there had been no defection in the strikers' ranks, and that they had been augmented by the walk-out on Saturday of 200 men from one of the Pennsylvania shops. Railroad officials, however, said that only thirty quit.

Golden said also that 75 per cent. of the Pennsylvania shopmen here were out, and 95 per cent. of the Baltimore & Ohio shop employes. The Philadelphia & Reading is unaffected by the strike, as its shopmen's union is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

SAYRE, Pa., July 10.—Ten strikebreakers brought into Sayre yesterday walked out today because of a disagreement on wages, it was reported to union headquarters. Lehigh Valley Railroad officials would not deny the statement, saying that some workers on duty yesterday had not reported today. It was said that some of the dissatisfied strike-breakers were college students.

Seat Strike-Breakers in Elmira.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 10.—Five alleged strike-breakers said to have been sent from New York City, were set upon by a crowd of men near the Lackawanna station here late tonight, two of them being badly beaten. A detail of police, rushed to the scene in patrol wagons, dispersed the crowd and rescued the strangers, taking them to the police station for protection. No arrests have been made.

D. & H. Closes Oneonta Shops.

ONEONTA, N. Y., July 10.—The Delaware & Hudson Railroad has permanently closed the locomotive repair shops here, as a result of the strike of shopmen, despite the protests of business men and city officials. About 170 men will be thrown out of work.

WAY MEN IN BOSTON ACT ON BOARD'S PLAN

New Englanders Ask Individual Roads to Reopen Wage Negotiations.

BOSTON, July 10.—Representatives of the members of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employes and railway shop laborers employed on railroads in New England and Eastern New York, at a meeting here today voted to accept the recommendations of G. M. Flatten, Grand Vice President, that appeals be made to the respective road managements to reopen wage negotiations.

The present agreements contain a clause calling for a thirty-day notice when either the employes or the railroad managements wish to negotiate a change in wages. The men will ask the roads to waive their rights under this clause, and in the event of a failure to agree individually on a new wage scale they will appeal to the Railroad Labor Board for a readjustment.

Two former employes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad were arrested in the Hyde Park district today, charged with intimidating one of the road's newly hired workers. They gave their names as Angelo Ricci, a machinist, and Patrick Sagre, a machinist's helper. They pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued.

Officials of the Boston & Maine said today that the road's forces had been increased by about 450 men since Saturday and that half of those who walked out had been replaced. The New York, New Haven & Hartford road also reported a "substantial increase" in the number working on the first shift. A slight improvement was reported by the Boston & Albany.

The first act of violence here on the part of sympathizers with the shopmen's strike occurred yesterday, when two men attacked William Phillis, recently hired by the New Haven road, near the Dover Street yards. A patrolman who hastened to the scene arrested John Wallace on a charge of assault and battery. The other man escaped.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 10.—Chief of Police Belmer of West Springfield announced today, following an attack yesterday on two men employed in the Boston & Albany shops in that town, that fifty special officers have been placed on duty to safeguard railroad property and employes.

John Mastroni was beaten by a gang of men yesterday and the home of Peter Comiski was entered in his absence and the contents considerably damaged.

TWO MINE STRIKERS KILLED.

Two Deputies and Four Others Are Held After Pennsylvania Shooting.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 10.—Two Deputy Sheriffs, a man who accompanied them and three striking miners were brought to the County jail here today and are being held in connection with a shooting at New Geneva last night, when two striking miners were shot and killed and another wounded so seriously he is expected to die.

According to Sheriff I. L. Shaw's reports, the two deputies, L. F. Lincoln Jr. and J. C. Colburn, accompanied by W. C. Watson, were walking near a miners' tent colony when John Cawlischak, a striking miner, fired upon them. The deputies returned the fire and Andy Babihak and Bob Baldusky were killed. Andy Kosky was wounded.

After the shooting other deputies arrested their brother officers and Watson, Cawlischak, Steve Youhas and John Novotney. They searched the tents and Sheriff Shaw reported they found about fifteen feet of fuse and some dynamite caps.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, July 10.—Robert Farmer, Vice President of subdistrict No. 5 of District No. 6, United Mine Workers, was released on $10,000 bonds today after his arrest in connection with the killing of J. I. Majors near a Lafferty, Ohio, coal mine last week. A special Grand Jury is in session here probing the killing.

BUFFALO CARS RUN WITH WIRE ARMOR

Limited Service on Traction Lines Started With Motormen Protected.

ARMED POLICE GUARD THEM

Car Derailed Near the Barns Surrounded by Crowd of Jeering Strikers.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 10.—Buffalo, which has been dependent upon jitney buses for transportation during the last nine days, today witnessed an attempt by the International Railway Company to restore limited service on its Main street line.

At six o'clock this morning the first of four cars, armored in thick wire mesh, left the Cold Spring barns of the company. Two motorcycle policemen acted as advance guard for the car, and four policemen armed with sawed-off shotguns followed it in an automobile. More than 200 other policemen were stationed along the 2¾-mile route which the car followed down Main Street.

The first cars run were manned by supervisors, who were not called out on strike with the motormen and conductors. With them were strike-breakers who were learning the runs. It has been reported, and not denied, that 250 motormen and conductors from the Mitten lines in Philadelphia have come to Buffalo as volunteers to run the cars. The local company is controlled by the Mitten interests.

One of the four cars sent over the Main Street route was derailed a block from the car barns. A large crowd of strikers and sympathizers surrounded the car and jeered the workmen while they were getting it back on the rails, and some stones were thrown. One arrest was made.

An hour later the cars, screened with wire mesh and surrounded by policemen in automobiles and on motorcycles, were again sent down Main Street. No passengers were carried.

Mayor Schwab today conferred with the Mayors of cities along the Niagara frontier to discuss the general strike and tie-up of the International Railway system and to start action along legislative lines which will give cities relief and power to meet future emergencies.

A proposal was made to the executives of other cities by Mayor Schwab that a bill be introduced at Albany to give cities the authority to put auto bus service in operation when it is considered advisable and necessary for the public good.

Mayor Schwab also advocated a bill which would give cities the power to operate public utilities when they fail to give service to the public. The Mayor also sent a telegram to Henry D. Sayer, State Industrial Commissioner at Albany, asking him to make an investigation of the strike situation.

STRIKERS WARN TRADESMEN.

Middletown Shopkeepers Are Threatened With a Boycott.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 10.—Negroes have been taken to Port Jervis by the Erie Railroad and brought to this city by the Ontario & Western to take the places of some of the strikers. As a result of the employment of strike-breakers the walkout is expected to be 100 per cent. effective in Port Jervis, as the strike has taken on new features with the importation of the negroes.

The following warning has been issued to the merchants of this city by the strikers:

"Gentlemen, we will remember and try to return the compliment if you men will help a railroad company defeat the men in this fight. By furnishing food and clothing to the strike-breakers you cannot expect the men who are in this fight for a living wage to forget this. After this question is settled, if the merchants fail in business they will have no one to blame but themselves, as these men are all known."

SANCTIONS CLERKS' STRIKE.

Fitzgerald Authorizes Norfolk & Western Employes to Quit.

ROANOKE, Va., July 10.—Sanction to call a general strike of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Station Employes and Freight Handlers on the Norfolk & Western Railway was given tonight by E. H. Fitzgerald, President of the brotherhood, in a telegram to Richard P. Dee, Grand Vice President. C. B. Lane, General Chairman of the organization on the Norfolk & Western Railway issued a strike order effective Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

DAUGHERTY ORDERS MAILS PROTECTED

City and Detroit, stopped the train, cut the air hose and threw rocks through the windows.

"We had eighteen employes who were being sent from Kansas City, Mo., to Peru, Ind., on this train. The strikers forcibly took these men off the train and took them to the Labor Hall.

"We also have had bona fide officers of the company at Hannibal, Mo., in order to take care of our engines at that point for the purpose of protecting passenger and mail trains. The strikers have so interfered with these officers in their work that they are unable to perform any duty. We now have a number of engines in that roundhouse that have been put out of service.

"The interference at both of these points, unless we have some immediate protection, will oblige us to discontinue operation of these mail trains, and I believe the case at Moberly is sufficient to warrant immediate protection.

"I have wired the Governor of the State twice about similar situations, but so far he has not afforded protection. Have also wired him in regard to this case. The Federal Judges in this district will not be available until Thursday.

"From the above it would seem that it is necessary that the Department of Justice immediately authorize the appointment of Deputy United States Marshals to protect the movement of United States mail trains."

Interference with the Texas & Pacific Railroad's mail train No. 22, running from Marshall, Texas, to New Orleans, is reported by Inspector-in-Charge Robinson of New Orleans. He says that a large crowd of strikers gathered at Marshall on Friday night and threw rocks at the train, hitting the guards, who fired at the strikers. The day yardmaster was assaulted leaving the Marshall yards early on Saturday morning, thrown into an automobile, taken out of the city, and badly beaten.

RAIL STRIKERS FIRM; TRAINS ARE CUT OFF

terminal at Jersey City yesterday afternoon and last night, Captain Daniel Casey of the Seventh Street Station, ordered an extra force of policemen and detectives to aid the squad already on duty in handling the crowds.

First reports of the cause of the delay in the movement of trains in the Erie yards came from the police, who said that there was not sufficient supply of air for the brakes on the passenger trains of the Erie at the foot of Pavonia Avenue. Seven of the main line trains on Sunday, the police reported, were from twenty minutes to an hour late because of the lack of air pressure to operate signals and switches.

Two foremen in the Erie repair shop, who have been in the employe of the railroad for twenty years, were dismissed, it was reported, because they refused to do strikers' work. Train No. 8 from Chicago arrived this morning in Jersey City with a badly leaking boiler, it was stated, but railroad officials declined to comment on the report.

Jersey City may lose to Paterson, N. J., the present car shop facilities of the Erie Railroad, as a result of the strike, according to an announcement made by J. J. Mantell, regional manager, at the general offices, 50 Church Street.

The Erie closed a contract with the Cook Works of the American Locomotive Company at Paterson for the rebuilding of twenty-five locomotives a month for six months at least, Mr. Mantell said. This will absorb work normally performed by most of the 1,750 men engaged at the Eleventh Street shops of the Erie in rebuilding rolling stock. Twenty locomotives are overhauled there monthly in normal times, he said. Another 750 to 800 men are employed in normal times at the road's city limits shops on running repairs, and help make the Erie, with its 2,500 shopmen in all, further augmented by train service forces, the greatest employer of labor in Jersey City, Mr. Mantell said.

May Not Reopen Shops.

"With the favorable new contract we now have at Paterson," he added, "I doubt if it will be necessary to reopen the Eleventh Street shops. The contract will more than care for our Jersey City requirements."

The Erie also is sending 5,000 box cars to outside contractors for repairs, Mr. Mantell added. He said that, even if the shops were reopened, the Paterson contract would divert work from Jersey City for months to come. He estimated that strikers who returned upon settlement of the present trouble would find thousands of dollars in work lost to them.

The Eleventh Street and the City Limits Shops have been operated by the Wagner Construction Company and the Connolly Construction Company as contractors for the Erie Railroad. These companies yesterday issued an ultimatum to all strikers to apply for reemployment by 1 o'clock today or to come and get their money, as the company would be through with them.

Mr. Mantell also announced receipt of several attractive bids from Canada for location of car plants there by the Erie. Unemployment and low costs on repairs to car equipment were held out as inducements, he said.

Manhattan commuters suffered little inconvenience during the day, Erie officials said, because of the annulment of twenty-one suburban trains. Passengers formerly using trains taken off, it was stated, were picked up in less than ten minutes in each case by following trains.

Blame Fuel Shortage.

Each coal stock pile throughout the Erie system is maintained up to a twenty-five days' supply of coal, according to officials when laying train cancellations to fuel shortage. Insufficient coal is being mined to meet a day's consumption, they say, and hence trains are being withdrawn to protect the company's margin. It was admitted, however, that the strike had seriously affected coal movements and the company was not getting its usual supply.

David Williams, Secretary of the Strike Committee of the Metropolitan District, with headquarters in the Continental Hotel, said the "breakdown of service on the Erie is our first victory, and other roads will follow." He added that 400 Baltimore & Ohio strikers met at Stapleton, Staten Island, and unanimously pledged themselves "to ignore the seniority and pension annulment order," which they said had been issued to them.

More than 800 New York Central strikers at a mass meeting in Bryant Park, Sixth Avenue and West Forty-first Street, adopted a resolution pledging to remain on strike for a "living wage."

Figures were given out by the Central Strike Committee purporting to show that the railroads entering the city were behind in running schedules and the carry and demoralized especially on the West Shore.

"Every train on the New York Central system is running on schedule time," said an official statement by that railroad. "No train has been taken off. The service has not been curtailed in any manner. It is estimated that our shops are from 75 to 100 per cent. normal."

Report Schedules Normal.

The Pennsylvania Railroad reported all schedules "being maintained at normal." Of 1,800 vacancies on the railroad caused by the walkout, 1,200 have been filled, according to figures presented by Pennsylvania supervisors. There are three times as many applicants as there are places to fill and the officials say they are able to select the best of the material.

"At the Altoona shops the Pullman Company," the railroad's statement said, "has accepted an order for twenty new dining cars for the Pennsylvania system and these are being turned out at the rate of one every five days, which is normal capacity."

The New Haven executives issued the following statement:

"On the first day of the strike 4,129 employes of this road went out. Today the New York, New Haven & Hartford is short about 3,200 men. That is a copper-riveted fact. In response to newspaper advertisements this road is receiving hundreds of applications for positions; these men are being put to work and the number of positions is being reduced hourly."

At the Long Island City power plant 109 shopmen were at work on the first shift as compared with ninety-seven at the same time on the Friday before the strike, railroad officials said. Men of the supervisory forces, however, are still at work operating the big dynamos and other intricate machinery in the power house.

Oilers Working Overtime.

Up to yesterday little attention had been paid to the repair and overhauling of the cars of the Long Island Railroad, it was said. Yesterday, however, a force of machinists and oilers was obtained, and last night these men were working overtime in an effort to give attention to the many cars and locomotives on the sidings.

Picketing of the yards of the Long Island and Pennsylvania Railroads by strikers was more general than at any time since the strike began. Women formerly employed in the Sunnyside yards went on picket duty. They tried their persuasive powers on some of the workmen at the Sunnyside yards, but they did not succeed in getting the men to leave their work.

Reports were current that some of the Long Island strikers were dissatisfied with the progress of the strike and had called upon their leaders for information regarding its success in other parts of the district. Unless this information should be forthcoming by tonight, it was reported, some of the strikers intend to return to work.

Plans for a big demonstration in Jersey City tomorrow night have been completed, union leaders said. A mass meeting of all strikers in Hudson County has been called for the Fourth Regiment Armory, where Bert M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen, is expected to speak, together with Mayor Hague and district union leaders. Strikers of ABRI railroad system will parade to the hall.

Roll Executives Centre.

Representatives of the eleven railroads which enter New York met yesterday in the office of L. F. Loree, President of the Delaware & Hudson and Chairman of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, to discuss the strike. Mr. Loree said a "fair proportion of the old men were coming back," and that new men were being hired wherever needed. He said the locomotive repair forces—both those who do the "hot stuff" work on engines which have been run into shops from the lines and those occupied with "cold work"—have been reinforced materially, and were now adequate to handle the road's needs.

Commenting on the coal situation with respect to the railroads, Mr. Loree said that the Delaware & Hudson had seventy days coal on hand, but that he was uninformed as to conditions generally. From other sources it was learned that the present production of bituminous coal is about 13,000 carloads a week as compared with 18,000 to 20,000 carloads normally. This supply, it was said, permitted the carriers to add to their present stock from time to time.

By July 23, the public probably will know whether the more than 15,000 railway clerks and freight handlers on the New York Central Railroad will join the shopmen on strike. J. A. Robertson, local Chairman of the System Adjustment Board for the lines East, said yesterday. By July 23, he said, the strike ballots now being cast should be counted. Ballots already received at the Bryant Park Building headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes contained overwhelmingly in favor of giving Chairmen authority to call a strike if necessary in their discretion, Mr. Robertson said.

Clerks in Peace Move.

Meanwhile Mr. Robertson, with Chairman Winston of the System Board West of Buffalo, will confer tomorrow or Friday with Vice President P. E. Crowley of the New York Central. This, it is understood, will be a final attempt to reach an agreement on wage cuts, elimination of pay for vacation and sick time leaves and in contract labor. The New York Central is the only American railroad which refuses to give organized clerks free vacations or pay them while absent through illness, according to Mr. Robertson.

A strike of the clerks, freight handlers and station employes, it is asserted, by union leaders, would be a serious matter, as it would probably tie up the Grand Central Terminal, which is thoroughly organized by the union. Other big terminals at Cleveland, Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester and Albany also would be tied up, as they have approximately 100 per cent. organizations, it was stated.

Reports were current in labor circles last night that New York Central recruits were receiving $12 for a ten-hour day with bed and board. Word came down from Rochester, a labor official said, that the New York Central was "paying strike-breakers $1 per hour, food, lodging, cigarettes, tobacco and clothes, but of course they don't do any work because they couldn't, as they are incompetent."

NOVEL FIGHT ON CHOLERA.

Americans in Russian City Stirred Inhabitants to Clean Streets.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, July 10.—How American initiative is helping Russia outside the regular relief work is shown in the successful fight against cholera made by Gilford Babcock of Morristown, N. J., and Hal Tappin of New York, in their district of Mariupol in South Russia. The city of 40,000 inhabitants had cholera with a list of sixty to seventy cases daily, which steadily increased despite the local authorities' efforts and the physicians aided by American medical supplies. Babcock noticed how dirty the streets, gutters, yards and sidewalks were, and he conceived the idea to appeal to the people in receipt of American relief to improve matters in this respect.

A skillful propaganda was fostered by the competitive spirit between different groups of inhabitants on the various streets until half of the city was engaged in a gigantic cleaning bee. The scheme was so successful that the cholera figures dropped rapidly instead of increasing as the weather grew hotter, and now Mariupol is an example which will be followed in other localities where the American Relief Association is operating.

The Scandinavian-American liner Heilig Olav and the Norwegian-American liner Bergenafjord, which left Christiania half an hour apart on June 30, docked late yesterday at the same time after being never more than seventy miles apart. Wireless messages were exchanged frequently between the passengers.

Among the passengers on the Heilig Olav was George Carlson, manager of the Ford Motor Car Company in Denmark, who said that a new Ford plant would shortly be started in Copenhagen which would cover four and a half acres and employ several thousand workmen.

FLYING MONEY

BANKNOTES are 4619 years old. Chinese chronicles record that banknotes were used as far back as 2697 B.C. There is one in the Asiatic Museum at St. Petersburg dated 1399 B.C. It bears the name of the imperial bank, issue number, signature of a mandarin, and even a list of the punishments for forgery. The old Chinese chronicles call bank notes "flying money."

This bit of ancient history seems to give even greater significance to the fact that today Chinese national bank notes are engraved on paper made by the Crane Mills at Dalton, Massachusetts.

FRANCE STILL BARS BERLIN FROM LEAGUE

IGNORES MORATORIUM ISSUE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 10.—Premier Lloyd George's statement that it was desirable that Germany should be admitted to the League of Nations at the next assembly was recently brought to the attention of Premier Poincaré.

"Nothing would please France better," he at once declared. "The first article of the covenant of the League sets forth that any fully governing State may become a member provided that it shall give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations.

"That is just what France wants Germany to do," added the Premier, with a smile. "But, alas, Germany's sincere intention to observe her international obligations seems to us somewhat lacking just at present."

PARIS, July 10 (Associated Press).—France is not yet ready to approve of Germany's admission to membership in the League of Nations, it was intimated in official circles this afternoon in connection with recent declarations of Premier Lloyd George and other prominent British statesmen in favor of such a move.

"It would be best in many ways for Germany to belong to the League," said a high official, "but the moment does not appear to have come, since she has not yet shown a willingness to execute her obligations, which, under the Treaty of Versailles, is a condition necessary to her admission."

The argument advanced that it would be easier to control Germany's relations with Russia if she were a member of the League lacks logic so long as Russia herself is outside the League.

"The requisite to make Germany eligible is that she show good-will in the execution of the Treaty of Versailles. It would be illogical for the League, which is one of the creations of that treaty, to violate that provision by admitting her while she continues to resist."

The French viewpoint is that the League would be making trouble for itself in admitting Germany to membership when the situation is so uncertain and the meeting of the Assembly less than two months' distant, and it is thought scracely possible that Germany can in that short time clear up her affairs so as to make her a valuable member of the League, even were she eligible.

The French Government will take no official notice of the Germans' request for a moratorium, but will stick strictly to the policy of hands off of questions which remain solely within the province of the Reparation Commission until the latter is ready to make its report on those questions to the Allies.

The present state of things in Germany is regarded in high quarters to be extremely grave. It is feared that a monarchist reaction may get the upper hand, and thus nullify all that has been done toward reaching an understanding with the Government regarding the restoration of Germany's finances.

STINNES PARTY RALLIES TO GERMAN REPUBLIC

Convinced, Manifesto Says, Germany Can Recover Only Under Republican Constitution.

BERLIN, July 10 (Associated Press).—The Central Committee of the German People's Party (the party with which Hugo Stinnes, the capitalist, is so prominently identified) passed at a meeting Sunday a resolution embodying the clearest pronouncement yet made in favor of the republic by the People's Party. The resolution read:

"We are convinced that the reconstruction of Germany is only possible on the basis of a republican constitution. We therefore agree with legislation for the protection of the constitution, if such legislation is not one-sided. We demand from the Government the maintenance of authority."

The committee also adopted a resolution saying that while the party supported the republican colors it nevertheless opposed just as plainly any defamation of the old imperial standard, which it regarded as the "symbol of German unity, acquired by hard historical battles."

Chancellor Wirth tonight believes he has discovered a tiny silver lining in the cloud which has been hanging over the Chancellery for the last ten days.

One of the chief reasons for this official optimism is based on the tenor of semi-official and press comment in London and the somewhat noncommital but significant reflections on the present situation in Germany which are credited toofficial quarters in Washington and relayed here by way of London. Slight improvement in the mark reported from New York tonight was also viewed as an auspicious omen.

Altogether, the German Government believes its newborn hopes for relief from the reparations burden are not wholly chimerical. Internally also the Government has gained prestige in that inter-party negotiations have definitely eliminated the People's Party from inclusion in the present Government bloc, which will continue to consist of majority Socialists, clericals and Democrats.

Active support has been vouchsafed the Chancellor by the Independent Socialists who voted to remain outside the coalition, believing their appearance on the Government bench in the Reichstag eventually would precipitate new election, which, they assert, must be avoided in the present period of unrest.

This adjustment of the parliamentary situation is acceptable to Dr. Wirth. Even without the vote of the Peoples Party, the Chancellor is assured an ample working majority in Parliament.

BERLIN TO YIELD CONTROL?

May Give Up Financial Independence in Return for Loan.

Copyright, 1922, by the Chicago Tribune Co.

BERLIN, July 10.—The German Government which has been negotiating with the Guarantee Commission of the Reparation Commission tonight accepted all the Entente's demands for the financial control of the nation. The acceptance of the various measures, including supervision of exports, opens the road for a loan from the Morgan Bankers' Committee, it is believed here.

To help relieve the present financial panic Germany wants a loan of 4,000,000,000 gold marks ($1,000,000,000), and Secretary Bergmann, who is now in Paris, has been authorized to ask the Reparation Commission for this amount, according to reliable sources here.

This loan, coupled with a request for the immediate meeting of the Morgan Bankers' Committee and arrangements for a moratorium, constitute Germany's plans for stabilization.

The first reports from the German delegates at Paris according to members of the Reichstag, give some grounds for optimism inasmuch as they indicate that the French diplomats have taken the moratorium plea under consideration without protesting.

TART SOVIET REPLY SENT TO ARCHBISHOP

Head of Canterbury See Rebuffed on Protest Against Persecution of Russian Churchmen.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 10.—A reply has been received by the Archbishop of Canterbury from the Soviet Government to the representations of British churches on the persecution of Russian ecclesiastics.

It was suggested that a delegation from British churches should be sent to Russia to investigate the situation on the spot. This proposal, the Soviet Government says, is "even less justifiable than would be a suggestion by the Soviet to send to England a small commission to investigate to what extent the laboring masses are exploited materially and spiritually by the hierarchies of various English churches in order to maintain the domination of the exploiting classes."

In his answer the Archbishop notes that the statement as to the persecution of the Russian clergy is not challenged by the Soviet. He urges that the English churches are not actuated by political considerations, but by elementary humanity.

DENIES ENGAGEMENT RUMOR

Miss Margaret Wilson Too Busy With Music to Become a Bride.

Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of ex-President Wilson, at her home, 1,125 Madison Avenue, denied yesterday a report that she was engaged to marry William Kennelly, who as a Major in the A. E. F. acted as personal escort to Miss Wilson while President Wilson and his party were in Paris for the peace negotiations.

Though she dwelt upon her close friendship with the former Major, Miss Wilson said her musical future was engaging her attention to the exclusion of other things. Miss Wilson was a genuine success as an entertainer of soldiers during the war. Her efforts strained her voice, but recently she has been singing again.

Mr. Kennelly is Vice President of the Bryan L. Kennelly real estate firm. He refused to comment on the reported engagement. In 1908 he married Miss Georgia Brouer Ancher whom he divorced last month. He is a descendant of the French Cavaliers on his mother's side and traces his ancestry to Edmund Burke through his father. He had a distinguished war record and now is President of the Rainbow Division organization.

Miss Wilson, who acted as First Lady of the Land between the time of the death of President Wilson's first wife and the occasion of his second marriage, has been living quietly in a New York apartment. One of her diversions is horseback riding and she and Mr. Kennelly are frequent companions on Central Park bridle paths.

BOY ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Essex County Jury Is Obtained to Try Francis Kluxen 3d.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., July 10.—A jury was obtained from an Essex County panel today for the trial of Francis Kluxen 3d, 18 years old, of Madison, for first degree murder in connection with the death last October of Janette Lawrence, 11 years old. Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker is presiding.

The Essex County jury panel was asked for by the defense, which contended it was impossible to get an impartial jury in Morris County owing to the intense feeling over the murder of the child.

The body of Janette Lawrence, who had been stabbed repeatedly, was found near a tree in Kluxen's woods. The Kluxen boy had been seen with her that day and was arrested, but at that time the Grand Jury refused to indict him. Frank Jancarek, a Florham Park hothouse employe, was tried for the crime, but was acquitted.

Special Prosecutor J. H. Harrison, in opening the case for the State, said that Francis Kluxen was known to have been in and about Kluxen's woods all afternoon on the day the girl's body was found, and that he possessed a Boy Scout's knife. Footprints near the body, he said, corresponded to that of Kluxen.

Millerand Greets Orphans' Aid.

PARIS, July 10.—Seymour L. Cromwell, President of the Society for Fatherless Children of France, and Mrs. Cromwell today called upon President Millerand at the Elysée Palace. The President expressed appreciation of the work of the society, which has spent 115,000,000 francs in aiding French war orphans.

BANKERS HERE CUT LOANS TO GERMANS

FALL 50% IN SEVEN MONTHS

Financiers Find Balances Smallest Since Resuming Business—Mark Firmer.

American bankers have commenced to tighten the strings of their purses on German borrowers. It was estimated in the financial district yesterday that borrowings on credits established here by Germans have been reduced approximately 25 per cent. since the announcement by the Committee of Bankers that it could not help in a German loan at this time.

Although estimates are all that it is possible to get, they are from bankers who are thoroughly familiar with the international situation and with the dealings of Germany through international institutions here. The bankers estimate that Germany's open credits here at the present time amount to about $50,000,000, the smallest total since she resumed business in this market, a reduction of 25 per cent. since the decision of the Bankers' Committee, and of more than 50 per cent. since the peak in the early part of the year. This $50,000,000 is represented in acceptance credits, some of it on copper, some on grain and some on cotton, but the bulk of it on packers products.

It is estimated by bankers that the balances of American banking institutions in Germany now amount to about $50,000,000. This, of course, is exclusive of any balances which were in that country prior to the war. In this respect, too, there has been a gradual drawing down of balances in recent weeks, and they are not nearly so heavy now as they were earlier in the year.

Marks were firmer in the New York market yesterday and ranged around the 19 cent mark. Bankers say there has been a good inquiry for marks from the speculatively inclined among the foreign element residing in this country. During the last few days bankers with international affiliations have been besieged for news and opinions about what may be expected to happen in the event of a complete breakdown of Germany's financial system. Their reply has been uniformly that they can do no more than guess.

In connection with the conditions in Germany it has been reported in cables from that country that J. P. Morgan, who was a members of the Bankers Committee which met in Paris several weeks ago and decided against a loan to Germany at this time, is planning to make a trip to Berlin. It was stated by close business associates of Mr. Morgan that he now is on his annual vacation in Scotland, shooting grouse and playing golf, and that he has no idea of going to Germany now or this Fall. He probably will return home by the first of September, his associates say.

PARIS, July 10.—A dispatch to the Matin from Belgrade says that General Wrangel is at present on a visit to Budapest and that he has been there in consultation with General Denikin and many other notable exiled Russian leaders.

According to Russian sources of information at Belgrade, these interviews have been concerned with the organization of a new anti-Bolshevist movement among Russian exiles in the interest of Grand Duke Nicholas.

Mrs. Geo. J. Gould Jr. Out of Hospital

Mrs. George J. Gould Jr. left Roosevelt Hospital yesterday accompanied by her husband to return to her home, 955 Park Avenue, fully recovered from the operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Gould was taken to the hospital June 27, about 11:30 P. M., and was operated upon half an hour later by Dr. George E. Brewer of 19 East Sixty-fifth Street. Her condition was favorable following the operation and recovery was rapid.

During the last few days while convalescing Mrs. Gould, according to the hospital staff, spent much time visiting among the patients in the wards and has invariably distributed the flowers and fruit sent to her among them.

WANTS BRITAIN TO RELASE FRENCH DEBT

on herself, so, it is argued, there can be no question there of preventing her financial recovery or perpetuating the state of chaos in her finances.

The second point in his plan is hypothecated on an estimate of just how far the British are willing to go in their sacrifices for the sake of restoring European trade. It amounts to this, that England should abandon her policy of waiting for America to begin the cancellation of debts, and that she should begin by remitting her claims on France, who will respond by abandoning part of her claims on Germany.

"Why wait for America?" says the semi-official Temps tonight, in a leading article which closely reflects the Premier's thoughts. "It is in reality America which is waiting for an accord among the nations of Europe."

In the arguments which he has ready to present to the British Government in favor of this course, and which may within a short time take the form of a memorandum, Premier Poincaré will adduce British action with regard to Russia in promising to remit her war debt in an effort to place the country on her feet again. Further, he will instance the attitude of the British toward Germany in advocating the moratorium, and if events again follow that course as the result of the latest development he will ask why should not the same generosity be shown to France when the result will be the same as that sought in Russia and Germany of re-establishing stability and good trade conditions, and these not only in France but in all countries which would benefit by the cancellation.

Such is the proposition which he would be willing to discuss at a meeting of the Supreme Council, and in putting it forward he has this enormous advantage, that at present it is not France so much as England which is suffering from the giddy dance of the exchanges.

Advantages to England.

And there are advantages which the English are not unlikely to heed. In return for her "generosity," France might be willing to extend to England her help instead of her opposition in settling the Near East problem. She might be willing to extend to English manufacturers some part in the great construction works which are planned under the Le Trocquer scheme.

Last, she will certainly adduce the argument which the Temps thus expresses tonight:

"The day when the European Allies shall have wiped out the debts which they owe one another; the day on which the wiping out of these debts will have enabled them to establish a reasonable plan for mobilization of Germany's debt, the United States will find that Europe has again recovered its common sense and that investments in Europe will again have become a paying proposition."

"On that day a reparations loan will become possible on a large scale. On that day the United States will realize that she will have more to gain from helping Europe become prosperous again than from pressing pitilessly for repayment of the allied debts."

From the present impasse which has resulted from the fall of the German mark and the policy of the German finance leaders this scheme seems to the French Premier the only real way of escape. In the end, he argues, it will cost England less than she is at present losing in ruined trade, and for Europe it affords the only possible way of a return to normalcy.

Envoys Tell of Germany's Plight.

PARIS, July 10.—The German representatives were Dr. Fischer, Chairman of the War Debts Commission, and Herr Schroeder, Under Secretary of the Ministry of Finance. During the course of a three hours' conference this afternoon they informed M. Dubois, President of the Reparation Commission, that the financial situation of Germany had reached such a desperate state that cash payments of the indemnity would soon become impossible.

While the Germans did not formally request a moratorium, they made it plain to M. Dubois and later to each of the members of the commission, that Germany felt that such relief would be the only way out of her difficulties.

M. Dubois and the others of the commission listened to the German representatives and asked many questions, but reserved their decision until a later date, after the commission has formally received Germany's request and given it full consideration.

The commission will meet tomorrow afternoon to discuss the new crisis, and it is probable that Dr. Fischer will have further informal conversations with the members. Herr Schroeder has asked Berlin for instructions and may return to Germany tomorrow.

It was said at commission headquarters this evening that it was highly improbable Germany would make a formal request for a moratorium until after the commission had received the report of the committee on guarantees, which is returning from Berlin at the end of the week. The German delegates feel that the report of the committee will prove the truth of their assertions. They indicated that Germany had enough money for the July 15 payment, but since the drop in the mark they were unable to see hope of further payments beyond that.

It is explained that the Germans do not seem to know just what was wanted, but among the tentative proposals they had with them was one calling for payment of the remaining cash instalments this year by means of a loan, provided a moratorium of at least two years was granted. Without a moratorium a loan could not be raised, the Germans explained.

Do You Have Trouble with Your Shirts?

Men tell us of buying as many as three shirts at the same time, at the same counter, in the same store, at the same price, and alleged to be the same size, with entirely different fitting qualities.

Not "hard-to-fit" men; the trouble was not with the make-up of the men, but with the make-up of the shirts.

Different manufacturers with differing and indifferent standards of shirt making had been allowed to contribute to the assortments from which these men chose. Oftentimes, the shirts had been deliberately skimped to meet certain price requirements for sale purposes.

Of course, nothing like that could happen in a Wallach store, because our shirts are made to conform to certain high standards of shirt making.

When we have a Sale, as is apt to happen about now, our sole purpose is to clear up our regular stocks to make way for the arrivals of a new season; the original fine qualities of our shirts are maintained; only the prices are lowered.

BIG SCALE FIGHTING CEASES IN IRELAND

CHARLES BURGESS BURIED

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, July 10.—There is apparently a pause in the military operations, for since the advance upon Blessington no news of any military development upon a large scale has been received here. Rounding up movements continue and small detachments of irregulars with arms, ammunition and equipment are being taken here and there.

Public confidence in the capacity of the Government to deal with the general situation is naturally growing, but the obscurity veiling conditions in the southwest prevents rash optimism. However, the bad spots existing in this area should present no insuperable difficulties to troops which have given proof of courage and determination such as they recently exhibited in equally difficult circumstances.

The chief event in Dublin today has been the funeral of Cathal Brugha [Charles Burgess]. There is little doubt that this uncompromising anti-treaty leader died as he would wish to die, fighting bravely for his ideals. His funeral was made the occasion of a striking anti-treaty demonstration, hundreds taking part in the procession, among whom was Countess Markievicz. Government troops and police were withdrawn from the route.

DUBLIN, July 10 (Associated Press).—A great crowd witnessed the funeral today of Charles Burgess, who was mortally wounded as he was making an attempt to escape under fire after refusing to surrender when the Republicans were on the point of capitulating in the Sackville Street area last week. No untoward incident occurred in connection with the funeral ceremony.

Thousands of people lined the streets and joined in the funeral procession, which required three hours to pass from the church to the cemetery. The cortege passed along Sackville Street, the scene of the insurgent leader's last stand against the Free State forces.

The Republican members of the Dail Eireann and representatives of all the Republican organizations were present at the funeral. Republican troops fired a salute over his grave.

The suggestion that Eamon de Valera might make a dramatic appearance at the funeral did not materialize. The Republican chieftain, however, is believed to be in Dublin.

While the body of Burgess lay in the mortuary chapel at Mater Hospital six young women, wearing uniforms and carrying rifles, acted as a guard of honor.

Irregulars last night attacked two national barracks in Carrick-on-Shannon from the Roscommon Hills surrounding the town, but the garrisons returned the fire and the irregulars withdrew hurriedly after an hour. When the national troops scoured the hills later no trace of the irregulars was found.

BELFAST, July 10 (Associated Press).—The bridge at Dunleer, County Louth, has again been blown up, together with four others, thus severing rail communication between Dublin and Belfast. All trains between the two cities have been cancelled, and those which had already started recalled.

Telephonic communication between Belfast and Dublin was restored today for the first time since the Southern Government delivered its ultimatum prior to the attack on the Republicans in the Four Courts.

One hundred ordinary prisoners have been removed from Mountjoy Prison, Dublin, to Dundalk to make room for Republicans prisoners, according to advices received here.

The Sinn Fein flag, with a black cross in memory of Charles Burgess, is flying from the Anne Street barracks in Dundalk, occupied by the Republicans.

An attempt was made last evening to destroy with dynamite an important bridge over the River Lennon, County Donegal. The parapets on both banks were blown up and a large hole was made in the roadway, but the arch held and was quickly repaired for the use of motor cars. Ten telegraph poles were cut down and the wires taken away.

R. C. BARTON BREAKS JAIL.

Treaty Signatory Later Opposed It and Was Captured in Fighting.

DUBLIN, July 10—Robert C. Barton, one of the members of the Dail Eireann, who signed the Anglo-Irish treaty and then opposed it; Joseph McDonagh and a dozen other prisoners who were taken in the Dublin fighting last week, have escaped from the Portobello barracks, according to the newspaper Free State.

Barton and McDonagh, the paper says, were to have been released this week.

MANY SEE DEATH PLUNGE.

Bus Passengers Watch Nurse Fall From 7-Story Hospital Roof.

Passengers on Fifth Avenue buses passing through 110th Street saw the body of a young woman hurtle down through the air, and land on the ground a few feet from the 110th Street entrance of the Women's Hospital, yesterday afternoon. Miss Viola Mosholder, 30 years old, a nurse at the hospital, either fell or jumped from the roof of the seven-story building to the ground. She was taken into the hospital, where she was pronounced dead by Dr. Carrier.

According to James U. Norris, medical Superintendent, the young woman complained Sunday of feeling ill, but yesterday morning she told him she would be able to return to work in the evening. He said he did not think the nurse had committed suicide, but fell accidentally.

Miss Mosholder's mother lives in Avon, N. J. The young woman came to the hospital four months ago from Pittsburgh.

SIX ROB COLLECTOR IN VIEW OF PATIENTS

DISARM HIM OF PISTOL

Auto Carrying Thugs Arrives at Branch as Last Collection is Made—All Escape.

In view of convalescent patients on the lawn of St. Luke's Hospital and a neighborhood storekeeper, six armed men early yesterday afternoon held up Harry Fisher, a collector for the Sheffield Farm Dairy, at Amsterdam Avenue near 114th Street and escaped with about $600 before the police could be summoned. The robbers, who at pistol point disarmed Fisher, made their escape in a waiting automobile.

Fisher, an employe of the milk concern for more than ten years, spent the morning in making the rounds of the Sheffield branches. His last visit was to the branch at 1,064 Amsterdam Avenue, where his total collections approximated $600. After talking for a few minutes with Arthur Bahret, branch manager, Fisher left the store and went across the street where he had left his horse and buggy.

A black touring car drove up and halted so close behind the buggy that Fisher was compelled to walk around in front of the horse. As he turned to enter the buggy three men who had jumped out of the automobile surrounded him with drawn revolvers, one of the men warning him to make no outcry. A second man seized a revolver which Fisher tried to get out of a hip pocket, while a confederate seized a black satchel containing the money.

While this procedure was going on, three other men in the automobile were keeping a close watch with weapons in sight. The three active participants in the crime, as soon as they had got the money, joined the others in the machine, which started east on 114th Street and then disappeared on Morningside Avenue.

Samuel Gardner, proprietor of a hardware store at 1,082 Amsterdam Avenue, who saw the robbery, thought there had been a scuffle. When Fisher ran across to him he asked if there had been a fight.

"I've been robbed," said Fisher, running into the branch store to notify the police of the West 100th Street Station on the telephone. Patients of St. Luke's Hospital who saw the robbery called attendants, who rushed to the street too late to be of assistance.

Artists and Veterans in Harmony.

The Society of Illustrators and the United States Veterans' Bureau yesterday signed a new contract for the operation of the former's art school for disabled ex-soldiers, disbanded recently after a split between the two organizations over the control of the school. The art school will be reopened as soon as suitable quarters can be found.

Foundation Run at a Loss.

Mr. Garvan said that the Chemical Foundation started with about $436,000 capital. It has been run at a loss to date, he said, of $250,000. The 156 stockholders, all big chemical firms, have not been assessed for this loss, he said, and now, for the first time, the foundation is paying expenses.

Mr. Garvan referred frequently to the printed record of his testimony on the organization of the Chemical Foundation before the Senate last March.

"This thing seems to have developed into a personal thing with you; just why did you go into it?" he was asked.

"I went into it," he said, "because as Alien Property Custodian, I saw the importance of the chemical industry unfolded before me. It was a job that came to me and I can't let go, and it is a job I am going to finish."

"I am going through with it for the benefit of American industry, the American Army and Navy and the American people. I will tell you if you want to know what my most heartfelt motive is. It is the development of medicine. That is the thing which is the ultimate goal of this whole proposition. Industry after it has been given its freedom can take care of itself. Once industry is developed national defense will be secure. But the main thing is the development of research in this country on the chemistry of the human body. In this respect the Chemical Foundation is absolutely a philanthropic institution."

Mr. Garvan told how a certain big plant had been sold by the Alien Property Custodian and purchased by a concern whose Directors all had German names.

"But those men were the fine old Germans of Ohio and Pennsylvania who had been there since the Revolution—the finest fellows in the world," he said. "However, that brought the face to face with the fact that this company had paid millions of dollars for the patents that belonged to this one concern. If I went to put the others up at auction the Germans could be in the position of buying the other patents and becoming absolute monopolistic holders of the patents.

"And that started us to devise some way by which they could be made available for everybody on equal terms in the United States. We couldn't give them to the Government because there would have been nobody to take care of them—nobody to look into the patents and go around urging people to study them, etc. and nobody to prevent the infringements of the Germans after the war, and nobody to go in and invest if we threw them open, because no man knew but what the minute the armistice was declared Congress would give back the plants and they would have nothing but their patents.

Whole Strength of Germany.

"There was the job dumped on to me. I had a position where I had to know it, because every German knew the importance of the chemical industry, and if you read, day in and day out, their papers, as we went through their companies, you would have realized that it was the whole strength of Germany. It was the whole thing on which they based their preparation for the war. Germany would have been licked within three months if it had not been for her chemistry, and war was not declared until this industry told Germany that they were ready and that they were not dependent on the Chileans for chemistry, and that meant in 1914 the war was made certain. She made her explosives and everything else in her dye factories. I can show you those documents again and again—like that telegram from Bernstorff. Bernstorff cabled, 'If you shut off the supplies of dyes now, you can throw 4,000,000 men out of work in America.'"

Mr. Garvan reviewed the history of the Foundation, established through authority granted by Acting Secretary of State Frank L. Polk and approved by President Wilson.

Referring to the dye and drug patents, Mr. Garvan continued:

"Congress gave the Germans all that they had, and it can hardly be accused of unfairness if it takes these patents away when it sees that they were taken out for the purpose of strangling American development; that they were used to shut us off from medicinal supplies during the strain and stress of war; that they were used as a club to blackmail our State Department in changing its policy against the English blockade.

"As the Germans took them out, the patents contain none of the information as Congress intended. They are so fixed that you can make nothing out of any of them except by expenditure of thousands of dollars and the utmost energy in research. Germany, I repeat, took out these patents to injure the United States. She can have no objection if the Congress which granted the patents now takes them back again."

Mr. Garvan declared that he himself received not one penny of salary as an official of the Foundation and that never had he either asked or received a nickel for expense money.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Attorney General Daugherty today refused to comment upon the demand on the Chemical Foundation. Mr. Daugherty, who has returned to Washington after a week's absence, said that the case would be taken under investigation by the special Federal Grand Jury recently created by special act of Congress to hear war contract cases, and that no one in the Department of Justice was authorized to discuss matters pending before Grand Juries.

GOMPERS OUTLAWS A UNION OF REDS

Bookkeepers' Charter Here Revoked — New Conservative Organization to Be Formed.

American Federation Officials Also Watch Garment Workers, Now Voting on New Agreement.

The American Federation of Labor moved yesterday to head off the general attempt by Communist elements to seize control of legitimate labor unions in New York City by lifting the charter of Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Accountants' Union 12046. This union, it was alleged, had already fallen under control of the Communists.

Hugh Frayne, organizer in charge of this district, took the action by order of Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation. He appeared before the Executive Board of the union, which has a membership of more than 800 men and women. He will begin the organization of a new local immediately, eliminating the communistic and radical elements.

Officials of the American Federation are also closely watching the attempt of Communists in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union to nullify the agreement negotiated by its President, Benjamin Schlesinger, and executive aide with the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association. President Schlesinger, on the floor of the Federation convention at Cincinnati last month, said Soviet agents had threatened to destroy his power and his union if he did not bring about an affiliation with the Red Trade Union International of Moscow.

Labor leaders, for some time, have been watching the activities within the Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Accountants' Union in this city, whose delegates are alleged to have reported at a recent meeting of the Trade Union Educational League, promoted by William Z. Foster, that its members were "ready for the revolution."

Herman de Fren, member of the union's Executive Board, is alleged to have been sent to the Federation convention to organize the "left wing" element. He also introduced at the convention a resolution calling for "one big union" and organization along the Foster line.

Among the charges, it was said, 100 Communists had outvoted the other 800 members on important questions by appearing at each meeting in a body. The union is also alleged to have called a walkout in the international offices of the upholsterers union, when that organization refused to increase the pay of its bookkeepers, stenographers and accountants while several thousand of its members were on strike.

The union, which was organized some years ago under a charter issued by the Federation, has been considered one of the strongest of its kind in the country. Leonard Bright, its President, will continue, it is understood, as head of the new union to be formed here, as he has opposed the Communist element.

Schlesinger Under Soviet Fire.

"We anticipate no difficulty in getting the new union under way," said Mr. Frayne, "as a large part of the membership of the abandoned local is willing to keep within the laws of the Federation."

Since the Federation convention at Cincinnati, where President Schlesinger of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union aided in defeating the proposal for recognition of the Russian Soviet Government, Communist leaders and newspapers have been launching all sorts of attacks upon Mr. Schlesinger. Since he ordered an agent of Trotsky and Lenin out of his office some months ago following his return from Russia, Mr. Schlesinger admits his organization has been threatened with disruption.

Upon reaching a tentative agreement with the cloak manufacturers on behalf of the 60,000 cloakmakers in this market, Mr. Schlesinger referred the contract back to the executive boards of the local unions for approval, explaining that a victory had been won in retaining present wages, working conditions and hours in the industry, without a strike.

This gave the Communists a new opportunity for attack, and, it was learned yesterday, they have begun their scheming and propaganda to frustrate signing of the agreement. They have made President Schlesinger a target. The Executive Board of Finishers' Local No. 9 refused to approve the agreement, and the other ten local unions have still to act.

The radical and Communist elements have been attempting to sway the local union officials to reject the pact, and asked for additional concessions on the part of the manufacturers. They find particular fault with the provision pledging the international union to prevent shop strikes.

While reluctant to discuss the situation, President Schlesinger in a statement issued after the cloakmakers agreed that the agreement be accepted, declaring it a "decided and unqualified victory for the union."

"Whether the agreement is as favorable as it seems to me or not," he said, "it is the very best we can obtain. We have fought over every word in it to the point of physical and mental exhaustion. We could do no more.

"The responsibility for the immediate fate of the 60,000 cloakmakers has passed from the settlement committee to the members of the local executive committees."

Mr. Schlesinger said that Morris Hillquit, counsel for the union and the joint board, had revised the agreement, which he said in all other respects is the old agreement renewed for the period of two years.

"That means," he continued, "that we retain the forty-four hours, the system of 'jobs' work without standards of production, the provisions against discharges and reorganizations, the preferential union shop, the holidays, the limitation of overtime work, the benefits of the awards of the Governor's Board in 1920 and the machinery for adjustment of disputes."

The manufacturers' group has already approved the agreement.

Labor officials said Mr. Schlesinger had been compelled to take drastic action to oust from the union ranks the Communists at the international convention in Cleveland last May. He also threatened to resign at that time, but was persuaded to remain in the President's chair upon the urgent of friends and upon a direct appeal of President Gompers of the American Federation.

WOMAN IS RESCUED, 6 FIREMEN IN PERIL

HOSE HALTS "L" TRAFFIC

Occupant on Ground Floor is Carried to Street—Girl Falls Into Father's Arms.

A woman was rescued late yesterday afternoon from a fire which spread with rapidity through three floors of a five-story tenement at 402 West Forty-eighth Street. Six firemen on a seventy-foot ladder had a narrow escape from death when a back draft swept tongues of flame through the open windows of two floors.

To spectators the firemen seemed to be enveloped in flame. Their comrades below, realizing the peril, quickly directed several streams of water against the ladder and over the bodies of the firemen. The six made their way to the street and gave up further attempts with the ladder.

Only two persons were in the house when the fire started, Harriet Stevens, 12, who was in a third floor apartment, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tarell, 48, in a ground floor apartment.

The girl discovered the fire while she was cooking dinner for her father. When she opened the door a burst of flame drove her back. She climbed out of the kitchen window to the fire escape. Her father, returning from business, arrived in time to catch her in his arms.

Herman Doll, a fireman off duty, went through the burning building, breaking in doors. At the third floor he was forced back by the flames. Martin O'Connor of 450 West Forty-eighth Street found Mrs. Tarell, who was unaware of the danger. Clouds of smoke enveloped her as O'Connor broke in the door, and he carried her to the street.

The fire destroyed the three upper floors. Traffic on the Ninth Avenue elevated was held up for about thirty minutes by the lines of hose which were stretched across the tracks. Reserves from the West Forty-seventh Street Station were called out.

Chief Daniel Curtin regards the fire as suspicious. It was learned that a small blaze was discovered in an airshaft Sunday night. It was said that last Thursday night Mrs. Mary O'Neil, a tenant on the fourth floor found her front door burning when she returned home.

FIFTY SHOTS FIRED IN BURGLAR CHASE

WAS SEEN FORCING WINDOW

Tenants Arm With Rolling Pins and Other Kitchen Devices—Patrolman Hurt Scaling Fence.

More than fifty shots were fired by eight policemen yesterday morning in a burglar chase in the Williamsburgh section of Brooklyn. Half a dozen fences were scaled and residents of four blocks awakened before the police arrested a man who gave his name as Frank Bennett, 23, of 498 West Twenty-fifth Street, Manhattan, on a charge of burglary. He was held without bail by Magistrate Dale in the Bridge Plaza Court on a charge of burglary for examination on Tuesday.

Mrs. Anna Todd of 110 Lee Avenue heard a noise in the airshaft outside her rooms. Looking out of the window she saw a man on a chair trying to force the window of the apartment of Mrs. Bella Fox at 112 Lee Avenue.

Hastily putting on a few clothes and grabbing up a rolling pin, Mrs. Todd ran into the hall and woke her neighbors. Word was telephoned to the Clymer Street Station and men and women armed with various weapons from their kitchens, stood in the hall awaiting developments.

An automobile brought eight policemen. Just as they got into the open near the areaway, the police saw a man leap over a fence. Policeman Ettore Castellano started after him, but in trying to get over caught his hand and leg in some barbed wire and was painfully cut.

The other policemen took up a chase which continued through yards and over fences. Whenever the man was seen, shots were fired. The man ran through to Hooper Street, into Keap Street and then into Division Street. The shots awoke the entire neighborhood and attracted scores of persons to the street.

As Bennett dashed through Division Street, Policeman Albert Fortavecchia overtook the fugitive and ordered him to throw up his hands. Bennett ran for a doorway. Finding it locked, he surrendered.

Bennett refused to talk. He denied being the man chased in the yards, saying that when he heard the shots in the street he ran to get away from the scene. He could not explain what he was doing in the neighborhood.

SAYS LAWYER RULED POLICE FOR STRONG

TELLS OF SUBPOENA ORDERS

Nassau Jurist Warned Him Not to Pay Bridge Claims, Acting Controller Asserts.

Testimony indicating that Neal Van de Water, counsel to the Nassau County Association, an attorney not connected with the Nassau County District Attorney's office, practically conducted the entire Nassau County road inquiry, had State troopers assigned to him, sent them out to serve subpoenas and had contractors' books taken to his private office a dozen times was given yesterday before the Janks Legislative committee inquiring into charges against Supreme Court Justice Selah B. Strong, with a view to recommending his impeachment if the facts warrant.

Corporal James Flynn of the State Police, under examination by Harry C. Persing of Binghamton, counsel to the committee, said he received an oral order from Captain John A. Warner of the State Police to call on Van de Water at Mineola and to "follow his instructions." He obeyed the order, he said, and was directed by Van de Water to serve subpoenas on witnesses wanted in the John Doe road inquiry conducted in Mineola, in which Justice Strong sat as a committing Magistrate.

Flynn testified to serving a subpoena on John Both of Both & Weston, Nassau County road contractors, about Dec. 29, 1921. Both delivered all his books and papers to Justice Strong. He said that on orders from Van de Water he took the books back and forth daily for two months from the Court House at Mineola to the vaults of the County Trust Company. No instructions concerning the books were given him by Justice Strong, he added.

Counsel Clash Over Books.

When the witness was asked if he ever had taken the books to Van de Water's office in Mineola, ex-Senator Edgar T. Brackett of counsel for Justice Strong objected, asserting that such an action was not binding on Justice Strong. Mr. Perkins declared that if Justice Strong permitted the books "to be taken all over the county" he was responsible, as he was acting as committing Magistrate in the road inquiry.

The objection was overruled and Corporal Flynn replied that he took the books about a dozen times to Van de Water's office, where they remained sometimes from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M., and where they were examined by an accountant named Sparrow.

Counsel for the committee tried to show that Justice Strong had ordered Flynn to "swoop down" on a witness with a subpoena "at the last minute," but the trooper said he had received no such instructions. On cross-examination by Mr. Brackett, Flynn said that acting on instructions from Van De Water he sent persons away from the doorway leading to Justice Strong's chambers.

"Was Van De Water a public official?" asked Mr. Perkins, for the committee.

"Not that I know of," answered Flynn.

Acting Controller Testifies.

Philip F. Wiedersum, confidential inspector for the Controller of Nassau County and Acting Controller in absence of his chief, said he appeared before Justice Strong in response to a subpoena on Jan. 17, 1922, and was asked by Justice Strong if he was telling contractors that the reason they were not being paid was because of the John Doe inquiry. He told Justice Strong that was partly the reason and the other part was that there were no funds.

"He said he would not want me to say that to the contractors any more," the witness declared. When he informed the Justice that he had legal opinions showing that the payments were legal and offered to produce them he said he "got the impression" that Justice Strong "did not think the opinions important."

As to payments for work on the Long Beach Bridge he quoted Justice Strong as saying to him, "I don't want you to pay any more claims for the bridge." He said this direction was "peremptory."

On cross-examination he admitted that Justice Strong advised him that the John Doe proceedings had nothing to do with payment of legal claims to contractors. He said Justice Strong maintained that the Long Beach contract was illegal because it contained a provision permitting subletting, whereas the law expressly forbade subletting without the previous written consent of an official of the county.

Says Conversation Was "Polite."

Wiedersum admitted readily that the words of Judge Strong contained no threat and that they were uttered in the course of a "polite and gentlemanly conversation."

On redirect examination Wiedersum said that Controller Earle J. Bennett held a public hearing on the question of paying claims of $35,140 and $40,140 made by the Brady Construction Co. Justice Strong was notified to produce any facts showing that the contracts were illegal or unjust, said Wiedersum. The Justice telephoned to say he was busy, and the hearing was adjourned. Justice Strong did not appear at the adjourned hearing, wrote no letters prohibiting the payments and nobody appeared to interpose an objection to the payments of claims on the bridge, he declared.

Chairman Jenks brought out that when the witness asked Justice Strong how long the prohibition against the payment of claims on the bridge work was to last, Justice Strong replied: "Why, I don't expect you to pay at any time."

"At least until you are through with this investigation?" Wiedersum said he asked Judge Strong.

"Yes," was the reply, according to the witness.

William J. Morris of 86 Jackson Avenue, Long Island City, counsel to Both & Weston, described the legal fight for the return of the books and papers of the contractors used by Van De Water in the John Doe inquiry. The hearing will continue at the Bar Association rooms at 10:30 A. M. today.

GLASS MEN DENY GUILT.

One Hundred and Four Defendants Answer Lockwood Charges.

Pleas of not guilty were entered yesterday before Federal Judge Knox in behalf of fifty-three corporations and fifty-one individuals indicted on a charge of having violated the Sherman Anti-Trust law by restricting the manufacture and increasing the price of window glass. The defendants were first indicted on Nov. 28, 1921, but the indictment was dismissed on a demurrer, alleging that it failed to state that any of the offenses charged had been committed in this jurisdiction.

Then the present indictment was found. A demurrer asking that it be dismissed on similar grounds was overruled. Among the defendants is Joseph M. Newman, President of the National Glass Workers. The indictment was based on facts elicited by the Lockwood Committee. David L. Podell, a special assistant to the Attorney General, is in charge of the prosecution.

Junking the guns you ordered muzzled

When Secretary Hughes, speaking for you, electrified the world with his proposal to begin now the junking of the world's battleships, was it all talk?

Has anything actually been done?

This time, was the voice the voice of Esau but the hands the hands of Jacob?

Eight months have passed since that memorable day. Edward A. Muschamp has been looking in the junk shops and fence corners for the remains of scrapped battleships. He has searched the records to find out how America, England and Japan are keeping faith with you on the 5-5-3 treaty.

What he discovered will surprise you, and give you again a thrill of hope that you and your children are going to work out the way to end all war.

CROKERS TO UNITE IN WILL CONTEST

BLAME WIDOW FOR TROUBLE

Declare Their Sister Florence, Who Lives Abroad, Was Influenced by Father.

Mrs. Ethel C. White and Howard Croker, children of the late Richard Croker, announced yesterday that they would join their brother Richard in the contest of their father's will, filed at West Palm Beach, Fla., on Saturday, in which he left his entire estate to his second wife, Mrs. Bula Edmondson Croker, with a request that she give his daughter Florence 10,000 pounds.

Mrs. White and Howard Croker said that the only point of estrangement with their father was their refusal to accede to his request for the revocation of a trust fund of $133,000 created by their father and mother in 1909. They repeated the opinion, previously expressed by Richard Croker Jr., that the breaking up of the friendly relations between Mr. Croker and his children was necessary if they were to be deprived of any part in his fortune and said that their sister Florence, wife of Major C. J. Norris, had lived abroad for fifteen years and, being without information, was guided entirely by her father and his second wife.

The two younger children of Mr. Croker said they had no information concerning the will, the date of which has been given as Oct. 12, 1919, except that obtained from the newspapers. Their statement follows:

Trouble Over Trust Fund.

"The date of the will is reported as Oct. 12, 1919. Our father's second marriage occurred in November of 1914, about two months after the death of our mother and while he was living at the family residence with his children in this city. Between the date of the marriage and the date given for the will, the only thing that had occurred between our father and us which could in any way have offended him was our refusal to accede to his request, made in the year 1917, to revoke the trust agreement made by both our parents in the year 1909. This trust agreement provides that the principal of the trust, now some $133,000, should be divided among the three children, Ethel, Florence and Howard, on the death of both parents.

"In 1917 our father insisted that this trust be revoked and that the trust funds be sent to him. We both visited our father for the purpose of discussing this matter and informed him that we were unwilling to have the trust revoked and wished to have our brother, Richard, continue as trustee and to have the trust funds kept intact, so that the arrangement made by our deceased mother would be carried out. A large part of the trust fund had been contributed by our mother out of her own resources. The purpose of both parents in the trust agreement was to provide for the three younger children upon the death of the parents. While our father was disappointed at our refusal to consent to the revocation of the trust agreement, he remained on most friendly terms with us and was quite friendly with us in the month of October, 1919.

Blame Mrs. Croker.

"Prior to the attempted revocation of the trust our father did withdraw from our brother Richard the control of his affairs in this country and had turned that over to his second wife. No one had any objection to this because we all felt our father was at liberty to place the management of his affairs where he pleased. It became evident shortly after, however, that efforts were being made by our father's second wife to turn him away from all his children and especially against our brother Richard, who was the most familiar with his affairs. We realize now that it was essential that the friendly and affectionate relations existing between our father and his children must be broken up if his entire fortune was to be diverted from them. We were familiar with the part our brother Richard had played in managing our father's affairs, as well as his management of the trust estate, and knowing the malicious influence being exerted on our father, we naturally supported Richard. Our sister Florence, who was not in this country for fifteen years, was not familiar with the situation and did not know the facts as we knew them. She was guided entirely by the suggestions made or the views held by my father and his wife and had no other source of information in the matter.

"Our attitude with respect to the revocation of the trust agreement has been sustained by the Supreme Court in this State in the litigation commenced by our brother Richard to account as trustee under said trust. The Court distinctly held that our father had no right to revoke the trust agreement, and that upon his death the principal of the trust fund must be divided among the three children mentioned.

"The copy of the will as published in the newspapers shows that no provision whatever was made for any of the children, even Florence. The paper referred to as a codicil is merely a note written on the stationery that our father was accustomed to use in Ireland, in this note the suggestion is made that Florence be remembered. We are informed that the note is no part of the will, and is wholly ineffective. The publication of the note apparently is made for the purpose of showing that our father had not turned against all his children. The guidance to include Florence in the will, however, is obvious and significant.

"We intend joining with our brother Richard in a contest of the will which has been filed in Florida."

DOUBT GREEK AGGRESSION.

British Expect No Attempt to Capture Constantinople.

LONDON, July 10 (Associated Press).—British official circles expressed skepticism today at reports of the intention of the Greek Army to march on Constantinople contained in a special dispatch from Athens yesterday.

They recall that when this plan was in contemplation by the Greeks last Summer the British Foreign Office informed the Greek Government that any such move would be considered as a declaration of war by Greece upon the Allies and would be resisted with all the military and naval forces at the Allies' command. Lord Granville, then British Minister at Athens, conveyed this information in the form of an ultimatum to the Greek Foreign Minister, who placed it before King Constantine. All preparations for the project were immediately dropped.

Concerning reports that munitions had been landed at Smyrna by British ships, War Office officials point out that this would be in distinct contravention of allied neutrality, and they think it highly improbable.

Competent military observers in London give it as their opinion that even if Greece desired to take Constantinople she would be wholly unable, in her present critical financial state, to support any such ambitious plan.

Wittenberg May Lose $50,000.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 10.—The value of the estate of Charles F. McIlvrey, manufacturer, banker and one of the founders of the Hobbins & Myers Company, who died here recently, was estimated at $400,000 today when application was made for the appointment of an administrator. Of this amount $350,000 is in personal property and $50,000 in real estate. Because Mr. McIlvrey left no will Wittenberg College will probably lose the $50,000 endowment pledged by the manufacturer in the college just before his death.

Wm. E. Noe & Son, Brooklyn.

Four weeks after the Noe contract was signed, the job was "out of the hole" and the first floor had been concreted. Four weeks later the roof was on.

The Thought of the Unknown Buyer

Every Kissel workman feels a sense of true obligation to the man or woman who buys the car he helps to build.

He has been trained to work with the thought of the Unknown Buyer uppermost in his mind—he thinks of this buyer as a real individual, whose comfort, safety and satisfaction depend on the skill and thoroughness with which his work is done.

The first time you take the wheel of a Kissel Custom-Built Six, you sense the difference brought about by this idea of building each car as if for a special order. Every month and every mile pile up further proof of distinctive performance.

Check over one by one the qualities you expect in the car of your choice, then see how surely Kissel has provided them, with a finish and refinement that go even beyond your expectations, and at a price that makes immediate ownership easily possible.

The car awaits your inspection.

Consistent Performance
—When you have driven a Kissel for hours at a stretch, you will realize what master craftsmanship means in a motor car. The ready responsiveness of the motor, the ease of handling, the unwearied comfort, and the freedom from vibration, noise and rattle—these are found only in the custom-built car.

Unusual Endurance
—The Kissel custom-built principle reduces operation troubles to a minimum. Repeated tests and inspections insure sturdy axles, steering knuckles, frame and springs. Hand fitting and careful manufacturing eliminate looseness in bearings, pistons and other moving parts. The Kissel is made to endure.

Built for Safety
—There is no better insurance than dependable brakes and ability to hold the road. The Kissel is fitted with double external contracting brakes, easily adjustable and dependable. The frame has a "kick up" at either end so that the weight of the car is hung centrally low and is evenly distributed.

Uniformity
—No one part in the Kissel receives special attention at the expense of others. Construction throughout is uniformly thorough. You do not "happen" to get a good Kissel. Each car is as carefully built as its brothers.

The Remington

Improved No. 10

THE past year has witnessed a series of Remington developments without a parallel in the history of the typewriter industry.

The instant success of the Remington Portable is a natural outgrowth of its superior design and public confidence in the soundness of Remington mechanical principles. Its acknowledged leadership was inevitable. It is an added manifestation of the high public esteem accorded to the Remington Company and its products over a long period of years. It is a logical acceptance of the belief that the sterling qualities of the older members of the "family" are to be found likewise in the younger.

The Remington Accounting Machine furnishes a valuable addition to accounting exactness. It provides a new and fundamentally superior proof of accuracy in all bookkeeping work.

Greatest of all is the Improved No. 10 Remington correspondence typewriter, known already to its users everywhere as the machine with the "Natural Touch"—a triumph in typewriter efficiency which makes the operation of the keys like second nature—virtually automatic and almost unconscious. And this is only one of a dozen fundamental advances which make the Correspondence Remington the choice of those who demand accuracy, beauty of work, and pronounced ease of operation.

From the beginning of the industry, typewriter has meant Remington and the name Remington stands today for everything that is progressive, worth-while and sound in typewriting. Whatever the nature of the work, whether personal use, office correspondence, tabulating or combined typing and adding, there is a Remington built for the purpose. And each of these Remingtons represents the forward thought in its own field.

May not we arrange to have one of our representatives see you now to show how Remington service is an important help in this improving-business era?

"I Wonder if You Could Tell Me

—what newspaper I ought to read in the East that will give me the best news from the West so I can keep more or less in touch with my old home and friends?"

This question was addressed to a distinguished-looking gentleman by a young matron who, with a small daughter, was on her way from her native Middle West to join her husband in the East, where they will make their permanent home.

The reply was:

"If I were you I would read the Philadelphia Public Ledger. I'm familiar with most of the newspapers in the East and I have come to the conclusion that in the Public Ledger you will not only find more news that will interest you from the West and Middle West, but you will find that it will give you a bird's-eye view of the whole world."

Which goes to show that the Philadelphia Public Ledger is noted both at home and abroad for its complete and superior news service. Through leased wires, cable service and its feature syndicate it distributes daily the news of America and of the world to more than 300 newspapers in the United States and Canada.

The Public Ledger in a little more than nine years has increased the circulation of its daily editions from 45,000 a day to more than 260,000.

LYNCH KNOCKS OUT BUFF IN THE 14TH

TOWEL THROWN IN THE RING

LOSER SEVERELY BEATEN

Puts Up a Game Fight, Refusing Referee's Plea to Give In at End of Thirteenth.

Joe Lynch regained the bantamweight championship of the world at the New York Velodrome last night when Johnny Buff's seconds threw the towel into the ring after six seconds of fighting in the fourteenth round. It was just a year ago this month that Lynch had returned the title to Pete Herman only to have the latter lose it last September to Johnny Buff.

The end was not unexpected. Lynch had had the better of every round. He had jabbed and punched Buff all around the ring until the champion's face was bruised and swollen and blood was streaming from his mouth and nose. Several of his teeth had been knocked out and his left eye was closed.

From the fifth round on it was simply a question of how long the game little fighter from Jersey could stand the punishment, or how long his handlers would defer acknowledging defeat by throwing in the towel. That he was game and that he assimilated a world of punishment will be attested by the 18,000 who were in the Velodrome to see the fight. At the end of the thirteenth round Buff was led groggy to his corner, but refused the referee's plea to have the fight stopped.

Loser Fights Game Battle.

Lynch's victory was not treated with the wild acclaim that was anticipated should he succeed in his quest of the title. There was some cheering and a few of his more enthusiastic followers tried to climb into the ring to shake his hand, but it was scarcely the demonstration that would be expected following such a remarkable come-back.

It seemed that many in the crowd, even many of those who had backed Lynch to win, could scarcely find the spirit to cheer the newly-found champion in view of the game but hopeless battle that Buff had waged from the clang of the first round.

As the result of the bout Lynch's name will go down in pugilistic history along side of Stanley Ketchel, Pete Herman and the few others who have succeeded in regaining their championships once the crowns had been lifted from their heads.

It was the history of nature repeating itself last night. It was the case of a good little man losing to a larger one. Lynch had all the physical advantages. He weighed 116¼ pounds against Buff's 113¾. He is three inches taller than his opponent from Jersey City, but the difference seemed even greater when they met in the ring.

The advantage in reach, too, was 3 inch's. And last, but far from being first, there was a great difference in age. It was a young man of 23 fighting against a man of 34, and 34 is old as they measure age in pugilism. It was the old story of youth being served.

Lynch Is Buff's Master.

That Lynch is Buff's master he convincingly demonstrated. He is a much superior boxer and a far more finished ring general. He fought a cool, well planned battle from the start. He was deliberate in his actions, and never once made a mistake of trying to finish the battle in a hurry. It seemed that after the first he realized that he was Buff's master, and he elected to fight a waiting battle rather than to take unnecessary chances.

It was his dazzling left hand jab that won the fight for Lynch. It had Buff completely baffled. The New Jersey boxer had no defense for it, and as a result he was subjected to merciless jabbing throughout every round he was in the ring. All that Buff had were two wild swings—his left and his right. He tried repeatedly to score with them, but except on rare occasions he was unable to land on his rival.

Lynch repeatedly ducked or blocked or retaliated with the damaging straight left and right crosses that continually had Buff in distress.

There were no clean knockdowns until the one in the fourteenth round. Lynch staggered Buff in the sixth round and Johnny slipped to one knee in the tenth, but he was up quickly without taking the count.

When the boxers left the ring Lynch did not carry a scar of the battle. Buff on the other hand was compelled to sit in his corner for several minutes before his weary legs could carry his bruised body to his dressing room.

Results of Preliminaries.

The first preliminary was between Murray Bresner, who weighed 113¾ pounds, and Willie O'Connel, who weighed 117. It was a four-round bout and the decision was given to O'Connell, who gained a clear lead on points.

The second preliminary was a six-round bout between Harry Brown of Philadelphia and Johnny Drummie of Jersey City. It went the limit, with Brown earning the decision by a clean-cut margin. Brown weighed 132¼ and Drummie weighed 134 pounds.

The semifinal was a scheduled twelve-round bout between Frankie Jerome of the Bronx and Jack Wolfe of Cleveland. Both boys weighed 120 pounds. Jerome was given the decision. He won by the proverbial mile. But it was a real battle that will be long remembered by those who saw it. After being floored eleven times during the bout, Wolfe was still fighting at the bell in the twelfth round. He was groggy and punch drunk, but the fighting instinct was still alive.

Wolfe was knocked down seven times in the first round. On each occasion he refused to take the count. He was floored again in the second and again and again he refused to take a count. In the seventh he landed a glancing right to the chin sent the Cleveland boy to the canvas, but, as before, he refused to listen to a count.

In the ninth Wolfe once more was toppled over. The last time he went down was in the eleventh round, when a right swing dropped him for the count of seven. And yet he got in the last punch of the bout, driving a right to Jerome's body just as the bell sounded in the twelfth round.

Daylight When Crowd Begins to Arrive.

It was still broad daylight when the crowd began arriving. Thousands of motor cars were parked within a radius of a mile of the Velodrome, but when the first preliminary was put on there were still hundreds of vacancies on the embankments and in the reserve sections. It was evident that the regulars who had purchased their reserved tickets in advance were delayed in getting into the Velodrome by the congestion outside. However, there was a steady influx of people, and by the time the main bout was on it was estimated that upward of 18,000 persons were in the Velodrome.

Most of the spectators were parked in the reserved section. Vacant seats were high up the track, where the cycle kings hold forth. There were blotches of these and it was evident that many who would have been at the bout had been frightened away, fearing they would have no chance to get seats at the last moment. They had figured without taking into consideration the vastness of the big arena.

Once more was Tex Rickard, the promoter, favored with fine weather. The temperature was such as to be just right for spectators and boxers. Fans were surplus luggage and the men in the ring were forced to extend themselves before working up a real sweat.

STORY OF THE FIGHT TOLD ROUND BY ROUND

Lynch Cuts Buff's Mouth With Straight Left in the Opening Session.

It was ten minutes after 10 o'clock when the boxers entered the ring. Buff was the first to appear. He was followed a moment later by Lynch. It was announced that Buff weighed 113¾ and that Lynch weighed 117¼.

First Round.

They immediately came together and there was a sharp exchange at close quarters. As they stepped back Lynch scored with a straight left to the chin. They clinched and as they broke Lynch landed another straight left to the mouth, drawing blood. Buff missed a wild right swing and they clinched. Lynch jabbed repeatedly with his left and the blood fairly spouted from Buff's mouth. Buff scored with a short right to Lynch's chin, but the blow only caused the west sider to fight back the harder. As the bell sounded they were exchanging blows in the centre of the ring.

Second Round.

Third Round.

Fourth Round.

Buff came up minus two teeth which Lynch had knocked out in the third round. At the start of the fourth they sparred, each looking for an opening. Lynch hooked a short left to the head and followed it with two lefts to the face. Buff scored with a light left to the chin and then both with right swings. Lynch jabbed twice more to the face and Buff's left eye was beginning to close. Again the west sider scored with his left and sent a sharp right cross to Buff's jaw. Buff retaliated with two lefts and a right cross as the bell sounded. Buff started to follow Lynch to his corner, but was led away by Haley.

Fifth Round.

Sixth Round.

At the start of the sixth round Buff rushed Lynch, but was staggered with a snappy right cross to the jaw. They clinched. As they broke Lynch continued to jab with his left and to uppercut with his right to the jaw. In another clinch Lynch hit Buff with a sharp right to the ribs. They stepped back and Lynch scored fifteen times to Buff's face, which brought blood from Buff's nose and mouth, while Buff's left eye was starting to close. Buff was a badly battered boxer at the end of the round.

Seventh Round.

Lynch continued to use his left jab in the seventh round and Buff was utterly unable to solve the puzzling punch. Lynch tried with a right cross, but missed. He followed it with five left jabs. They exchanged rights. Then Lynch jabbed Buff twice and crossed with his right. As they broke from a clinch the gong sounded.

Eighth Round.

At the start of the eighth round Buff rushed out of his corner, but the challenger met him with three straight left jabs. Lynch's advantage in reach held Buff at bay and he could not score cleanly. Once Buff landed a left to Lynch's chin, but was met with a series of straight lefts and rights that spattered the blood all over his face. Buff missed a left and right, then he backed Lynch to the ropes and Joe clinched. They stepped to the centre and Buff scored a glancing right to Lynch's jaw just before the bell.

Ninth Round.

Tenth Round.

The tenth was a repetition of earlier rounds, with Lynch fighting well within himself and jabbing repeatedly with his left. Buff managed to land twice with light lefts. He took a series of jabs from Lynch in return. Buff slipped to the canvas on one knee, but got up immediately just as the session ended.

Eleventh Round.

Twelfth Round.

Buff missed a right and Lynch sent two to head. The challenger followed his advantage with four well-timed right uppercuts to the chin. Buff, too, scored with a right uppercut. Then Lynch resumed his jabbing tactics. Buff was tired and Lynch, too, seemed to feel the pace. As the round came to a close the crowd began leaving the arena.

Thirteenth Round.

The thirteenth started with Lynch sending a straight left to the Jersey man's forehead. There followed a series of jabs and Buff's left eye was completely closed. Lynch was holding his right in reserve, apparently waiting for an opening for a knock-out punch. As they came together Lynch landed two kidney punches. Buff backed Lynch to the ropes, but missed with two rights. Lynch drove Buff to the ropes and landed right and lefts to the champion's jaw. Lynch kept after Buff, and Buff was so groggy that he could not judge distance. Buff was led to his corner and the referee went to Buff's corner and asked his seconds if they did not want to stop the bout.

Fourteenth Round.

LYNCH A POPULAR BOXER.

Recrowned Bantamweight Champion Has Host of Admirers.

Joe Lynch, who last night regained the bantamweight championship by defeating Johnny Buff, is undoubtedly one of the most popular boxers New York City has ever contributed to fistiana. Ever since the little west sider first blossomed forth as a professional his followers have been legion, and even in defeat they have steadfastly refused to lost confidence in the ability of their favorite to come back.

Lynch started boxing as a professional in 1916 and since that time he has met virtually all of the leading bantamweights who have paraded the pugilistic highway in his time. It was on Dec. 22, 1920, in this city that Lynch outpointed Pete Herman in a fifteen-round bout to a decision and won the bantamweight championship. Immediately thereafter Herman went to Europe and knocked out Jimmy Wilde. Upon his return to this country he demanded and was granted a return bout with Lynch with the title at stake.

They fought at Ebbets Field in July, 1921, and Herman regained the championship by outpointing Lynch. It was then feared that Lynch was on the backward trail and that the championship crown that had been plucked from his head was gone forever. When Buff succeeded in taking the title away from Herman, Lynch was among the first to clamor for a chance at the title.

Buff agreed to meet him in May in Madison Square Garden, but the champion was taken ill and was forced to cancel the engagement. It was this illness that kept Buff out of the ring for seven months until he met Lynch last night. When Buff was unable to meet Lynch the latter was matched with Midget Smith for the closing show of the season at the Garden, and the showing that Lynch made in that bout convinced his supporters that he was again in his best fighting form. He outpointed Smith by a wide margin. Following that bout Lynch began his preparation for his bout with Buff, with the result that he worked himself into excellent condition for the test.

MAY SETTLE FIGHT DIFFERENCES TODAY

Kearns and Mullins to Confer Again Over the Proposed Dempsey-Wills Match.

The long-awaited signing of articles for a heavyweight boxing championship bout between Jack Dempsey, the titleholder, and Harry Wills, the New Orleans negro challenger, may finally be accomplished today. A conference between Jack Kearns, the champion's manager and Paddy Mullins, manager of the challenger, is scheduled for this afternoon at Kearns's office, where they again will endeavor to come to an agreement on the terms for the match.

At a confab held at Kearns's office last Saturday, Mullins refused to sign an agreement which had been drawn up by the champion's manager on the ground that the proposed contract did not provide any specific time limit in which the two principals would meet. The agreement stipulated that the match must be held sixty days after bids from a promoter had been accepted by all concerned. Mullins insisted on incorporating into the agreement provisions that the contest be held under the rules of the New York State Athletic Commission, for the opening of bids within thirty days after the signing of the agreement, and for the holding of the bout not later than sixty days after the bids have been opened.

Mullins's admitted purpose in insisting on these provisions is to make certain that the match will be held this year, but Kearns is unwilling to bind the champion to defend his laurels before the end of the year. At the close of Saturday's fruitless conference, Mullins readily consented to another confab today, but he added that there was little possibility that he would change his firm stand in the matter.

In insisting that the clause providing that the bout be held under the rules of the New York State Athletic Commission, Mullins added that he necessarily meant that the bout would have to be held in this State, and it is thought that the hitch over this clause will be obviated at today's conference.

Kearns declared yesterday that he still is waiting to hear from John Bell, the Pittsburgh promoter, who is bidding for a bout between Dempsey and Harry Greb, to be held on Labor Day in Pittsburgh, and from Floyd Fitzsimmons of Michigan City, Ind., who is dickering for a match between the champion and Bill Brennan. Dempsey's manager professed himself at a loss to understand why he had not received word from either of the promoters. In a dispatch from Pittsburgh recently, Bell was reported to have declared that it is now too late for him to arrange the proposed match for Labor Day.

DEMPSEY ON A VACATION.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 10.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, arrived here this morning, going on later to a camp just outside of Bloomingdale, where he will pass a ten-day vacation. Before going to Bloomingdale Dempsey tossed out the first ball in today's game. Trout fishing will be Dempsey's chief pursuit during his stay.

Special to The New York Times.

SKOKIE COUNTRY CLUB, Ill., July 10.—One epoch-making achievement by Jock Hutchison, a terrific uphill struggle by Chick Evans and the downfall of several stars of the golf world marked the opening qualifying day of the twenty-seventh annual open championship tournament of the United States Golf Association on the links of the Skokie Country Club today.

When the last of the qualifiers of the first division treked from the home green toward the close of the day, a day replete with brilliant performances, there was one event that blotted out everything else. That was the work of the tousled-topped, cheery Scot from Glen View, who established what is believed to be a new record in tournament golf by turning in two rounds of 67 and 68 for a total of 135, an average of something less than fours for the thirty-shot route.

Two years ago, at Inverness, where Ted Ray captured the American cup, Jock, in the qualifying round, established a mark of 72, 69—141, which was then believed to set a new high water mark that would never be equalled. Today, after a bad start at the first hole, the former St. Andrews lad, who won the British title near his old home last year, started out with a streak of consistent brilliancy that made the old Scottish game look ridiculously easy, reaching the turn in 34 and coming home in a stroke less for a 67, which not only broke the course record of 69 made by Abe Mitchell a year ago, but gave him a three-stroke advantage over the remainder of the field, which included many of the world's leading pros and amateurs.

Starting out in the afternoon Hutchison again got away to an inauspicious start, but once again he rose to undreamed of heights, sailing home in 68, finishing up with an eagle 3 on the home green. Nine birdies, one eagle and twenty-one pars tell the story of the mighty deeds of the Glenview pro. At only five holes out of the entire thirty-six did his uncanny manipulation of his clubs desert him.

Jock a Master Workman.

All the rest of the time he was the master workman, playing golf with as close to machine-like precision as is possible, favored by no freaks of fortune and aided by nothing except his own inherent skill. On the five holes where he failed either to match or better par they cost him received just punishment; for the remainder he had no long, lucky putts nor other breaks to aid him.

His round was the product of drives that went straight down the fairway, placed exactly in the spot that Hutchison wanted them to be in. They were followed by irons, especially mashie shots on which Jock is without a peer, so close to the pin that little was left to be accomplished. And when it came to putting the Chicagoan neglected no opportunity. He was either in the cup or so close to it that a feeble tap did the rest.

Following Hutchison's work came that of Chick Evans, who for a time during the afternoon round appeared to be hopelessly stuck off it, the victim of his own carelessness. After a 74 in the morning round, there was little question but that Evans would get into the elect in the afternoon, but when he reached the turn he had used up a total of 42 strokes. One more bad hole and the former national amateur and open champion would have been outside the pale. It was Jim Barnes, the national champion, with whom Evans was paired, that probably saved him from ignominious failure.

"Guess I'm out of it, Jim," said Chick, shorn of his customary confidence.

Then Evans started. Not a single mistake after that. Straightening out his drive which had put him more than once in trouble, using his mashie with his old-time skill, and putting carefully and deliberately, Chick reeled off hole after hole in par or under. So precisely was he playing that he had assured himself a place before the seventeenth green had been reached, and he was well within the barriers even in spite of a ball out of bounds at the eighteenth, where he pulled his tee shot through the fence on the left of the fairway.

Mike Brady Is Second.

Trailing Hutchison, but in second place among the first day qualifiers, came Mike Brady of Oakland Hills, Detroit, known as the hard-luck champion, who has twice tied for the open title only to lose in the play-off. Brady was paired with Hutchison and tied for second place with Charley Hoffner, the young Philadelphia home-bred star, with 70 in the morning round. In the afternoon session Brady was a doubtful starter by the time that the first nine holes had been completed, but at that point he caught a breath of Hutchison's brilliancy, negotiating the last nine holes of the remarkably low total of 32, four under par.

Following him came Abe Mitchell of North Foreland, England, winner of the recent Gleneagles tournament, who is a touring partner of George Duncan, ex-British open champion. The hard-hitting Britisher, held by many to be one of the longest drivers in the game, topped a 73 in the morning with a 71 in the afternoon and was bracketed with long Jim Barnes of Pelham, the defending champion, who today forsook his clover leaf for a forget-me-not. In the first part of the day Barnes was far from the Barnes of Washington, taking a 75, a stroke more than did Evans, with whom he was playing; but his closing effort was only a stroke less than Hutchison's.

Next on the list came William Creavy, professional at the Hill Crest Club, Kansas City, a former Metropolitan district caddy, who had a total of 145, placing him a stroke ahead of Joe Kirkwood, the Australian, who had two rounds of 74 and 72 for a total of 146. Charley Hoffner, member of the American invading team a year ago and winner of the recent Pennsylvania P. G. A. championship, took a 77 in the afternoon round, but his 70 in the morning placed him well inside the charmed circle, with a score of 147, placing him in a tie with Larry Nabhols of Lima, Ohio.

There were four in a tie at 148, Otto Hackbarth of Cincinnati, Jack Blakslee of the Delaware Club, Muncie, Ind.; J. E. Rogers of Dayton, Ohio, and Mortie Dutra of Del Monte, Cal.

Walker Gets a 73.

Cyril Walker, the Englewood professional, reeled off a brilliant 72 in the afternoon, and made the steep incline, with a total of 149. In the 150 class came Jack Croke of Northmoore, Ravinia, Ill.; Frank Kennett of Glencoe and Lloyd Gullickson of De Kalb, Ill., while at 151 came Bobby Cruickshank, former Scottish amateur champion, now pro at the Shackamaxon Club; Willie Macfarlane of Tuckhoe, Tommy Harmon of Hudson River and Chick Evans.

The field closed at 152, with the following in the list: Henry Dolesta of Palma Ceia, Cal.; Ira Couch of Onwentsia, the Chicago district amateur champion; George McLean of Grassy Sprain, Alex Campbell of Losantiville, Fred Ford of Lakewood, Kansas City; D. L. Gorge of Minneapolis and A. F. Baumgartner.

The only two amateurs to qualify were Evans and Couch, the latter a 17-year-old star, who has just completed his freshman year at Chicago University. Left behind were such stars as Bob Gardner of Chicago, runner-up to Tolley in the British open two years ago, and Jimmy Manion, one of the leading amateurs of the St. Louis district. Gardner started out like a thoroughbred in the morning round, reaching the turn in 33 and finishing up with a 73. An 80 in the afternoon wrecked his prospects, so far as the present event is concerned.

Among the pros were several from the Metropolitan District, Peter Harmon of Onondaga, N. Y., and Archie Sanderson of Sleepy Hollow, the former requiring 155 and the latter 156. Alex Smith of Shennecossett, a two-time winner of the open, was another who met with disaster, as did Gil Nicholls of Providence. Others left in the wake of the storm were Charles Hall of Birmingham, Ala., the "siege gun" among the pros, who was expected to be among the select few; Phil Gaudin of Skokie Emil Loeffler of Richmond, Va., Herman of Red Run, Mich., Stewart Maiden of Atlanta, Ga., and Allan Gow of Edgewater, one of the recent importations from the other side.

As a result of his great deed today predictions are going the rounds that Jock Hutchison will be found not so far from the top of the list when the tournament comes to a close next Friday afternoon. Certain it is that Providence has favored the Glenview meteor. Up until last night Jock was in the depths of despair over the conditions that confronted him in his task of annexing his first open championship. The course was baked and dried and burned to such an extent that Jock's favorite shot, the high pitch with a backspin, was practically useless.

Rain Saves Skokie Course.

Last night, however, the prayers of the players and Skokie officials for rain, which would transfer the links from a billiard table to a golf course, were answered. Rain began falling at 2 o'clock in the morning and continued to fall in abundance until after 7 o'clock, the first in forty-five days. It changed the complexion of things and saved the course as far as the present championship is concerned, at least. Today there were none of the prodigious drives that bumped and bounced along for distances almost up to four hundred yards, rendering full two-shot holes within the reach of a drive and a mashie pitch.

After the rain the sun came out and the wind died down to a mere zepher, making the day ideal for golf. When the morning pairs began getting under way at 8:30 the gallery, a large one despite the charge for admission, elected to follow Jim Barnes and Evans, leaving such celebrities as Hutchison, Kirkwood and Mitchell practically unnoticed.

Leading off to the first hole, Hutchison topped his drive and took a 6, two over par. Two pars followed, then a birdie, Jock holding out from off the edge of the green for a 3. Another par and then another birdie, the result of another long putt that went straight for the cup and dropped. He missed a shot at the seventh, but atoned for the lapse by sinking a fifteen-footer for a birdie 3 at the eighth.

Five perfectly played holes in par figures and then two birdies in a row; one at the fourteenth, where he sank an 8-footer and another at the fifteenth, where the distance was 12 feet. Going to the home hole, 470 yards, Jock's second lay eighteen feet from the pin and he barely missed his eagle 3.

His morning round:

Out .....6 3 4 3 5 3 4 3 3—34
In .....4 4 4 3 3 3 4 4 4—33—67

First Hole Again a Hoodoo.

Going out in the afternoon, Hutchison again played first hole poorly, taking a 5. His spoon shot, going to the second, was straight for the pin, but the ball imbedded itself in the turf, leaving him a tricky putt. He barely missed the 2. Six pars and a birdie left him all even with par at the turn.

An extra stroke at the tenth, where his second shot was short and to the right, was followed by three more pars. For the next two holes he duplicated his morning's performance, getting two threes, the second by almost holing a shot out of the bunker.

He had a par 4 at the sixteenth, but took a 5 at the next. Then came his crowning feature, an eagle at the home hole. His second was just short of the pin, some fifteen feet away. Taking deliberate aim, Jock tapped the ball and straight for the hole it went, plumping in and remaining there.

His afternoon round:

Out .....4 4 4 3 4 3 4 3 5—34
In .....5 4 4 3 3 3 4 5 3—34—68

Brady was just a trifle short of Hutchison, with whom he was playing, the king having a 70 in the morning round, with six threes showing on his card. He was a stroke better than Hutchison at the first hole, but took a 6 at the long fifth hole and a 5 at the next. Two birdies coming in gave him a 34.

His morning round:

Out .....5 3 4 3 5 5 3 4 3—36
In .....4 4 3 3 4 4 4 4 4—34—70

He started out poorly in the final journey, being seven over par at the completion of the first nine holes. Then began one of the most brilliant flashes of the day, with birdies at the eleventh, thirteenth, fifteenth and home holes for a 32, a mark that was unmatched during the day.

His afternoon card:

Out .....5 3 5 6 5 3 4 5 3—41
In .....4 3 4 3 4 4 4 4 4—32—73

Barnes and Evans gave the big gallery that followed them around the course on both the morning and afternoon hikes one thrill upon another with bits of wizardry, and at the same time showed how easy is the drop to mediocrity. Long Jim took a 37 going out, while Evans was a stroke more. Returning, Barnes was 38, Evans 36.

Long Jim sank a putt of five yards for a birdie 2 at the second hole, but was in trouble at the third and sixth, taking fives at each. With the exception of the fourteenth hole, the champion was even pars on the way back.

Through carelessness and hard luck Evans missed several short putts on the outward nine, the most glaring case being at the ninth hole, where, from eight feet away, his stab hit the back of the cup and jumped out to less than a foot away. Then Chick proceeded to miss the putt. After taking a 5 at the tenth hole the Chicagoan earned himself a salvo of applause by holing out for a 2 from the bunker at the thirteenth.

The morning cards:

Out—
Barnes .....4 3 5 4 5 5 4 4 4—37
Evans .....4 5 5 3 5 6 4 4 4—38
In—
Barnes .....4 4 4 3 5 4 5 5 4—38—75
Evans .....5 4 4 3 4 4 4 4 5—36—74

Barnes was almost a human machine in the afternoon, reaching the turn a stroke over par by wasting a shot at the second hole. Evans, on the contrary, lost control of practically every club in his kit. He started careening at the third, when he was trapped and took two to get out. On top of it, he took a 7 at the next, where he was trapped; took two more to extricate himself and then topped it all by using up three strokes on the green. At the next, five yards off the green on his second, Chick proceeded to foozle his approach and took a 5, where an easy four was in prospect.

Just when it appeared as if the Chicagoan, hailed as a favorite in the tournament, was about to collapse he took hold of himself and traveled the remainder of the way in true Evans fashion. Barnes set him a good pace with birdies at the tenth and eleventh, and another at the seventeenth, where he placed his approach shot dead for the pin from almost two hundred yards away.

The afternoon cards:

Out—
Barnes .....4 4 4 4 5 4 3 4 3—35
Evans .....3 4 6 4 5 5 3 4 4—42
In—
Barnes .....5 3 3 3 4 4 4 3 5—34—69
Evans .....4 4 4 3 4 3 4 4 5—35—77

Both Mitchell and Kirkwood contented themselves with steady golf. When Duncan, who followed his partner around for a few holes in the morning, saw Abe keeping close to the par line, he made the prediction that the latter would be well up toward the top of the list. In only one department was Mitchell negligent and that was in putting, where he missed short tries by scant margins.

Mitchell's and Kirkwood's cards:

CHARLEY SWEET IS 2:09 PACE VICTOR

Wins Fort Meigs Stake at Fort Miami — Grace Direct Paces in 2:02½.

TOLEDO, July 10.—Two completed races made up the program of the first day of Grand Circuit racing at the Fort Miami track today. They were the 2:06 trot and 2:09 pace. A storm broke over the park after one heat had been run off in each of the 2:18 trot and 2:05 pace, and the finish of these two events was postponed until tomorrow.

Charley Sweet, driven by Erskine, won the Fort Meigs Stake for 2:09 pacers, value $2,685, after losing the first heat to Hal B. After that it was easy for Erskine to repeat his last week's victory at North Randall.

In the 2:06 trot, McGregor took the first heat, Peter June, the favorite, finishing third. In the second heat Mainlick, which had finished sixth in the first heat, struck his stride and came home a winner. The third heat went to David C., with Mainlick second. Then, with Miss Ellen Todd, and Peter June ruled out, David C., Mainlick and McGregor the Great contested for honors in the fourth heat, with the victory going to David C.

The fastest time of the season was hung up in the 2:05 pace, when Grace Direct negotiated the mile in 2:02½.

GREB RETAINS TITLE IN LOUGHRAN BOUT

Light-Heavyweight Champion Outpoints Philadelphia Boxer in Eight-Round Fight.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10. — Harry Greb of Pittsburgh successfully defended his light heavyweight title tonight in an eight-round bout with Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia middleweight. Loughran did fairly well in the first two rounds, but after that the champion had the better of the argument.

The fight was fast and rough. In the first two rounds the local boxer's speed bothered Grebs, but his blows apparently lacked steam. In the third round the Pittsburgher cut loose and from then until the end of the fight he had Loughran at his mercy. Greb made no effort at boxing science, but struck from every direction. He hit Loughran on all parts of his body from the waist up and kept up the bombardment continually.

Loughran was game and made a gallant stand. He tried to fight back, but the champion's speed was bewildering. In the third round Greb started the Philadelphian's nose bleeding and kept it bleeding until the end of the bout.

The fifth round was especially rough. Greb drove Loughran all over the ring, and many times forced him to hold in order to avoid punishment.

Martin Outpoints Delmont.

BOSTON, July 10.—Vincent "Pepper" Martin, Brooklyn featherweight, won the decision over Gene Delmont of Memphis, Tenn., here tonight. This is the second defeat pinned on Delmont by Martin, the first being given to the Brooklyn boy on a foul.

Pittsburgh Team Ties Score in the Eighth and Triumphs in Ninth on Carey's Hit.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 10.—The champion Giants were a bit crestfallen when they left the city of smoke tonight for Chicago to resume their Western trip there tomorrow. What started out to be a Roman holiday, with the Pirates as the human sacrifice, ended with the champions just where they began. They won the first game of the double-header by 19 to 2—yes, 19 is correct—but the second contest was different. The local team fired the sunset gun in the ninth inning, broke a tie and won by 5 to 4.

An even division was not so bad, but it wasn't what the Giants wanted. They needed two to gain on the Cardinals. But the St. Louisans did the gaining. They trounced the doleful Robins again and jumped a half game nearer the leaders, who now have only three games between them and the runners-up.

Everything was bright and rosy in the early part of the afternoon. The Giants made twenty-eight hits and nineteen runs against Earl Hamilton, Whitey Glazner and the new Mr. Hollingsworth. If they had saved two of the runs for the second game, things would have been better adjusted. Arthur Nehf did the pitching and sailed along in low speed under his monumental lead. It was his second triumph of the current series and his eleventh straight over the poor Pirates—three times this year, seven last year and once at the tag end of the 1920 season. His lifetime record against the Bucs is twenty-eight won and nine lost, with the Pirates averaging less than two runs a game in the last eleven. A fairish sort of record.

Ryan Falters and Loses.

Bill Ryan continued his wavering ways in the second game. He was presented with a two-run lead and maintained it until the eighth, when the Corsairs tied. They won out in the fatal ninth to the great glee of the 15,000 fans, who had first jeered and then cheered, as is the Pittsburgh custom. Harold Carlson was the pitcher for Bill McKechnie.

The Giants sped away in front in the second inning when Young singled to right and came all the way home on Stengel's double. Casey was expunged trying for a triple. Two more runs in the fourth made the prospect a little better. Young again upset the apple cart with a single to right, and Pep stole second. Kelly outran a hit to Carson, and Young scored when Harold tossed past first base. Maranville muffed Stengel's fly and Earl Smith rapped a base hit to right, bringing Kelly in.

Doubles by Grimm and Gooch and a sacrifice fly by Carlson gave the Bucs a run in the fifth, but the visitors took it back in the sixth on Meusel's single to centre, a passed ball and Stengel's double to right. The Pirates made it 4-2 in the same inning when Bigbee beat out a bunt and came over on singles by Barnhart and Ens.

The eighth was very sad, for the Pirates tied. Carey walked and stole second after Bigbee had flied out. Then Barnhart crashed a three-bagger to right and Ens drove him in with the tying run by singling to right. Then came the ninth and the finish. Gooch, as a demon against the Giants, singled. Carlson helped himself to a base hit. Max Carey, two demons rolled into one, cracked the Giants with one blow. He singled and Gooch hastened home.

Going back to the first game, it is discovered that the Giants' twenty-eight hits yielded a total of forty-three bases—nineteen singles, four doubles, four triples and one home run, by Irish Meusel. Both marks are near the National League record since 1900. The Giants made thirty-one hits in 1901, and the extra-base record fifty-five. In the American League, however, the highest is forty-two, one less than today's Giant total.

First Game a Riot.

The first game, as might be inferred, was a riot. Bancroft fired the first gun with a single to centre. Rawlings and Frisch doubled, Meusel singled, and there were three runs. In the second frame, four more. Bigbee kindly dropped Cunningham's fly. Snyder tripled, ending Hamilton. Bancroft saluted Glazner with a single, Rawlings, Frisch and Young did likewise, Meusel edging in with a mere sacrifice fly. Irish, however, did better in the fourth. He smacked the ball into the right-field bleachers on the bound.

Three New York runs were coined in the fifth on Tierney's muff, infield singles by Bancroft and Frisch and Meusel's double. Kelly's double, Ens's error and Bancroft's triple to right scored two more in the sixth. Frisch opened the seventh with a triple to left centre; then followed singles by Meusel, Kelly, Cunningham and Snyder. Chalk up three more, making it a mere 18 to 2.

The three other runs were rung up in the ninth. Young singled to centre and was forced by Kelly. Cunningham walked and Snyder tripled, scoring on Grimm's wild heave to Barnhart. Oh, yes; the Pirates scored once in the third on Carey's drive over the left-field fence, and another in the fourth on singles by Ens, Tierney and Jonnard.

OFFICIALS OF YANKS DENY RUTH STORY

Colonel Huston and Business Manager Barrow Ridicule Rumor of Trade.

Yankee officials branded as a fabrication the story published in some evening papers yesterday to the effect that Babe Ruth, Aaron Ward and either Waite Hoyt or Carl Mays would be traded to the Chicago White Sox for Eddie Collins, Amos Strunk, one other White Sox player and a big sum of money. The report reached here from Cleveland and was based on information sent by a newspaper man here with the Cleveland team.

Business Manager Ed Barrow did not wait to be questioned on the rumor. He greeted reporters at the Yankee headquarters with the question, "Did you see the pipe dream that somebody had out in Cleveland?" Pressed further on the matter, Barrow said that it was "the best laugh of the day." He made a categorical denial.

"Trade Ruth? We aren't thinking of such a thing, and we haven't seriously considered it, as far as Chicago or any other team is concerned. Amos Strunk is not playing regularly for the White Sox. Who the other player besides Collins is I haven't any idea." A bystander suggested Blankenship, and Barrow grinned.

Colonel T. L. Huston, one of the owners of the club, made a brief and emphatic denial. It was admitted that Harry Grabiner, business manager of the White Sox, has been in the city, and, according to Cleveland newspaper men here, he talked trades with the Yankees. The war correspondents see some significance in the fact that Ruth, Mays and Hoyt have all had public differences with Manager Miller Huggins, and that Ward incurred some displeasure when he held out for a $10,000 contract this year. Hoyt and Huggins had a row on the Yankee bench. Huggins had to fine Mays $200 down South after Carl had thrown a ball over the Little Rock grand stand. Ruth is said to have had friction with his manager.

Local baseball followers were ready to lend some credence to the story until Ruth's name was mentioned. They see a possibility of the Yanks getting rid of Ward, Mays and Hoyt or any one of the three, provided, of course, that equal strength could be obtained in return. But Ruth—well, that is considered a dream, if only because the box office receipts would shrivel and shrink without him in the line-up.

It was learned yesterday that the Yankees have asked waivers on Al Devormer, catcher; Camp Skinner and Chick Fewster, outfielders, and Manly Liewellyn, a recruit pitcher. Fewster has been claimed by one club, and it is probable that all four waivers will be withdrawn.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Manager Gleason of the Chicago White Sox said today he knew of no such deal as reported from Cleveland. He said that Harry Grabiner, secretary of the club, has made a trip East and was due in Chicago today. Whether he transacted any business with the New York Club, Gleason said he did not know. If there has been any such deal, Gleason added, it would be announced by President Comiskey.

CHICAGO, July 10.—"We are not interested in any trade for Ruth," said Harry Grabiner, business manager of the Chicago White Sox, today when shown the dispatch from Cleveland which said the White Sox were negotiating for the famous home-run hitter.

"We are satisfied with our club and no trades are pending," Grabiner said.

CUBS SHUT OUT BRAVES.

Chicago Wins, 4-0, Making Clean Sweep of Series.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Chicago made a clean sweep of the series with Boston today, taking the final game of the series, 4 to 0. Two passes issued by Marquard, coupled with opportune hitting, including a double by Krug, which cleared the bases, won the game for the Cubs in the first inning. Jones pitched in fine form, and was given perfect support, the fielding of Hollocher and Terry being a feature.

ROBINS DROP FIFTH STRAIGHT TO CARDS

Hornsby Hits Twenty-Second Homer With Two on Bases—Score Is 4 to 1.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman of the Cardinals and champion batsman of the National League, slammed out his twenty-second home run of the season here this afternoon and gave the St. Louis team its fifth successive victory over the tottering Brooklyn Robins in the final game of the series. The circuit clout came in the eighth inning with two men on the bases and the three runs thus produced provided the Cardinals' winning margin as the final score was 4 to 1. Incidentally, it was the seventh consecutive triumph for the St. Louis players, who are now only three full games behind the world's champion Giants.

To make the defeat all the more bitter for the Robins, it was Jeff Pfeffer, a former teammate, who performed on the mound for the Cardinals. Pfeffer allowed a total of eleven hits, but he kept the blows well scattered and was aided considerably in the early innings by two fast double plays. The big right-hander held the Brooklyn clan scorless until the ninth inning, when he eased up, and two singles and an error saved the Robins from being shut out.

Harry Shriver started on the mound for the Brooklyn team and went along very nicely until the seventh inning when four hits, including Hornsby's home run, enabled the Cardinals to settle the issue in their favor. Up to that fateful inning Shriver had allowed only six hits and had kept the home players from crossing the plate. Arthur Decatur pitched the eighth inning for the Robins and yielded one safety.

Robins Lose Services of Johnston.

The Robins were forced to worry along without the able services of Jimmy Johnston at second base. Johnston was hit by a pitched ball in the first inning and was forced to retire. The veteran Hal Janvrin replaced him and played well at the keystone, in addition to getting two hits in four trips to the plate. Andy High also connected for two singles in four chances. Flack led the Cardinals in the number of hits, getting three in four times at the bat. Hornsby's only safe drive was his home run, but that proved quite sufficient to win the game for the home team.

Both teams performed well in the field and the game was featured by more than one splendid play. There were three double plays, two by the Cardinals and the other by the Robins. The only error came in the ninth inning when Lavan made a low throw to first base on Olson's grounder.

The Robins threatened to score in the first inning but a double play foiled their efforts. High opened with a two-bagger to deep left centre and Johnston was hit with the pitched ball that caused his retirement. Janvrin ran for Johnston. Tom Griffith hit a grounder to Hornsby, who converted it into a double killing with the assistance of Lavan and Fournier. High took third on the play but was left stranded when Wheat rolled an easy bounder to the box.

The Cardinals connected for two hits in their half of the opening inning, but Fournier grounded to Janvrin for the third out with two men on the bases. Bert Griffith opened the second for the Robins with a double to right centre, but he was cut down in trying to stretch the hit. With one out in the latter half of the second, Ainsmith drove a single to centre, and then sprinted all the way to third when Lavan poked a single to right. Shriver struck out, but together at this point, and retired the next two batters, Pfeffer and Flack, on strikes.

The Robins had a great opportunity to break the scoreless deadlock in the third inning, but again a double play stopped them short. DeBerry led off by beating out a roller to Stock. Shriver moved him along to second with a sacrifice bunt to Pfeffer. High drew a pass and Janvrin beat out a hit to Lavan, filling the bases. With the heavy hitting Tom Griffith at the bat the outlook for the Robins was bright. However, Griffith lifted a fly to Flack, and the latter then made a great throw to the plate and nailed De Berry, who was attempting to score after the catch.

Wheat Opens Fourth With Double.

After Shriver had held the Cards hitless in their half of the third, the Robins passed up another chance to break through in the fourth. Wheat opened the inning with a double to right centre. Bert Griffith grounded to Stock, and Wheat was run down between second and third base. Mitchell forced Griffith at second on a grounder to Stock, by Olson singled to centre, sending Mitchell to second, but DeBerry lined to Flack for the third out. In the Cardinals's half of the fourth, with one out, Lavan shot a single to right, but the hit went for nought, as Pfeffer hit into a double play.

The deadlock continued through the fifth and sixth, not a player on either team reaching second base in these innings, but the storm finally broke in the seventh. Lavan started the excitement in the latter half of the inning by hitting a single to centre with none out. He took second on Pfeffer's sacrifice bunt to Shriver. Flack brought Lavan across with the first run of the game by poking a single to centre. Smith beat out a bunt, putting Flack on second. Hornsby followed with his home run drive over the left field fence, scoring Flack and Smith ahead of him. Schultz then struck out and Bert Griffith made a great shoestring catch of Fournier's line drive to centre.

Tom Griffith opened the eighth inning for the Robins with a single to right, but he advanced no further, as the next three batters went out in order. With the help of the only error of the game the Robins shoved their one run across in the ninth. Olson, the first batter, was safe when Lavan made a low throw to Fournier on Ivy's grounder. DeBerry shot a single to right, sending Olson to third. Ruether batted for Decatur and forced DeBerry at second on a roller to Lavan. Olson crossed the plate on the play. Neis ran for Ruether and sprinted all the way to third when High drove a double to deep left field. Janvrin died on a short fly to Schultz, Neis holding third. Tom Griffith then lined to Flack for the final out of the game.

BROWNS AGAIN SPLIT EVEN WITH RED SOX

St. Louis Wins First Game by 5-4 in Thirteen Innings, but Loses Second, 4-3.

BOSTON, July 10.—For the third successive playing day Boston and St. Louis divided a double-header today, the Browns winning the opener, 5 to 4, in thirteen innings, and the Red Sox taking the second, 4 to 3.

In the third inning of the first game Burns hit a home run over the left-field fence with two on bases. The winning run in the thirteenth came on singles by Jacobson and Severeid and a successful squeeze play bunt by Ellerbe. Elmer Smith was sent in to bat for Quinn in the thirteenth, but was taken out and replaced by Foster when Pruett went into the box for St. Louis.

In the second game Pratt's single in the sixth scored two runs. Sisler was thrown out on a close play at first for the final out as Tobin was crossing the plate with what would have been the tieing run.

PATTERSON REGAINS TITLE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 10.—After many wet days the sun shone at Wimbledon today, but as against the record attendance of last Saturday to see the Lenglen-Mallory final, there were comparatively few people present to watch the final for the men's championship between the Australian, Patterson, and the Englishman, Lycett. Patterson played a great game against a worthy opponent, who made a hard fight, but was outclassed. Patterson winning in three straight sets.

At the same time in another court Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and Miss Ryan were playing in the third round of women's doubles against Miss Rose and Mrs. Youle before probably the smallest crowd that ever watched Mlle. Lenglen at Wimbledon, but later in the afternoon more persons came along to see the second important event of the day, namely the third round match in mixed doubles between Mlle. Lenglen and Pat O'Hara Wood on one side of the net and Mrs. Mallory and Dean Mathey on the other. Mlle. Lenglen was on the victorious side in both matches. She and Miss Ryan were a much too powerful combination for Miss Rose and Miss Youle, although the latter couple managed to secure five games in the first set before it went against them at 7 to 5. Mlle. Lenglen and her partner then took the second set easily at 6 to 2.

Dean Mathey and Mrs. Mallory put up a good fight against Wood and Mlle. Lenglen, but it always seemed to be a question of how many games the losers could get, rather than which side would win. Wood's fine play overhead did much to win the match, but Mlle. Lenglen, although her volleying was faulty at times, placed many fine shots along the side lines which were too much for the opposing couple. Mrs. Mallory was playing on the whole a better game than her partner, but both had streaks of brilliancy. Mrs. Mallory's hard hitting and clever placing were features of her play, but Mathey found the wrong side of the net with his returns on frequent occasions. Mlle. Lenglen and Wood won by scores of 6 to 2 and 6 to 4.

Old Rivals Meet Again.

WIMBLEDON, July 10 (Associated Press).—Mrs. Molla Mallory and Suzanne Lenglen met again on the tennis court today, this time in the mixed doubles. The French champion had as her partner the sterling Australian player, Pat O'Hara Wood, while Dean Mathey of the United States was on Mrs. Mallory's side of the net. The Lenglen-Wood combination won with comparative ease, the Americans being forced on the defensive from start to finish, the match ending 6—2, 6—4.

This brings Mlle. Lenglen and her partner into the final against Elizabeth Ryan of California and Randolph Lycett, which is almost certain to furnish a spectacular contest tomorrow.

Dean Mathey and D. C. Caner, the American players, defeated two teams in the men's doubles, coming through to the semi-final by their victory over Captain H. S. L. Barclay and R. C. Wertheim. It is likely that the Americans will next meet J. O. Anderson and Randolph Lycett, who survived today's contest against Davson and Mavrogordate after one of the longest drawn-out series of the tournament.

Gerald L. Patterson of Australia won the championship in the men's singles, overwhelming Randolph Lycett of England in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4, 6—2. He has now captured the title at Wimbledon twice, the first time in 1919, when he swept through all opposition in surpassing fashion. Though his service now is terrific, he plays more from the baseline and his game is less devastating than in former years. Today he was at his best, volleying with particular accuracy and making fewer errors than when he met Anderson on Saturday.

First Day of Sunshine.

Today was the first day of the meeting when rain did not interrupt the play. The sun shone brilliantly all afternoon, and the contests were continued until after eight o'clock in the evening before the usual large crowds.

Mrs. Mallory opened the mixed doubles match in rather bad form, undoubtedly feeling very keenly the nature of her defeat by the French champion in the singles finals on Saturday. She and Mathey, of course, were up against what is probably the finest mixed doubles partnership that could be produced anywhere in the world. Mlle. Lenglen, as a volleyer in foursome matches, is considered equal to any first-class man player.

Moreover, O'Hara Wood, her partner, is one of the most brilliant net players ever seen on the courts here. His French partner proved equal to the magnificent long drives of their opponents, while the Australian killed all the high lobs in sensational fashion.

Mrs. Mallory, as the match progressed, stood up well against this volleying, but both the Americans were almost invariably in a defensive position on the court, striving always to pass their opponents at the net with low shots.

American Players Improve.

The Americans improved considerably in the second set, when Mathey adopted the plan of standing in the left court near the net when his partner was serving to O'Hara Wood, also in his left court. This unorthodox position paid, for Mrs. Mallory won her service games, principally because the opponents almost invariably made their service returns to Mathey, who, being an excellent net player, was able to place his drives completely out of reach.

Mrs. Mallory, playing the back court, made some spectacular forehand drives in the second set, but the issue of the match was never really in doubt, for the Americans were clearly not in the same class as their opponents as a mixed doubles pair.

The Patterson-Lycett match was featured by much more spectacular driving than Saturday's semi-final between Patterson and Anderson, as Lycett returned into play a far higher percentage of Patterson's hurricane service shots than Anderson, or indeed than any other opponent of his at Wimbledon. Moreover, Lycett was not broken up by Patterson's chopping, as was Anderson.

Lycett made numbers of magnificent drives down the line against Patterson's hardest service shots, but at other times the Australian would send over a stream of shattering deliveries. He played even better than on Saturday and made far fewer errors, but he is still vulnerable on the backhand and cuts many balls into the bottom of the net. For this reason some observers here consider he will still be open to a possible successful attack by Tilden or Johnston.

It seems questionable whether Patterson is quite so good as he was in 1919, but watchers of his game call attention to the fact that it is only six months since he took up his new backhand shot.

The Australian went to 3—1 in the first set, at which Lycett established himself brilliantly taking two love games, one of them against Patterson's whirlwind service. This feat aroused great enthusiasm among the spectators, for they could appreciate this clean, hard-hitting type of playing far better than the lawn tennis sparring between Patterson and Anderson on Saturday. Lycett lost his chance to win the set in the next game when he served a double fault with the score at 30—15.

Lycett played an excellent game in the second set, taking the score to 3—1 in games, and six times going to within one point of winning the next game. Four of the games in the second set went down to deuce seven times, and in each game Patterson finally won by making perfect placements after maneuvering Lycett out of position.

In the final set Patterson, having broken a two-all tie, ran through the rest of the set with a spectacular burst of playing, although Lycett continued to contest every game until it went to deuce, but was usually overpowered by a tremendous drive from the Australian or a volley into an inaccessible corner. Patterson, however, repeatedly cut backhand returns into the net and served several double faults, but aced almost as many second services.

Paris Pleased Over Outcome Of Lenglen-Mallory Match

PARIS, July 10 (Associated Press).—Sporting circles here accepted the news of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen's victory over Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory with evidences of great satisfaction, but without undue exultation.

"A triumph at tennis does not quite console us for the spectacle of the dollar at 12.80 francs, and is not worth so much as a good international loan," says one writer, who appears to represent the general sentiment in Paris, "but Mlle. Lenglen deserves a fine bouquet when she returns, because she has wiped out a suspicion against French sport that was unjust, if not discourteous."

FRENCH TENNIS BODY IS CONGRATULATED

U. S. L. T. A. Sends Message Felicitating Federation on Mlle. Lenglen's Victory.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association yesterday cabled congratulations to the French Federation on the victory of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen over Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory on Saturday at Wimbledon. The message sent by Julian S. Myrick, President of the American body, reads as follows:

"Heartiest congratulations for Mlle. Lenglen's success."

The national association also took occasion to felicitate the British Lawn Tennis body upon the almost unprecedented success of the championships which are just being completed at Wimbledon. Although the new grounds were completed in time for the tournament, there was much uncertainty as to its success because the British L. T. A. was delayed in the preliminary arrangements. The advance sale of tickets had to be differred because of the uncertainty of the new grounds being ready for use.

On account of this delay there was some feeling abroad that the public might not be interested in the championship to the same extent as in former years and, consequently, the attendance might suffer. On the contrary, the demand for seats exceeded all previous records, and thousands of would-be spectators were disappointed. According to the cabled reports of the tournament, seats for the matches on the closing days have been quoted at from £2 to £5, a large premium over the established prices.

"The great interest shown by the public abroad is an indication of the growing appeal that tennis exerts," said Mr. Myrick, "and the experience of the British L. T. A. in managing the great tournament just ended at Wimbledon justifies the advice that the national association has already offered to all who wish to be certain of seats for the championships and the challenge round of the Davis Cup contest. The association has notified its members that the advance sale of tickets for those events has begun. The public sale will commence on Aug. 1, and all applications will be filled in the order of their receipt."

KING DEFEATS WARD IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Reaches Final Round on Westchester Courts and Will Meet Bowman for Title.

Dr. George King, present Westchester tennis champion, smashed his way into the final round of the 1922 tourney by defeating Vanderbilt B. Ward, 6—3, 6—0 at the County Tennis Club of Westchester yesterday. King will defend his title against Herbert L. Bowman, the New Jersey and Maryland champion, at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Yesterday's semi-final was a resumption of the match begun on Saturday and interrupted by rain. The sudden downpour Saturday afternoon was a bad break for Ward, for he looked to be in much better form at that time than he did when play was resumed yesterday. When the storm came he was leading two games to one and the score of the fourth game stood at 30 love in his favor. He managed to pull out a victory in that game yesterday after King had brought the score up to deuce, but it was the last game he won in the match.

King swept through the next eleven games in whirlwind fashion and the Brooklyn player never really had a chance once the champion got going. King had all the speed and his cross-court drives for placements were beautiful to watch. He had Ward running from one side of the court to the other in the short rallies which marked the contest and his service also caused the Brooklyn player no end of trouble.

In this department of the game King seemed to improve as he went along and only in one game of the final set, and that one of his own serving, did Ward really offer any opposition worthy of the name.

On King's showing yesterday Bowman will have to travel at the very top of his speed if he expects to duplicate his victory of the early season over the Westchester titleholder.

In the junior finals played yesterday two brothers, John and Braiuerd Whitbeck, met and John, the elder, forgot what he had been taught of brotherly love and trounced the younger member of the family, 6—3, 6—4.

BROOKLYN CRICKETERS WIN.

Defeat Columbia Oval Eleven by 87 Runs at Pelham Bay Park.

At Pelham Park yesterday the team of the Brooklyn Cricket Club easily won their New York and New Jersey Association championship match against the Columbia Oval team by 87 runs, after declaring their innings closed for the loss of 6 wickets. J. L. Poyer did by far the best work on the winning team, going in first and scoring 90 not out at bat, in addition to capturing 4 wickets for 12 runs. H. Rushton also bowled well, taking 3 wickets for 21 runs, and H. Peyer contributed a not out 22. For Columbia Oval, G. Baker with 20 was the only double-figure scorer.

RANKING PLAYERS COMPETE

Six First-Ten Men Seek Championship — Miss Gardner Wins From Miss Ballin.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 10.—With an entry list including six of the first ten ranking players in the United States, the annual tournament for the Rhode Island singles lawn tennis championship was inaugurated today on the courts of the Agawam Hunt Club and most of the first-round matches, and three in the second round, were cleared away. This is the tournament which the national champion, William T. Tilden 2d, first brought into national prominence a year ago when his personal efforts attracted an entry including most of the top-notchers for their first serious tournament play of the season on grass in the series leading up to the national championship. Vincent Richards won a year ago by sensational victories in the semi-final and final over R. N. Williams 2d and Tilden, respectively. Richards is here to defend his title, and Tilden is out to get revenge.

The first ten players on the list, in addition to Tilden and Richards, are Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia, S. Howard Voshell of Brooklyn, Lawrence B. Rice of Boston and Nathaniel W. Niles of Boston. Samuel Hardy and Zenzo Shimizu of the West Side Tennis Club also are entered, but there is some doubt as to whether the Japanese will be able to compete.

Tilden won his first round match by a default, and Johnson, Niles, Voshell and Rice gained straight-set victories, Niles winning also in the second round. Other leading performers to advance were Craig Biddle of Philadelphia, Philip Neer and James Davies, the two last named being the Californians who won the intercollegiate doubles title this season. Tilden and Richards will take the court for the first time tomorrow.

No upset marred the first day's play in the men's division of the tournament. Rice was the hardest pressed of the favorites. He took the first set of his match with Charles K. Shaw, former Rhode Island champion, handily enough at 6—1. Then Shaw had a streak of hard and accurate hitting which threw the former Yale star off his stride. Hotly paced shots to Rice's feet as he sought the net and others beyond his reach along the side lines gave Shaw many earned points and he added enough others through Rice's unsteadiness to accumulate a lead of 4—1 and 5—2.

Rice Braces Strongly.

Just when it seemed certain that he would lose the set, Rice braced strongly and raked Shaw's court with deep drives to the corners, hitting with as much accuracy and force from his left side as from his right. Rice won the set finally at 8—6. He is not yet in midseason form, but he was facing a worthy opponent who, from experience of former years, knows Rice's game thoroughly. There was a time when Shaw could beat Rice and, though that was several seasons ago, the veteran Rhode Islander retains most of his old power and all of his old skill.

Another veteran Rhode Island player, Clyde J. Curley, gave James Davies a lot of work in their first round match. Davies won by 9—7, 6—3, but Curley extended the Californian at every stage of the engagement. While Craig Biddle was winning two matches, his sons, Craig Jr. and George Drexel Biddle, were engaging in a keen struggle, which George captured by 6—3, 6—2.

Both of the younger Biddles exhibit excellent form. Their famous dad has evidently given them the best of instructions. Their strokes are well made and their mistakes are those that go with inexperience. Craig Jr. contributed to his defeat by wildness, but he, like his brother, revealed a knowledge of the fine points of the game and a good supply of aggressiveness.

Upset in Women's Singles.

The day's one real upset came in the women's singles. Miss Katherine Gardner of Boston, formerly of Buffalo, achieved it when she defeated Miss Florence Ballin of the West Side Tennis Club in a stubborn contest, 7—5, 2—6, 6—3. To those who had not seen her in action in previous tournaments, Miss Gardner's work was a revelation. Naturally, she plays mostly in back court, but she proved in numerous rallies that she can handle herself confidently at the net as well.

Miss Gardner is distinctly good in her overhead hitting. And her skill as a volleyer is beyond the average for women. Off the ground she is skillful, both on forehand and backhand. Her style is a bit cramped on the forehand drive, as she holds her arm too close to her body for a free swing. Nevertheless she has remarkable control of her drives, which have plenty of pace and excellent length. Here is, in fact, an effective game in all departments.

It was altogether too good for Miss Ballin, well as the latter played. The excellence of Miss Gardner's achievement is reflected in the fact that Miss Ballin has been playing in top form this season, and has won the Pennsylvania and Eastern women's championship and reached the finals of at least two other important tournaments.

Miss Helen Wills of San Francisco, the sixteen-year-old national girls' champion, opened her Eastern campaign with an impressive victory over Miss Jacquelyn Green of Philadelphia by 6—0, 6—1. Miss Green won the fourth game of the second set. All the rest of the way, though she played well, she could make no headway at all against the swift and accurate shooting of the Coast star.

Miss Wills's game amply sustains its promise of a year ago. She has grown a bit since then, and her tennis has progressed likewise. In her ability in forecourt as well as at the base line, she is by far the most promising of the younger players of the country. She has the service, volleying ability and severity off the ground to take her place in time alongside her noted fellow-Californians, Miss Browne and Mrs. Bundy, who are soon to join her in her Eastern campaign.

Another of the day's winners was a newcomer on Eastern courts, Miss Marion Strabler, also a Californian, and who has won leading honors in tournaments for women in Japan. She took two love sets from Mrs. John Cooke, a local player. Mrs. Frank Godfrey of the Longwood Cricket Club administered a severe beating to her clubmate, Miss Rosamond Newton. Mrs. Godfrey was expected to win, but hardly with as much emphasis as the scores of 6—0, 6—2 indicate.

Other leading contenders in the women's division of the tournament are Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J., Miss Dillian Scharman of Brooklyn, Mrs. N. W. Niles of Longwood and Mrs. B. F. Briggs of Pelham. Miss Glenna Collett of the Agawam Hunt Club, noted golfer, was entered in the tournament, but defaulted in the opening round.

Strong Doubles Entry.

A strong entry has been made in the men's doubles, in which play will start tomorrow. Among the teams are Tilden and Richards, the national champions; Voshell and Hardy, Rice and Niles, Phil Bettens and Carl Fisher and the intercollegiate champions, Neer and Davies.

HARVARD MAY MAKE OFFER TO GLENDON

Rowing Policy at Cambridge Still Unsettled After Meeting of Captain and Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 10.—Alexander H. Ladd Jr., Captain-elect of the Harvard crew, today met with the members of the Graduate Advisory Committee for a discussion of the rowing situation at the university. The meeting was held at the Boston law offices of Robert F. Herrick, Chairman of the committee. That no formal steps were taken regarding the policy for the coming year was the statement made after the meeting by Francis Lee Higginson, former Captain, and member of the committee.

"It was a perfectly informal gathering at which Captain-elect Ladd met the members of the graduate body," Mr. Higginson said. "When a man takes up a new job he naturally wishes to become better acquainted with those to be associated with him. That was the object of today's session."

It is generally understood, however, that Dr. R. Heber Howe, director of rowing, will not be the active coach next season, but will retain his position as director.

This is partially the wish of the doctor. The Rowing Committee is believed to be seriously considering an offer of the post to Richard Glendon, who has coached with such great success at Annapolis. If such an offer is made, it is expected that Glendon will insist that he be given absolute power in coaching and selecting the crew. Whether the Harvard rowing authorities will agree to this is uncertain, but they face graduate disgust with the situation, which has prevailed for a number of years, and may try a new tack. It was this opposition to allow him to be in sole command that lost Harvard the late Charles Courtney. Glendon is now at his home in Chatham, Mass., where he has vast cranberry bogs, and is said to be comfortably fixed from their income.

EASTERN Y. C. FLEET COMES TO ANCHOR

Extra Race May Be Arranged for Today in Western Penobscot Bay.

Special to The New York Times.

GILKEY'S HARBOR, Me., July 10.—Early this afternoon the fleet of the Eastern Yacht Club came to anchor in the roadstead, the craft shooting in from all directions after a happy day passed in visiting ports in Western Penobscot Bay. Tomorrow the big squadron will slip down the bay once more to take anchorage off North Haven, and the day following will come the final run of the cruise to Bar Harbor. There the fleet will disband.

Once more the weather was fine, but it was cool and in many warm wraps were essential. The boats moved leisurely about, some of the schooners dropping in at Camden while a handful of the power boats ran up to Belfast and Castine for whiday lunch.

If the interest proves sufficient an extra race will be run tomorrow in the Western Penobscott, starting outside this port and running down the bay and back to the entrance.

Rear Commodore Ayer is impatient for a good windward test for his schooner Queen Mab. Most of the runs thus far have been off the breeze, and while the Queen Mab was the winner in one of these, he believes his craft has other good points to display. Captain Aldrich would like to see his Flying Cloud in more clashes, and it looked tonight as if a race would be arranged.

TWO AMERICANS WIN.

Andersons Successful, but Taylor Loses in Toronto Tennis.

TORONTO, July 10.—Two American players were victorious, while a third met defeat today in the singles of the Canadian open tennis tournament. Frank T. Anderson of Brooklyn, N. Y., former national indoor champion, won his way through two rounds, defeating W. Foley of Toronto, 6—3, 6—3, and Gordon Spanner of Toronto, 6—2, 6—1. Fred G. Anderson Sr. of Brooklyn won from B. S. Cook of Brantford, Ont.

Harold Taylor of New York lost to G. S. Foster, Toronto, 6—4, 5—8, 8—6, after winning from W. G. Davidson, Toronto, 7—5, 7—5.

Tennis Tourney Postponed.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 10.—The Junior and Boys' open tennis tournament, which was scheduled to start at the White Plains Club here today, has been postponed until July 17. Entries will close July 15.

U. S. Sportsman Accepts Duke's Defi for Ocean Race in Ketch

An American sportsman, who declared that he was unwilling to let an English challenge stand unanswered, has taken up the gauntlet cast down yesterday by the Duke of Leinster to "race across the Atlantic single-handed in a ketch," and has forwarded his reply to England. If the Duke accepts, he proposes to design and build a suitable boat for a start early in 1923. William Washburn Nutting, F. R. G. S., managing editor of Motor Boat, at 229 West Thirty-ninth Street, and author of "The Track of the Typhoon," which describes a trip across the Atlantic and back in 1920 in a 45-foot ketch, is the challenger. He states that he is prepared to meet almost any conditions the Duke may care to propose.

Daniel Webster's Hat

"Why, Mr. Webster," said he, "our heads are just the same size."

"On the outside, perhaps," replied Webster.

If there had been 10,000,000 automobiles in Webster's day this might have hit off the feeling about tires as well.

To understand the tire situation today, go back to 1918, 1919 and 1920, when tire makers were jumping to catch up with the demand. In 1921 they more than caught up.

And in 1922, every car-owner knows where he can get plenty of tires with plenty of big discounts. Plenty of bargains with ingenious sales-arguments.

The quantity problem is history.

It is all this quantity of tires—and their wide variance in value that is making most car-owners determined to get quality.

The unobserving man might say that this was reaching the limit of the quality idea.

Yet, in January, February, March, April and May, 1922, the sales of U. S. Royal Cords through dealers more than doubled over the same period of 1921. A new high record for Royal Cords.

* * *

You have, perhaps, overheard some other tire being sold for "as good as a Royal."

A SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

President HARDING's plan to arbitrate the coal strike is somewhat on the lines of that of President ROOSEVELT in the anthracite strike of twenty years ago. A commission is to be set up to decide all questions of wages and working conditions, and meanwhile the mines are at once to be worked under the scale which expired on April 1. Both miners and operators are to agree to abide by the final decision, which is to be rendered if possible by Aug. 10. Nor is the commission to stop merely with the settlement of the present strike. It is to go exhaustively into every phase of the coal industry. It will require from the owners every detail of cost of production and transportation. Further than that, it shall make recommendations not only for the securing of industrial peace in coal mining, but for reorganizing it in such a way as to prevent the waste and unstable conditions from which it has been notoriously suffering for years.

The program thus looks to both the immediate emergency and the distant need. If carried out, it will inevitably mean a regulation of coal mines very much as the railways are regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Incidental hardships will be involved, and it would appear that the owners of superfluous or unprofitable mines which would be discontinued under the plan will have to be compensated. But no public gain can be had without paying for it, and the sole question will be whether the resultant benefit is worth the price now proposed. The whole is undoubtedly a far-reaching and ambitious project, all parts of which cannot at once be realized. But there ought not to be any delay in carrying out that portion of the plan which looks to an instant resumption of coal mining.

It is upon this that the President laid most stress. The country must not be deprived of its Winter's fuel. No one can allege that the Government is acting hastily or unadvisedly. It has sincerely hoped that the strike might be settled without any governmental intervention at all. But failing that, the offer and the appeal had to be made. They were made in the name of the public welfare, and are instantly assured of the endorsement of a strong public opinion. That they should be declined by either operators or miners is incredible. President HARDING urges acceptance as the direct representative of the people, and it is certain that popular wrath would beat irresistibly upon either workers or operators who should be so mad as to resist this fair settlement.

THE REPUBLICAN TARIFF PLEDGE.

The odor of the defeat of the "organization" in Iowa clinging to him, Mr. JOHN T. ADAMS, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, rushes to give his powerful aid to the Tariff bill. Somebody, it seems, had said that the National Committee was working against "some particular methods of tariff-making proposed by the Republicans." If there is anybody in the United States who cares a rap about the opinions of Mr. ADAMS's collection of sages, he is cloaked as yet in anonymity. Whereas everybody knows that Senator CUMMINS, Senator NORRIS, Senator LENROOT, Senator LA FOLLETTE, Senator BORAH object in various degrees to the measure which Mr. ADAMS feels called upon to defend, and Senator KELLOGG kicked justly against the duty on shingles. Even after all that has been done for the agricultural bloc—and the farmer will love much more in the higher cost of what he buys than he will gain in the higher price of what he has to sell—there is uneasiness in the bosom of the Middle West. Mr. ADAMS is not exactly the man to remove it.

With a lovely simplicity he says that the pledges of the Republican Party must be fulfilled. For the most part, so far, the Republicans in Congress have left the Republican promises unfulfilled and are trying to do things which they didn't promise to do. But the Republican tariff "pledge" was really a pledge not to make a tariff. Here is the whole "plank," of which the Iowa economist quotes only the second sentence:

> The uncertain and unsettled condition of international balances, the abnormal economic and trade situation of the world, and the impossibility of forecasting accurately even the near future, preclude the formulation of a definite program to meet conditions a year hence. But the Republican Party reaffirms its belief in the protective principle and pledges itself to a revision of the tariff as soon as conditions shall make it necessary for the preservation of the home market for American labor, agriculture and industry.

The conditions of 1920 continue substantially. There is no necessity of making any tariff. It is "the worst time in the world," as even Senator McCUMBER admits, to make a high protective tariff. Our foreign debtors can't pay us in gold. The immense foreign balances due to the United States can be paid only in goods and services. Yet the Republican tariff makers are trying to choke our foreign trade and to diminish the foreign markets for our exportable surplus. The old theory of Republican protection held that rates should be imposed to equalize competitive conditions and leave the American producer a reasonable profit. The new theory is that rates should be imposed so that American producers may put up their prices. It has been stated nakedly by Senator POINDEXTER that "every man who can supply the American market by his industry" shall have his quota of the tariff swag. Duty is matched against duty, interest against interest. As Mr. LENROOT puts it, "If the interests of "a Senator in his State demand ex-"orbitant duties, that Senator can go "and ask and receive, and then, be-"cause of the inter-relationship of the "duties throughout this bill, that "Senator will vote with the committee for every increase that may be "proposed."

"Protection has always been the fundamental Republican doctrine," says Mr. ADAMS. Not the protection given by the McCumber bill, that great log-rolling exchange of subsidies. Large numbers of Republicans can't stomach this catalogue of blunders and plunders.

UNCLE LUDWIG AND UNCLE EMIL.

The central committee of the German People's Party has declared that "the reconstruction of Germany is "possible only on the basis of a re-"publican constitution"—a prudent thing to declare just now—and says it will support legislation for the support of the Constitution "provided such legislation is not one-sided." In theory that is excellent: the republic may be threatened by Communists as well as monarchists. But in practice the Communists have long since ceased to be dangerous, and will be a peril again only if monarchist intrigues drive the mass of republican sentiment so far to the Left that Communist propaganda can gain a hearing in classes now deaf to it.

The danger in Germany is today, as it has been for more than three years, from the Right; and it is a justifiable suspicion that elements in the People's Party are quite as dangerous to the republic, because they have a chance to bore from within, as are any of the reactionary militarists. Letters have just been published in Berlin showing some sort of connection between various reactionary leaders and different elements in Russia. The celebrated Forest Councilor Dr. ESCHERICH, and Captain EHRENGARDT of Baltic and Kapp-putsch fame, seem to have concluded that as the Bolsheviki control the Russian Army, they are the people to deal with. Count REVENTLOW opposed this with all the vigor that might be expected from a defender of blond-Aryan ideals and a worshipper of the swastika, which has replaced the cross in hardshell German circles. As to LUDENDORFF's attitude, there seems to have been some uncertainty. His code name in the correspondence was Uncle Ludwig, ESCHERICH's was Uncle Emil. LUDENDORFF naturally preferred the Russian monarchists. The documents do not seem to support REVENTLOW's fear that LUDENDORFF was going over to the Bolsheviki.

These movie melodramas are not the sort of thing that will upset the German Republic. It is significant that LUDENDORFF is being connected by German radicals with every plot that turns up, almost as if his name were alone enough to discredit a conspiracy. Certainly the mysterious gentleman who fled to Sweden behind blue spectacles, and now disguises himself by the genial pseudonym of Uncle Ludwig, would have lost all political standing if the Germans had political humor. That they have not all modern history proves; but it is hard to believe that all this hocus-pocus would be necessary if the reactionaries were strong enough to be a serious menace to the republic.

Far more serious is the risk of letting the republican Government depend on the support of men who are republicans for revenue only, and in order to deceive the allied Governments and to try to protect themselves from heavy taxation. The People's Party belongs on the Right, and any Left-Centre combination which included it would be unstable. Support of the Independent Socialists would be highly valuable to the Government just now; as for what comes later, one may put hope in a gradual process of education, such as is suggested in the very sensible remarks of ex-Chancellor MICHAELIS on German internal politics.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The strike situation advertises itself well, and no one denies its seriousness. But the country is persuaded that when conditions become too bad to be endured they will be corrected. That this is the conviction of the best judges of such things, and those with the largest stakes on the correctness of their judgment, is disclosed by acts practically giving bonds for the future. All the strikes together cannot check the national welfare. The present important point is less the strike difficulties than the proof that they are regarded as temporary, without power to stay the rising of the economic tide.

No national economic straw is more significant than postal and banking statistics. June postal receipts were the greatest recorded. New York's figures led the list of fifty cities. Bank clearings for the first week of July were 11 per cent. over last year for this city, and 12 per cent. outside. The average daily clearings for June were the largest since December, 1920. This is remarkable, for it reflects business rather than security speculation. The Federal Reserve debits to individual accounts are thought by many a more trustworthy sign than even bank clearings. The total for the Fourth of July week was $8,648,618,000, against $7,805,316,000 last year. Railway passenger earnings are less satisfactory than freight, but are less important. That the freight movement is growing, despite the coal strike, is a sign that it will grow faster when the Winter supplies of coal begin to move and industrial processes are stimulated by fuel supplies.

One of the surest economic indications is activity in the construction industry. In this city more buildings were erected in the last twelvemonth than during any two calendar years on record. Homes for more than 36,000 families will have been provided before snow falls. Such items mean little individually, but cumulatively they offset the strikes and mark the end of unemployment for those not voluntarily or seasonably idle. There is so little doubt about the economic trend that the Harvard Economic Service says in its survey and forecast for July that recovery is now "well advanced" and that "general business prosperity" may be looked for.

VOTES FOR PEERESSES.

Legal acumen has seldom worked more subtly than in the reasoning by which the Committee for Privilege of the House of Lords was moved to vote, by a majority of twenty to four, against allowing a seat and a vote to Lady RHONDDA and other peeresses in their own right. The Sex Disqualification Removal act of 1919 provides that a person shall not be disqualified by sex or marriage from the exercise of any public function or from being appointed to or holding any civil or judicial post. That seems a sufficient warrant, and was so held when the case first came up last March, but the Lord Chancellor found grounds more pertinent.

A peeress in her own right possesses that right by grant from the Crown, and precedents abound for holding that "the subject has no right to "claim under a Crown grant anything "but what the Crown has granted in "clear and unequivocal terms"—among which is decidedly not votes for peeresses. To illustrate, a peer who becomes a felon or a bankrupt may not sit and vote; but, the right being unequivocally granted by the Crown, the felon may regain it by being pardoned, the bankrupt by being discharged. "These things are possible "in nature and permissible in law; "but a person who is a female must "remain a female until she dies." Nevertheless, says the Lord Chancellor, it is not her sex that disqualifies her, except "in a wholly loose and colloquial sense"; it is the fact that there is a defect or omission in the original grant from the Crown. This is the legal language: "A peeress in "her own right is not a person who "has an incident of peerage but is dis-"qualified from exercising it by her "sex: she is a person who for her life "holds a dignity which does not in-"clude the right of a female to exer-"cise that function at all." Many hitherto in darkness may now learn what the Gravedigger meant in inquiring Crowner's Quest law. Except by royal grant, Ophelia cannot seek out the water and drown herself. Lord HALDANE, who wrote the dissenting opinion, held that, though the peerage is granted by the Crown, the right to sit and vote derives, not from the Crown, but from "the law of the Constitution."

The argument has, to be sure, a more modern phase. The Lord Chancellor holds that if the act of 1919 had intended to seat peeresses in the House of Lords it would have said so specifically, and this view seemed to him "to be put beyond all argument "by the words used with regard to "jury service." The Legislature could not have sought to effect "a "revolutionary change in the privileges of this house and a restriction "of his Majesty's prerogative" by "words as vague and general as could "be found in any act of Parliament." Lord HALDANE admits that Parliament may have been ungallant enough to forget for the moment the few peeresses in their own right, but he argues ably that it was even less likely to intend "to put them on a different footing from other women."

The official report is that a "Mr. Fox "DAVIES held a watching brief for "certain other peeresses in their own "right." If there is anything in historic precedent we may confidently expect that his Majesty's prerogative is, in this particular, destined to be abridged.

ARBITRATING AN OLD DISPUTE.

The announcement at Washington that the representatives of Chile and Peru have agreed to arbitrate the Tacna-Arica controversy is a happy ending of a negotiation that has lasted two months. One of the Peruvian delegates takes occasion to praise the "impartial and friendly spirit" in which Secretary HUGHES has helped to bring about the agreement. To those who have been accustomed to think of the Secretary of State as merely a brusque business man, an impatient logic-chopper, this tribute to his patience and tact must seem a little surprising. Dealing with high-strung and punctilious Latin-Americans is, indeed, one of the hardest tasks of diplomacy. If this whole negotiation at Washington were revealed in all its inner details, they would doubtless make up a series of recurring difficulties and crises. All of them have now been surmounted, and the decision of the two South American republics to make use of the good offices of the United States shows that they have become convinced, as they say, not only of the necessity of compoming their quarrel but of the safety of confiding their case to the "high ideals of peace and fraternity" cherished by the American Government.

The text of the agreement has not yet been completed, or at least is not yet published. All the indications are, however, that the arbitration will be of a broad character. It will go beyond the mere question of the correct interpretation of the treaty, will do more than decide whether it is now possible to hold a satisfactory plebiscite in the disputed territory, and will pass upon the whole question as one of general political and commercial interest for South America. By such a treatment the claims or aspirations of Bolivia can be given due weight. She had no right, in a strictly legal sense, to appear at all in the controversy between Peru and Chile. But if the entire matter is to be considered in its largest aspects, she will be entitled to a hearing on the question of distributing territory and assigning seaports.

The work of arbitration which our Government has now undertaken at the request of the parties to the dispute is certain to be long and difficult. But the very agreement to arbitrate is of most hopeful augury. It portends peace and good-will not only between the nations directly concerned, but between all South America and the United States.

POLAND.

Some one in the midst of the war likened PADEREWSKI to Orpheus, for as Orpheus cried the name of Eurydice throughout the length of Hades, so did PADEREWSKI cry the name of Poland in the very hell in which she found herself. Orpheus lost Eurydice when nearly out of Hades, because he turned to see if she were following. It is to be hoped that there is to be no turning back on the part of those who have led Poland so near to the outer verge of her Hades; for she is not yet entirely "out of the woods," though she has made wonderful progress. It is no time to look back. Those who love Poland will go forward in the policies which have brought her so far out of her misery.

How far she has come, the report of the American Relief Administration intimates. While at the peak of its operation, the A. R. A. was giving a meal a day to nearly 1,500,000 people in Poland, besides distributing large quantities of clothing. This organization is now able to withdraw, for the Central Government of Poland will take on this work so far as it is needed, undertaking to feed until next October 400,000 children. All this has been made possible by wise governmental policies and by the indomitable energy of the peasants, who work like the forces of nature. Since 1919 several million acres of devastated land have been reclaimed, hundreds of thousands of men have been restored to industrial life, and Poland is in food supplies practically self-supporting. But the American public may have the satisfaction of knowing that, except for what the A. R. A. and the American Red Cross have done for the children during the period of Poland's experience, thousands upon thousands of them would never have been led out of the house of death. It was for this reason that the people of Warsaw celebrated our Fourth of July, with tears of joy in their eyes, as thousands of rescued children marched in the streets.

A PAN-AMERICAN PERIL.

Crafty Europe has enmeshed us again, and this time badly. No greater menace has ever been offered to Pan-American harmony than is presented by a proposal just adopted by the League of Nations Disarmament Commission. That body has on hand several schemes for reduction of armaments, which it wants all nations to discuss in the hope that one or the other may eventually be adopted. "All nations" includes the United States, despite Jim REED and HIRAM JOHNSON. But the League can't get its ideas before the United States, because our Government won't answer its letters. The rumor that the League mail goes into the State Department wastebasket turned out to be untrue, but when the State Department has to answer the League it does so by sending its reply to some individual foreign statesman, with the request that he broadcast it.

But somebody induced the Chilean delegate on the Disarmament Commission, Señor RIVAS VICUÑA, to promise that at the next Pan-American Congress, to be held in March at Santiago de Chile, the League plans would be discussed. This will compel the State Department to admit that the League of Nations exists, or else to walk out of the conference. If our delegates walk out, Pan-American harmony will have been destroyed; if they admit that there is a League of Nations, HENRY CABOT LODGE will be stultified, and Heaven knows what harm may happen to the Republic. This nefarious intrigue of European diplomats has every prospect of success; and though it may bring some relief to American officials, who will no longer have to avoid reading the front pages of the papers for fear of seeing the Forbidden Name, it will probably demoralize patriotic public opinion completely to learn that Europe has a League even though we walked out.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Prompt Denial Would Be Welcome.

About all that the friends of Mrs. MATLOCK, and all who are interested in maintaining the American reputation for good sportsmanship, can do after reading the reasons ascribed to her as explaining her defeat by Mlle. LENGLEN is to hope that she was misunderstood or misquoted. For certainly her reasons were very bad ones—were reasons which she should not have given, even if they did explain what happened, and most of them had no real relation to it.

Notable is the irrelevance of her protest against starting the game after prolonged delay and when the light was poor. Conditions were alike for both contestants in those respects, and before play started it must have seemed likely that they would be more disadvantageous to the French girl than to the American with her supposedly steadier nerves. And it really is pathetic that Mrs. MATLOCK should have said—if she did—that she beat herself by playing far below her best form, and that Mlle. LENGLEN being at her best only when she had the upper hand, the result would have been different if she had lost, instead of winning, the first games of the first set.

The first of these statements, whether true or not, is ungenerous, and, as a matter of obvious fact, Mrs. MATLOCK did not beat herself; she was beaten, fairly and thoroughly, by the rival whom she was so anxious to meet. As for Mlle. LENGLEN's inability to make an uphill fight, the rumors long current to that effect may or may not have some basis in tennis history, but at best the charge must be a generalization from a few special cases, and such generalizations are almost always wrong. In this instance, at any rate, she met, fearlessly and gayly, one whom she knew to be a redoubtable adversary.

In a fair contest at any game or sport the only permissible explanation of defeat is that superiority was shown, whether the superiority was permanent or temporary is immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant.

They Didn't Draw an Inference.

Seriousness and solemnity, as they should, always characterise the business offices of every newspaper, for jeating is out of place there, while upstairs, of course, humor is precious—because possibly, like diamonds and gold everywhere, it is there so rare. But now and then jokes do drift from the business office up into the higher—by aneroid—journalistic regions, and to reveal a secret of the prison house the joke is best appreciated in the upper regions when it is "on" the lower one.

For example: Some weeks ago the "notice" of a marriage was sent to the business office of THE TIMES and, in due course, it appeared in the appropriate column. Also in due course a bill was sent to him from whom the announcement came. As there was no response to the first bill others were sent one after another at the accustomed intervals. At last there has come a reply in the shape of a check for the required amount, and with the check this decidedly interesting note:

> This bill was not paid promptly because I was away from the city on my honeymoon trip. You should have been able to infer this from the nature of the announcement and have refrained from sending me bill after bill. Business sense ought to dictate that.

It is most saddening to "upstairs" that "downstairs" should have been reproved in this cold and stern manner, and terrible indeed is it that the "business sense" of the business office should have been impugned. Probably it has explanations and excuses—good ones—to offer the indignant Newlywed, but it is much to be feared that hereafter when he gets married he will send his announcements of the happy event where natural inferences are drawn from them.

New York Needs Such Men.

Over in Elizabeth they have at least two policemen whom Commissioner ENRIGHT, after he gets home, should invite to enter the broader field of metropolitan activities. Two of them, with the well asserted names of MARINELLI and FLAHERTY, were notified shortly after daybreak of a cash register robbery committed by seven men who, their evil deed committed, had departed in a large and fast automobile. To catch them evidently was a hopeless undertaking, so MARINELLI and FLAHERTY mounted their motorcycles and undertook it.

They rode fast and they rode far; they took short cuts to a destination toward which, in their wisdom, they thought the thieves were hurrying. At Red Bank, twenty-five miles away, they overtook and captured their prey—all seven of them—and carried them back to Elizabeth.

That was fine, brisk work. There was not a little of incidental danger in it, with some firing of "guns" at the close of the chase, but that is not the important part of the episode, as courage is no particular credit to individuals in a class every member of which possesses it as the first qualification for the service he enters. What counted was the initiative and determination and good judgment displayed—rare qualities in any trade or profession.

Forbidden Fence Attractive.

From our public library comes the report that in the last few days there has been a sudden and large increase in the demand for books by ANATOLE FRANCE. The explanation must be known to every reader of the newspapers, it being characteristic of a majority of human kind to develop a keen desire to do what they are told not to do. The inevitable result of the ban placed on the writer's books was therefore a widened circulation of them.

Whatever harmful influence the books can have will be now strengthened, but perhaps no great injury will be done. FRANCE is among the ablest of French stylists, and he knows many things. Among the things he knows, however, as almost everybody learned long ago, are not a few that are not so. He is, or pretends to be, a "red," and he wrote, very foolishly and ignorantly not long ago about two men on trial for murder in this country and convicted of it, but none of his American appreciators minded that at all. They do not look to him for political or economic leading or for religious conviction. They do expect and often have received from him most amusing tales, embodying a gently cynical philosophy that has little application to ordinary life. Of real wickedness there is little in him or his works none that is visible to others than specialists and experts.

WAR DEBT SOLUTION.

How Germany Might Liquidate Her Debts and Those of the Allies.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It seems to be conceded that the war debts of Germany and the Allies cannot be paid within a shorter period than fifty years, and that creditor nations are averse to any material reductions in these huge sums, totaling two to three times the world's supply of gold. These debts have prevented the stabilising of finance and commerce for the past three and a half years, and the recovery to normal conditions will be obstructed indefinitely unless and until plans of final settlement are arrived at. A very far-reaching and workable concrete solution of this world problem would be a general "wiping of the slate" by Germany, the Allies and the United States, which could be accomplished by the following plan:

Germany's reparation and occupation debts, on a cash basis, are approximately $12,000,000,000; those of the Allies to the United States Government approximately $11,000,000,000 and of the Allies to each other about $5,000,000,000. All of these debts could be practically liquidated by Germany issuing fifty-year gold mark bonds at 4½ per cent. for the equivalent of say $10,000,000,000, provide for an annual sinking fund to pay them off in fifty years, and turn these bonds over to the Allies in payment of reparation debts; the Allies to endorse or otherwise guarantee same and turn them over to the United States Government and to each other on account of existing debts.

Nets some of the advantages of this plan, viz:

1. Adjustment of approximately $25,000,000,000 of Government indebtedness.
2. No additional obligations assumed by any Government.
3. Dates of settlement of these war debts with interest provided for.
4. Certainty of stated payments by Germany reasonably assured.
5. Germany's financial and economic condition eased and stabilized.
6. Exchange rates between all countries greatly benefited.
7. Removal of serious tension between nations resulting from huge debts to each other.
8. The United States, by guaranteeing these bonds, could use them to retire its own bonds, thereby reducing its direct debt to a like amount.

Such long-term German bonds, backed by the guarantee of two other Governments, free from all taxes, would be an ideal investment valued without doubt above par, and as they would be guaranteed by the respective debtors and turned over to the United States as security, they could not be considered a loan to Germany, hence their origin would be objectionable to no one.

FAR-REACHING.

This is the strike that Jack called!
These are the townspeople, discontent,
Dealers here groan for supplies delayed,
Ruefully note, too, accounts unpaid.
This is a mother, with hopeless eyes,
Soothing a half-nourished babe who cries.
These are the children who tattered grow—
Daddy lacks money for clothes, you know!
Here are the youth; in an idle time
They fall into habits of vice and crime.
Shabby the girls, who no more have work,
Prey of the foes who through strike months lurk.
This is the village, once neat and fair—
Dooryards are showing such need of care!
Windows are broken and gates unhinged;
Walks are all littered and grass plots singed.
Wheels are long rusting, no whistles call.
Blight and decay here have settled down.
Strangers deride the inactive town.
Hunger and Want, unabashed, now stalk
Men, once so proud, tramp from town to town,
Meeting refusals, deep scorn, a frown.
Bearing it all for the sake at home,
Hoping for luck as soul-sick, they roam.
Patience and tact and a little wait
Would have averted this woeful state.
Labor and Capital know that now;
Burn to retrait—but, oh, when and how?
Tired of the muddle thus brought about,
Taught sobering facts since the men walked out.
Young and old, high and low, rich and poor, owners, employes, merchants, farmers, home folks and strangers,
Bothered and injured and suffering loss,
Hate between shopmates, yid help and their boss—
All due to the strike that Jack called!

CLOSES CHARLESTON YARD.

Navy Department Suspends Supply and Repair of Ships There.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—A survey having demonstrated that the navy possesses more navy yards than it needs, orders were issued today by Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt for the immediate closing down of the navy yard at Charleston, S. C. The yard and its property will remain under the Commandant of the Sixth Naval District, but only a marine guard will be maintained at the yard.

The order issued today directs that the yard be considered closed so far as relates to the repair and supply of vessels of the navy. The buildings, machinery, tools and other public property will be placed in condition for preservation, and the naval receiving ship at Charleston will remain in commission. But the gunboat Tulsa, under construction at Charleston, will be completed only to the extent necessary to permit of its being towed to another navy yard for completion.

The yard at Charleston has been in existence about thirty years, and was the particular pet of Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina, who as ranking member of the Senate Naval Committee for some years insisted upon the retention of the yard. It is the second yard ordered closed since the Harding Administration came into power, both in the South. The other was the New Orleans Navy Yard.

HUGHES CONFERS ON TACNA

Final Steps for Drafting Chile-Peru Protocol Are Taken.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Final steps preparatory to the drafting and signing of the protocol of arbitration in the Tacna-Arica controversy between Chile and Peru were taken today, when representatives of both sides conferred with Secretary of State Hughes.

Those who saw the Secretary were Señor Matthieu, the Chilean Ambassador, and Dr. Carlos Aldunate, Chairman of the Chilean delegation, also Dr. Maillon F. Porras, Chairman of the Peruvian delegation to the conference. Secretary Hughes and other American officials were unwilling to make any comment on the favorable turn in the negotiations, but indicated gratification over the agreement for a settlement of the difficulties.

The Chilean and Peruvian delegations will meet tomorrow to begin their work on drafting the protocol. The United States will be named as the arbiter, but the exact manner in which this Government will proceed in its examination and decision has not yet been officially disclosed.

MONT BLANC EASY SOON.

Funicular Railway to Near-By Peak is Being Completed.

GENEVA, July 10 (Associated Press).—Tourists in the near future will be able to reach the top of Mont Blanc with ease after ninety minutes of comfortable riding, whereas at present it requires a toilsome journey of from thirteen to fourteen hours afoot from Chamonix, France—an expensive and fatiguing expedition.

The work suspended by the war has now recommenced on the aerial cable for the funicular railway, technically known as a teleferique, to the summit, 12,608 feet high, of Aiguille du Midi, the neighboring peak to Mont Blanc. Mont Blanc, which is only about 3,000 feet higher, can be reached from the future railway terminus on the summit of Aiguille by an easy stroll over the ice, negotiable by tourists who are not experienced alpinists. No guides or porters will be needed, as there are no crevices near the summit.

The new aerial electric line resembles a big hotel elevator and is worked in much the same fashion. It will take fifty to eighty passengers up the precipitous flanks of the mountain, making several trips daily. It will cost 60 per cent. less than the ordinary Alpine funicular, as employed in Switzerland, where a similar line leads to the summit of the Wetterhorn.

JEW COMMENDS HARVARD.

Most Open-Minded of Our Universities, Says Dr. A. A. Goldenweiser.

"Harvard is the most open-minded of any of our universities with regard to the Jewish question, and President Lowell the least prejudiced," declared Dr. A. A. Goldenweiser, in an address before the opening meeting of the Menorah Summer School in the Auditorium of the New School for Social Research last evening.

"Lowell fears that the very large and ever increasing number of Jewish students at Harvard is building and increasing prejudice; and he prefers to sacrifice the general principle of non-restriction in order to keep the University free from prejudice. He may be wrong, but he is at least sincere. I cannot say as much for other university Presidents who I shall not mention, who hide their prejudices under subterfuges."

Dr. Goldenweiser's address dealt with "Race and Culture in the Modern World," and discussed the question of racial mixture, which he declared entirely right since there is no evidence of racial inferiority or of radical differences in the psychological capacities of races.

L. A. Miscikind opened the meeting with an explanation of the purposes of the Summer School to acquaint students with the results of Jewish scholarship.

ISLANDS FOR WAR CLAIMS.

Fish Suggests Allies Pay Us With Those in the Caribbean.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., July 10.—A proposal that the United States take over islands in the Caribbean Sea, which are owned by European nations, as part payment of World War debts was made before the nineteenth annual State encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans by Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr. here today. Mr. Fish opposed cancellation of allied debts and said:

"I offer the suggestion that, as after the Spanish War we purchased the Philippines, so we now should buy these islands near us. Geographically they should belong to us. As they are, they are a source of friction with South America, and they would be danger points at the Pan-America Canal in the event of an emergency."

Maj. John J. Chidwick, chaplain of the Maine, when that battleship was blown up in Havana Harbor, severely criticised the delays which have attended caring for some of the disabled veterans of the World War.

Department Commander Leonard Spiro is presiding over the encampment.

TWO DEPUTIES FACE TRIAL.

French Communists Are Accused of Inciting Soldiers to Disobedience.

PARIS, July 10 (Associated Press).—The Communist Deputies, Marcel Cachin and Vaillant-Couturier, who were accused some weeks ago of inciting soldiers to disobedience, will now be called before an examining magistrate to answer the charges, it was announced today. The Chamber of Deputies has failed to act on a demand that parliamentary immunity be waived so that the two Deputies could be prosecuted, but the session having ended, immunity ceases to operate until the next session, and they will be cited to appear at once.

The charges are based on articles which appeared in the paper Cosorgne, in which the conscripts were advised not to respond to calls to join regiments for regular service.

Great Gain in Summer Schools is Taken as Proof of Public's Increasing Interest.

The Summer sessions of Columbia University and New York University opened yesterday with the largest enrolments in their history. Last year's registration at Columbia was 11,866, but it is expected that more than 12,000 will enroll this year. At the end of the fourth day yesterday, more than 10,000 students had registered, as compared with 8,707 in the same period last year.

Yesterday, the first day of the session, 2,500 students registered in the gymnasium, where the registration books will be open again today. Unemployment, strikes and higher costs of education have not checked the tide that has flowed to Morningside Heights from all parts of the country.

University officers believe that the growing number of Summer students evidences a quickening interest in education among all classes. The sessions began in 1900 with an attendance of only 417, while this year's figures show an increase of 3,000 per cent. Only a few courses were given at first, and the teaching staff was small, but today 1,000 courses are offered, and they embrace elementary, intermediate and higher educational courses. The instructors come from all over the country, and include men at the type of Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School, who, with Professor John Dewey and Professor Walter W. Cook, is directing special conferences in jurisprudence.

Women not only form the majority of the student body, but a large number are members of the teaching staff.

The university dormitories cannot hold the students, and a Summer city is housed in apartment houses near-by.

The Summer school of New York University began its enrollment yesterday with 3,000 students, an increase of 1,000 over the attendance a year ago. Most of the 250 courses are being given this year at the Colleges of Arts and the College of Engineering at University Heights, and business and law courses are centred at the Wall Street Division, 90 Trinity Place, and at Washington Irving High School. Music courses are at Riverdale Country School.

The first lecture in the course on international, national and municipal affairs will be given tomorrow morning in the Gould Memorial Library by Professor Milton E. Loomis. He will speak on the results of the Washington Conference on Disarmament.

An important series of educational conferences attended by school executives from all parts of the country will be held.

There will be a concert open to the public each Thursday night on University Heights, under the direction of William Lyndon Wright.

SCORES OUR SHIP POLICY.

International Chamber of Commerce Opposes Flag Discrimination.

PARIS, July 10 (Associated Press).—The Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, upon which the United States is represented, at a meeting in Paris today went on record by a resolution as being unanimously opposed to discrimination by a country against the mercantile marine of another power on the theory that all trade of any one nation belongs to the shipping interests of that country.

Although the United States was not specifically mentioned, it was indicated that rivalry between the American mercantile marine and the shipping interests of the other great powers was one of the factors inspiring the resolution, which reads:

"That the International Chamber of Commerce desires to call attention to the recent development in the various countries of the practice of tying discriminating duties and to remind the convention that such action is inimical to the prosperity of international commerce.

"That the claim upon which such practices are based, namely that the trade of any one country belongs to the mercantile marine of that country, is unsound and cannot hope for acceptance by the commercial world in general, and that in times of peace the benefit of freedom of the seas can only be secured by equal opportunity in all ports for vessels of all flags."

Another resolution adopted unanimously declares against an "international tax war on shipping," which the chamber believes to mean a "scramble for subsidies," the resolution says, would result in greatly increasing the cost of sea transport. The Governments, therefore, are urged to adopt the principle of reciprocal exemption from taxes on profits of foreign shipping.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, July 10.—Ancient Rome's Senate house, the Curia Julia, built by Julius Caesar, has just passed into the possession of the Italian Government. This forum building was converted by Pope Honorius I. in the year 625 into the Church of St. Adriano. It had been previously restored by Diocletian about the year 300 and a brick facade was added which is still in existence.

Italy has acquired both the church and the adjacent convent from the Spanish college at a price of about 110,000. Included in the purchase are two beautiful columns of Oriental porphyry.

Explorer's Daughter Quietly Married to John J. Cummins.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 10.—In spite of attempts to keep the wedding secret, the marriage of John J. Cummins of Syracuse and New York and Miss Eleanor Jean Amundsen of New York, daughter of the famous explorer, became known today. The ceremony was performed Saturday night at the rectory of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, after a marriage license had been issued at the City Hall.

Both the bridegroom and bride gave their address as the home of Cummins's aunt, Mrs. John Dunfee, here. This was necessary under the State law, which provides that the license must be issued at the home city of the bride. The witnesses at the marriage were Mrs. Cummins, mother of the bridegroom, and Melvin Tuppen, a friend.

Cummins is the son of the late John Cummins, who was President of the Syracuse Lighting Company.

The last news of the bride's father came in a dispatch from Seattle dated July 7. It stated that the explorer's plan to fly from Point Barrow, Alaska, across the North Pole had been delayed by adverse ice conditions in Bering Sea. His ship, the Maud, is not expected to reach Point Barrow before July 20, five days after the date he had meant to start his flight.

G. J. GARRETSON, JURIST, DIES AT 74

HIS SERVICE WAS 21 YEARS

Had Been Surrogate of Queens County and President of Newtown Board of Education.

Former Supreme Court Justice Garret J. Garretson died Sunday night in Amagansett, L. I. He was 75 years old. His death followed an attack of heart disease. The body was taken to his home, 220 Broadway, Elmhurst, L. I.

When he retired from the bench in 1917 he was approaching the age limit of seventy years and had spent twenty-one years on the Supreme Court bench, one full term and half of a second term. In the Dix landslide of 1910 he won by more than 4,500 although denied a nomination by the Democratic convention. He was the only Republican nominee elected in the district.

Mr. Garretson's first law partnership, with Henry W. Eastman, lasted until the latter's death in 1882. Mr. Eastman's sons then joined the firm, which continued until 1896.

THE PLAY

"Sue, Dear," Tuneful Merry.

SUE, DEAR, a musical comedy in two acts; book by Bide Dudley, Joseph Herbert and C. S. Montanye; music by Frank M. Grey; lyrics by Bide Dudley. At the Times Square Theatre:

| | |
|---|---|
| Minerva West | Maxine Brown |
| Dave Craig | Maurice Holland |
| Aunt Mildred | Madeline Grey |
| Billings | Douglas Cosgrove |
| Dolly | Ruth Gray |
| Polly | Leslie Godard |
| Molly | Eileen Shannon |
| Philip West | Bradford Kirkbride |
| Sue | Olga Steck |
| Le Comte Emile Pouches | John Hendricks |
| Chick O'Brien | Bobby O'Neil |
| Zoe | Alice Cavanaugh |

Although there is nothing "to haunt, to startle and waylay" about the musical comedy which Bide Dudley presented at the Times Square Theatre last night under the title, "Sue, Dear," it is pleasant Summer entertainment, occasionally brightened by a musical or dancing number to which the not too reluctant spectator can respond with a degree of enthusiasm. It's an easy going piece that never gets up any great speed but moves along nicely enough, except when it stumbles over some particularly clumsy effort at humor. Not much can be said for its lines, in fact. There is more music than comedy to the production, and it is best when its people are not talking. Still, more by their manner of delivering their lines than by the things they say, Bobby O'Neil and John Hendricks do provoke laughter, and, with Bradford Kirkbride and Maurice Holland, in a number of the second act called "Foolishment," they really make things merry for a while.

If one made a stock-market chart of the piece he would find the line of interest going up rather sharply at the opening to "Love's Corporation," a song and dance by Maxine Brown and Mr. Holland; then dropping, to rise again a little later at "Smile and Forget," sung by Olga Steck and immediately going higher, much higher for "That Samson and Delilah Melody," a travesty, done with spirit, by Mr. Hendricks, Miss Steck and the chorus. "Dance Me, Darling, Dance Me," introduces Mr. O'Neil and Alice Cavanaugh as a comedy team, and serves to keep the line from following a perpendicular path downward. As it is, it's well done by the end of the second act.

It comes up again, however, soon after the opening of the second act, when a brief interlude borrowed from the Chauve Souris idea is presented, but it runs along on a noticeably low level until the "Foolishment" skit comes along. It reaches its musical peak probably in "Lover's Lane With You," sung by Miss Steck and Mr. Kirkbride near the end of the performance.

"Sue Dear" boasts a story, but it really doesn't matter. It is a vehicle for its teams, Miss Brown and Mr. Holland, Mr. Kirkbride and Miss Steck, Mr. O'Neil and Miss Cavanaugh, with Mr. Hendricks floating about and Madeline Grey frequently present with never much to do. The production is in two modest scenes, with a small chorus not elaborately, but for the most part becomingly, costumed. Frank H. Grey, the author of the music, seems to have given it more reason for being than any one else. The dances, too, have been well arranged and are agreeably executed.

FRANK REICHER ENGAGED.

Leaves Theatre Guild to Be Producing Director for the Selwyns.

Frank Reicher, hitherto identified with the Theatre Guild in its subscription seasons of artistic productions, has just signed a long-term contract as producing director with the Selwyns. Mr. Reicher will first direct for them the new play in which Jane Cowl will star in September, and later he will stage Pollock's "The Fool," with Richard Bennett, and Martin Brown's "The Exciters," in which Allan Dinehart appears.

Reicher also is to assist in transferring "Die Wunderlichen Geschichten des Kapellmeisters Kreisler" from Berlin to New York, the piece going into rehearsal here as "The Mysterious Affair." From England comes Edward Percy's "If Four Walls Told," and from the French, Maurice Magre's "Harlequin," done into English by Louis N. Parker. Edgar Selwyn is now seeking in Europe suitable plays for Florence Reed and Olga Petrova.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Maria Bazzi, an Italian actress, heads the cast of "The Inevitable," produced last evening at the Main Street Theatre in Asbury Park. Alphons Ethier, Leslie Austen, Paul Doucet, Helen Bolton, Camilla Dallerup and Grace Leslie are others in the piece, which is due on Broadway in the Fall.

"The Harlem Revue" and "The Bronx Follies," which opened respectively, at Moss's Regent and Franklin Theatres yesterday, are new departures in enlisting local talent. Eight girls, chosen by judges for their beauty, make debuts in each show before audiences of their home neighbors.

Gilbert Miller has cabled from London that Ina Claire will appear here in Arthur Richman's comedy, "The Awful Truth," at Henry Miller's Theatre, Sept. 20, with Bruce McRae.

The cast of "The Goldfish," now at the Astor, will see "Spice of 1922" at the Winter Garden this afternoon. Tomorrow the "Spice of 1922" players will be guests of "The Goldfish."

Thirty-seven of Columbia University's Summer school students from the Rocky Mountain States attended last night's performance of "Good Morning Dearie" at the Globe.

Captain Jorge Campos Urquiza, with Lieutenant McLean and officers of the Argentine cruiser President Sarmiento, attended the Music Box Revue last night as guests of Sam H. Harris and Irving Berlin. The United States Navy was represented by Captain Theodore Voeglesang, commandant of the Third Naval District, and Mrs. Voeglesang.

MOVE TO END MINE STRIKE

which will require extended time to work out. I have said heretofore that the Government prefers you who are parties to the dispute should settle it among yourselves, because you best understand all the problems involved. The Government cannot settle it for you. It will force no man to work against his free will, it will force no man to employ men against the free exercise of an employer's rights. The Government will not be partisan, but the Government is concerned with coal production sufficient to meet the industrial and transportation requirements of the country and to safeguard against a fuel famine when Winter comes again, and it is desired to have production resumed at once.

Your Government does desire to be helpful. With such a thought, therefore, I submit to you the following proposal:

Mine workers are to return to work on the scale of wages which expired last March 31, and there will be no cause of strike or suspended operation to resume activities, without interference with activities of mines now working, the 1922 scale to be effective until Aug. 10, 1922.

A coal commission to be created at once, consisting of three members selected by the mine workers, three members selected by the mine operators and five members to be named by the President. All decisions by this committee shall be acceptable as final.

This commission to determine, if possible, within thirty days from today for the miners on strike a temporary basic wage scale, which scale shall be effective until March 1, 1923. In event that the commission is unable to report its scale by Aug. 10, it shall have power to direct continued work on the 1922 scale until a superseding scale is ready.

The commission shall investigate exhaustively every phase of the coal industry. It shall reveal every cost of production and transportation. The President will ask Congress to confer authority for the most thorough investigation and make appropriations necessary to do such work. The commission shall make recommendations looking to the establishment and maintenance of industrial peace in the coal industry, the elimination of waste due to intermittency and instability, and suggest plans for dependable fuel supply.

I have taken this short cut to a resumption of operations because I believe it to be in the interest of the public welfare. It is that simple form of adjusting disputes which answers the call of good conscience and a just civilization. When two great forces do not agree, there must be a peaceful way to adjustment and such an arbitration opens the way.

I do not expect reply without due consideration. Please take the proposal to separate conferences. I wish you to appraise the situation, weigh your responsibilities and then answer this proposal as you wish to be appraised by American public opinion.

I am speaking first of all for the public interest, but I am likewise mindful of the rights of both workers and operators. You are also an inseparable part of that public interest. With due regard for all concerned it ought to be easy to find a way to resume activities and command the approval of the American public.

Operators to Reply Wednesday.

Operators of the anthracite coal fields were in conference with the President after the proposal was made. It was said that they were of the opinion that there was no reason for the proposed investigation and reorganization being extended to the anthracite industry. They are reported to have told the President they would reply to his proposal on Wednesday. But they refused to discuss the situation for publication.

Mr. Lewis of the Mine Workers appeared to be in a more pleasant frame of mind than any of the leading figures among the operators after the President's proposal had been made. He met with other representatives of the union during the afternoon, and then, with several union officials, was in conference with the President.

The first offer made by Mr. Lewis was to convene the Policy Committee here on Monday, July 17. To this the President objected, expressing the hope, it is said, that the whole controversy might be ended and mining of coal resumed the day after conclusion with the other leaders of the miners. Mr. Lewis expressed the belief that most of the members of the Policy Committee could reach here by Saturday. The President then agreed to this delay when Mr. Lewis assured him that action by the Policy Committee was essential.

While no inkling of what he believed would be the outcome of the proposal was given by Mr. Lewis, it became evident that many of the leaders of the Mine Workers felt that the proposal was favorable to their cause and that ultimately it would be accepted by the miners with, perhaps, certain conditions.

Prominent among these conditions, it was said, would be a demand that any revision of the old wage scale should be based upon a thorough investigation of the facts, which could not possibly be accomplished by Aug. 10. In fact, it is the contention of the miners that no just revision can be made of wages until the commission has completed its investigation of "every phase of the coal industry" necessary to formulation of a plan for reorganization.

Mine Workers Pleased.

If the desires of the miners in this direction are met so that they are assured there will be no hasty slashing of wages, it would appear certain that the Policy Committee will accept the President's proposal and agree that the strikers be directed to return to work without further delay. The President's proposal is very satisfying to the United Mine Workers of America in that it provides for arbitration on a national basis and for an investigation of the evils which, they have asserted, exist in the industry.

The only statement by the miners was contained in the declaration laid before President Harding.

The statement made by the mine workers to the President read:

The several representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, assembled in this city pursuant to your invitation of July 1, have considered the contents of your statement of this date addressed jointly to the operators and the mine union representatives of the anthracite and bituminous coal fields affected by the present strike situation.

We have heretofore pointed out and again desire to emphasize that the representatives of the United Mine Workers present are without the authority to render judgment upon your several suggestions and are in no manner authorized to bind the United Mine Workers of America with respect to your recommendations.

In consideration of this fact we have determined to assemble the Policy Committee of the United Mine Workers, including the District Scale Committees, in charge of joint negotiations in the anthracite coal fields and to submit for the consideration of these authoritative representatives the plan as outlined and presented by you.

This meeting will take place in Washington Saturday, July 15, at 10 A. M., and as promptly thereafter as may be possible we will duly inform you of our decision in the premises.

President Ogle of the National Coal Association acted as spokesman for the operators of the bituminous coal fields. Following the proposal by the President there was a meeting of the operators at the Washington Hotel, and a statement was issued to the effect that the operators on July 3 had proposed arbitration by regions, and had thought that by doing so they were meeting the desires of the President and Secretaries Hoover and Davis for a speedy termination of the coal strike. This announcement by Mr. Ogle was pretty generally accepted as evidence of keen disappointment on the part of the operators, because the President's proposal called for arbitration on a national basis. But it was not interpreted as meaning that the operators would refuse the President's offer.

Statement of the Operators.

The statement of Chairman Ogle of the operators' group at the bituminous conference read:

The bituminous coal operators will give the President's proposal the fullest and most careful consideration.

The operators at the conference here had already offered a complete plan of arbitration at the hands of the President. Operators from the bituminous fields not now producing coal had already made every effort to cooperate with the spirit of the President's appeal as made by him on the first day of the conference.

We proposed that a committee of operators and miners should be charged with the grouping of districts where possible and mutually agreeable; that a board of arbitration be set up by the President in each district or group of districts, and to insure a speedy resumption of work, that these boards should report on or before Aug. 1, 1922, and, furthermore, that a board be appointed by the President to study the fundamental problems of the bituminous coal industry and to make recommendations to the President for their solution.

We felt that our proposal offered the speediest solution of the whole question.

Since our reception here by the President, we have held five meetings with the miners' officers and have caucused many times ourselves in an earnest effort to find a way to establish a basis for conferences for the purpose of making wage and working agreements. The offer which we made and which was summarily rejected is evidence enough that our attitude has not been inflexible and that we have not been unmindful of the fact that the welfare of the nation demands that the mines be opened at the earliest possible date.

A copy of the proposal made to the meeting on July 3 by the operators was attached to Mr. Ogle's statement. It follows:

Pursuant to the call of the President of the United States and in order to bring about a speedy termination of the strike now in progress in the bituminous coal fields the operators offer the following motion and move its adoption:

First—That the negotiation of wage scale contracts in all of the scale-making districts here represented be referred to the miners and operators in each scale-making district for settlement.

Second—In accordance with the suggestions of Secretaries Hoover and Davis, this conference shall appoint a committee of six miners and six operators, which committee shall consider the practicability of grouping scale-making districts where possible and mutually agreeable to the miners and operators in the districts affected to reduce the work of scale making.

Third—In order that there may be a speedy resumption of work and no unnecessary delay in reaching agreements, a board of arbitration shall be established in each scale-making district or group of districts to which board shall be referred all points of disagreement. The findings of the majority of each board of arbitration shall be final and binding upon both the miners and operators of the scale-making district affected.

Fourth—The President of the United States is requested to appoint a board of arbitration in each scale-making district. Each board of arbitration shall consist of three disinterested members, none of whom shall be miners or operators nor in any way connected with the bituminous coal industry.

Fifth—In accordance with the suggestion of President Harding, a board shall be appointed by him whose duty it shall be to study the fundamental problems of the entire bituminous coal industry and make recommendations to the President for their solution.

Sixth—Negotiations shall proceed in all scale-making districts at once in order that the public may be supplied with coal and any disputed points remaining unsettled by the 15th of July, 1922, shall be referred to the boards of arbitration as established by the President in each scale-making district. Upon questions so submitted to arbitration, the boards of arbitration shall report on or before the 1st of August, 1922.

Seventh—The legality of this plan of settlement shall be approved by the Attorney General of the United States before it becomes operative. Legal questions raised by the miners or operators under this plan shall likewise be determined by the same authority.

Mr. Ogle discussed the situation with the newspaper correspondents late this afternoon, but said that he could not forecast action the operators might take in regard to the President's proposal. He was not sure just when a reply would be made, but probably it will be three or four days, and possibly not before Saturday.

Point to Their Proposal.

Mr. Ogle stressed the point that the operators believed their proposal of July 3 met every suggestion which had been made by the President and Secretaries Hoover and Davis. He wanted it known that the operators felt that they had made every effort to propose a plan which was just and promised the most satisfactory solution. They even had included, he pointed out, the proposal for an investigation of the industry. Their action in giving ground on so many points at that time, he said, was intended to help expedite a settlement. It would have been impracticable, he said, to have hoped for a speedy settlement by voluntary action of miners and operators if it was carried out on the national basis. The operators in making their proposal, he said, "went all the way." The miners declined to consider the proposal and offered no alternative except the old central competitive field plan.

The paragraph in the statement made by the miners to the President, in which they said that the officials on the field were without authority to speak for all of the miners and that the Policy Committee would have to be called together, brought a sharp retort from Mr. Ogle.

"If that was so," he asserted, "why have we been meeting here? If they had no authority to reach a decision, what have we been here for? Have we simply been wasting time?"

The representatives of the operators, Mr. Ogle said, were fully authorized to speak for all of the operators and would do so as soon as they were able to give full consideration to the proposals made by the President.

A spokesman for the United Mine Workers said that Mr. Lewis had made it known to President Harding and the other officials, when the informal meetings were begun here, that final decision would have to come from the Policy Committee, and resented the implication by operators that any deceit had been practiced. He also asserted that Mr. Ogle and the other operators who had entered the informal meetings of last week did not represent all of the operators and that there was no representation for mines, including those in the non-union districts, which provided a tonnage of 200,000,000 tons annually.

The United Mine Workers also made it known that they accepted the proposal by the President as a victory for their contention that the problem of establishing a new wage scale must be approached on a national basis as opposed to the district or regional basis demanded by the operators.

Expect Peace in Ten Days.

The day's developments came with a rapidity which surprised both operators and miners. They had arranged to hold informal meetings, and scarcely were in session when summoned to appear before the President to hear the Government's proposal. The operators of the anthracite coal fields, it is said, had not expected to be brought into the general conference, or to be brought under the terms of a proposal which would suggest a general investigation and reorganization of the coal industry. They first found that out when called to the White House.

One official of the Administration, after viewing the activities of the day, ventured the remark that there had been "a number of explosions" during the day. He smiled and said that he felt progress toward a solution of the strike was being made.

The anthracite operators refused to discuss their part in the day's developments, and after their conference with the President in the afternoon walked out of the White House without a word to the correspondents. Later they went to the Washington Hotel to confer with Mr. Ogle, the spokesman for the operators of the bituminous coal fields.

It was generally conceded that the investigation of the industry as proposed by President Harding in his statement would be a thorough one. Secretary Hoover has been fighting for such an intervention since he assumed his office. He has taken the position that where miners and operators were at swords points every few years and were continuously threatening the nation with a coal famine, a situation was created where the Government ought to get at the roots of the trouble and reorganize the industry.

A commission vested with full authority by Congress will be able to do this and get at the facts in regard to production and transportation costs, overdevelopment and overcapitalization. It was noted with interest today that the commission proposed by the President would have five representatives of the public, as opposed to three representatives each for the miners and operators.

The feeling tonight was that the proposal made by the President will bring about a termination of the strike within the next ten days. There were some who believed that changes might be made before the proposal was accepted in final form, but it is believed that the basic principles as set down will remain. Should the effort of the Administration be met with failure, the Government probably would be forced to take over the mines. There was little of such talk heard here tonight, however.

Corns?

Blue-jay

to your druggist

Stops Pain Quickly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch relieves the pain and the corn soon disappears. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

ROCKAWAY AIR BASE TO GO, NAVY DECIDES

LEAVES CITY UNPROTECTED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The navy has definitely decided to abandon the Rockaway Naval Air Station. Though the position is regarded as vital for the protection of New York and its environs from hostile attack, it is to be abolished almost immediately.

This decision has been reached by the department most reluctantly and only because New York City has insisted upon the return of the tract and has turned down the request of the Government that it cede a portion of Jacob Riis Park as a permanent site for the aviation base.

In announcing today that the station is to go, Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt said that since the Sinking Fund Commission of New York stands pat on its demand for the relinquishment of the property as soon as possible after July 1, the Navy Department has no other alternative but to abandon the Long Island base.

Orders have been issued to the commandant of the Third Naval District to make a survey of material and equipment on which plans for evacuating the station will be founded. When it is gone, the nearest naval air stations to New York City will be those at Chatham on the Massachusetts coast and at Lakehurst, N. J.

The status of the Rockaway base has been under consideration for nearly a year. During that period Acting Secretary Roosevelt has written more than forty letters to interested persons in and around New York, stating the attitude of the Navy Department. In all these letters he has emphasized that the Navy Department is in thorough sympathy with those who want to preserve Jacob Riis Park as a playground for children. He has insisted, however, that New York City should not be left without adequate naval air protection. While recreation grounds are valuable, Mr. Roosevelt says that national protection as well as the proper protection of New York City in time of war are of far greater importance.

Mr. Roosevelt today made public a letter he sent on June 15, 1921, to R. G. Wagner of 50 Pine Street, New York City, who had written to him enclosing a petition asking that every effort be made to preserve Jacob Riis Park as a public park of the City of New York. The attitude of the Navy Department was fully set forth in his reply to Mr. Wagner, which expressed full sympathy with the wish to preserve the park for children, explained that the navy wanted only part of the park and showed in detail that none of a number of other suggested sites was suitable.

LAWYERS MORTGAGE CO.

DURING the past six months the sales of Guaranteed Mortgages, $62,635,754; the Gross Earnings, $1,013,441, and the Net Profits, $552,644, of the Company have been larger than in any similar preceding period. The fall in the rate of interest and the unparalleled safety of Guaranteed Mortgages have brought our securities into very great demand.

The eager market for mortgages and the notion that there is a magic in the word "mortgage" which makes all of them safe, have recently led to a new development in the field of mortgage securities, which perhaps calls for a word of caution. These new securities are often issued and called First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds but are not guaranteed by the companies which put them out. The locations selected are usually prominent corners in well established districts and the buildings are large new fireproof structures, hotels, office buildings, or apartment houses. The owner of these buildings is usually required to deposit monthly one-twelfth of the annual charge for interest, taxes and amortization payments. These bonds look attractive until the investor pauses to inquire what these properties cost for land and building, what is their present value and what is their probable future value. The prospectus of these bonds is usually discreetly silent on these points, and the average investor is entirely unable to appraise the value of the land and building securing these bonds. It is safe to say that if these bond issues were restricted to the usual two-thirds of the valuations of well known appraisers in New York City, none of them would be made. The plain truth is that these issues are excessive in amount, running up to 80%, 90% or 100% of the cost of the properties; excessive in the rate of interest promised on the bonds, 6%, 6½% or 7%, and excessive in the fees paid to the issuing companies, which run from 10% to 15%. If the prospectus of these bonds should clearly state to the investor that his money constitutes practically all of the money going into the enterprise, and if the investor understood that of each $1,000 bond about $660 represented the normal mortgage loan and $340 represented the equity or stock in the building, the transaction would be thoroughly understood and the investor could take his own chances. The experience of many years shows that under continual competition New York City real estate does not earn high rates of interest, especially on abnormally high cost of building. Hence, unless these large properties maintain their present high rentals—which is most improbable—the outcome is quite clear. Some day, the bond holders will foreclose various issues of these mortgage bonds, since there is no guarantee to protect them, and will suffer a loss from the shrinkage of their bonds in proportion to the lower rate of interest earned by these buildings. The moral for the investor is clear: Do not furnish practically all the money for new buildings, but stick to the usual two-thirds loan—the legal limit for trustees—and deal only with responsible companies which guarantee the mortgages which they offer you and whose unqualified guarantee has stood the test of time.

Cool as an off-water breeze

The difference between wearing a woolen suit and a Palm Beach Suit is the difference between a hot city street and the beach.

The first purpose of a Palm Beach Suit is to keep the wearer cool. Body heat escapes because of the nature of the cloth. The breezes blow through it.

But coolness isn't all. There's long wear and there are as many colors, patterns, and designs—as much choice—as you have in woolens. Palm Beach Suits are light-weight, but the color may be light, medium, or dark as you prefer. As for style and fit, they depend on where you buy Palm Beach Suits and who tailors them—as the style and fit of all suits do.

THE HAGUE, July 10.—The British desire to exhaust every possibility of reaching an agreement with the Russians and, failing that, to place the blame where it belongs, prevented a decision today to end The Hague conference because of the attitude of the Soviet delegates.

At a meeting of the Private Property Commission without the Russians the situation was discussed this afternoon. Two ideas were in evidence. One, led by the French and the Belgians, was that the Bolshevist delegates, by their refusal to meet the powers' conditions, had made a continuance of the conference useless. The other, led by the French and the Italians, favored continuing to argue with the Russians in order that even if the conference eventually failed a full exposition of the reasons could be given.

It was decided to continue for a while, and tomorrow a new set of questions will be drafted for the Russians on the subject of private property. As at Genoa, private property is the key to the issue here, because on the Soviets' attitude toward property rights depends the future of business undertakings in Russia under their régime. As at Genoa, the Soviet delegates refuse to hand back nationalized private property unless they get enormous credits, which no country, even if able, wishes to undertake.

Same Old Situation Repeated.

The situation was beautifully illustrated by a three-hours' meeting of the Credits Commission today. The Russians presented to the powers a list of questions asking who was going to give them credits, and the powers presented the Russians with a series of questions asking what they intended doing with the 3,000,000,000 gold rubles they demand. Thus the meeting traveled the same circle the delegates have been tracing since the conference opened. The powers said they could not state who would give credits or how much until the Russians had satisfied the conditions. The Russians said they would not satisfy the conditions until assured of credits. And there you are or there you are not.

Although the long discussion brought no definite results, the delegates agree that Krassin made an excellent impression by his knowledge of the economic situation, which was refreshing after more than two weeks of Litvinoff's blustering. However, Krassin's final declaration that without credits in large amounts direct to the Soviet Government the Russians would make no agreement about ruined the good effect of his exposition.

He further weakened the Russian case by stating that up to the time foreign manufactured goods were ready to be shipped out of Russia and for ten days thereafter the Russian State reserved the right to take them over at cost. There seems always to be some such nigger in the woodpile of all Soviet proposals.

Krassin Answers Questions.

Krassin was asked by Baron Avennaze, Chairman of the commission, to explain his plans for use of the credits demanded for transport and agriculture.

He replied that the Soviets wished to restore to good condition 15,000 verats of railroad trunk lines, which would bring the Russian railroad machine up to 50 per cent. pre-war capacity. To do this the Soviets required locomotives, rails, bridges, signals, telephones, repair shops, steel and about everything else needed to build a railroad. With the credits asked they intended to buy these materials.

As for river transports, the Soviets wished to use credits to buy boats and repair those existing. In addition they sought to establish an auto truck service from the railroad stations to the farming districts. Moscow, he said, was anxious to attract foreign concessions for maritime transport as well as river transport. He declared that the Soviets were not disposed to grant concessions for operating the existing railroads, but would be glad to grant concessions for building new lines.

Krassin's agriculture plans would have made our farm bloc blush. He wanted money for raising blooded cattle, for irrigation, drainage, excavations, bridges, development, seed, farming machinery, tractors, fertilizers, insecticides, grain elevators and refrigerator cars, American style, as well as cold storage plants.

"We are ready to give farming concessions amounting to 4,000,000 verats (9,880,000 acres)," he said. "Already we have been in negotiation with foreign concessionaires and have three or four agreements practically concluded; one of 100,000 hectares. This land is very fertile and near the coast."

Asked what foreign trade regulations were intended, Krassin replied that the Soviets were not ready to permit free trade with foreign countries, but would insist on a "regularized system under State monopoly." That did not mean Russian foreign trade would always be a monopoly, but those were the present plans. The mixed companies the Soviets would form under the Moscow plans would be assisted in their foreign trade by the Bolsheviki. Profits up to 30 or 40 per cent. would be divided evenly. If the profits ran to 100 per cent. the Soviets would take more, and if they reached 200 or 300 per cent. the Soviets would take still more to protect the Russians from undue exploitation.

M. Chevilly, France, said that French capitalists wanted very detailed statements as to what use the money would be put under each heading and what guarantees would be given. He said that formerly French investors in Russian railroads got a first mortgage on the property in the form of a State guarantee. He asked the Soviets to state if they were prepared to give as much. An answer was promised later.

Litvinoff then presented Russian questions which were frank enough, the first one asking what Governments were ready and able to give credits to the Soviet Government, and in what amounts. The second wanted to know whether the loan would be direct to the Soviet Government or an arrangement to pay suppliers to the Soviet Government.

A third question asked about the duration and terms. Then there were six questions addressed directly to the British Government relative to extension of Russian trade and of the British overseas trade fund.

The effect of more than half the questions being directed to England, so as to differentiate between that Government and others, may be imagined.

Avennaze said the Russian questions could not be answered until the discussions had gone further—that is, until the Russians had met the debt and private property conditions.

As to a French question as to the credits asked, demanded would be guaranteed by mixed companies, Krassin replied that the $3,000,000,000 rubles were solely and exclusively for the use of the Moscow Government.

PARIS, July 10.—The action of the French delegates at The Hague in trying to limit the interminable debating powers of Litvinoff and Krassin is not, it is stated authoritatively here, the result of any special instructions from the French Government but simply the putting into operation by the delegates themselves of general instructions which were given them when they went on their mission.

By its representation at The Hague for a whole month the French Government considers that it has done enough to prove its real desire to find some way of meeting the Russian situation. But it considers that any further discussion along the lines that have been followed by the Russian delegates is useless and serves only to prove that no solution can be found while the present masters of Russia remain in power and try to conduct business in the manner of Litvinoff and Krassin.

SAYS POWERS ARE UNITED.

Belgian Delegate Denies Hague Rumors of Separate Deals.

Copyright, 1922, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, July 10.—However the rumors which have been circulating during the last forty-eight hours in conference circles relating to separate agreements between Russia and England may have originated, every one is now ready to deny them, and one result has been to draw all the delegations closer together. Another is that silence has been agreed upon and the adoption of a more reserved attitude toward the press in general. Generally speaking, however, more optimism is noticeable among the French and Belgian delegations.

M. Cattier, head of the Belgian delegation, made the following statement this afternoon:

"As far as I am concerned, I am convinced that all the rumors regarding separate agreements have not the slightest foundation, and that all the powers here represented work very loyally together, keeping each other informed of all that happens, and that so far our unity of front is perfect. We had a meeting of the First Commission this afternoon, and we all agreed on the course to be pursued in the negotiations with the Russians."

Questioned as to the duration of the conference and the many reports circulating that the conference may break up any day, M. Cattier replied:

"We are approaching the crucial point. The conference may last ten days or several months. No one can tell, although the next few days must give an indication. The line to be followed by every one is the maintenance of our unity of front up to the end, in order that we may succeed or fail together."

As a consequence of the Russian delegate Sokolnikoff's recent propaganda in the form of an optimistic statement to the press regarding the state of the negotiations, Van Dutch Secretary of the Nansen Committee for Relief in Russia addressed the latter asking detailed information, as the people of Holland feel that it was no longer necessary to continue donations. Litvinoff has replied, saying that the representatives of all the relief societies working in Russia have been asked to meet in Berlin on July 9, when these questions will be discussed.

Litvinoff supports Sokolnikoff's statements, which he says are based on official figures, and, moreover, are upheld by recent information reaching the Russian delegation. The reports about the famine in Ukraine received by the Nansen committee cannot, he says, be of recent date.

While endeavoring to support Sokolnikoff's propaganda, however, Litvinoff evidently feels that the optimistic note has been carried somewhat too far, for he endeavors to make a further appeal for help by pointing out that the effects of the coming harvest cannot possibly be felt in many districts for months to come, so that "there is still an enormous field for humanitarian work, and it is to be hoped help will not be slackened."

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 10.—Uncle John Shell, who had claimed to be 134 years old and who was said to be the oldest man in the world, died last week at his home near Hyden, Leslie County, according to reports received here today. Two of his sons, William Shell, aged 90, and Albert Shell, aged 7, were mourners at his grave, according to the reports.

Uncle John, it was said, retained his faculties up to the last and discussed the funeral arrangements with his relatives while he was dying. He had always maintained that he was born in Tennessee in 1788, the son of Samuel Shell, a gun maker, and that he had lived in the little cabin on Greasy Creek, in which he died, for more than 100 years.

Up until the time he was "discovered" about four years ago, "Uncle John" had led a secluded life in the mountain country, but since then he had traveled considerably.

He was examined by a number of physicians in the past few years, who were skeptical of his claims about his age. While some of them discounted his story by a score or more years, nearly all agreed that he must have been more than 100 years old. His neighbors were convinced he was as old as he said.

The chief proof on which Uncle John based his claims was a paper dated 1809, showing that John Shell had paid his taxes to the Sheriff of Clay County. The old man argued that he must have been at least 21 years old before he began paying taxes.

Uncle John was twice married. His first wife died shortly after he passed the century mark. A few years later he married again, and his youngest son, Albert, is by his second wife.

Uncle John, at the time of his last appearance in the lowlands, weighed 130 pounds, was 5 feet 5 inches tall. He never wore shoes much and chewed tobacco inveterately. He grew three sets of teeth during his lifetime, he said.

THE HAGUE, July 10.—According to the Dutch press, Dr. J. C. A. Everwijn, Dutch Minister at Washington, has asked to be recalled for reasons of a personal nature.

Steals When Drunk, Can't Keep Sober; Gets 10 Years in Prison

"You say that you steal whenever you are drunk and that you cannot keep sober," said Judge Burt J. Humphrey to Frank Krauss, 41 years old, of 205 East Forty-fifth Street, who was before him for sentence yesterday. "I always do all that I can to encourage sobriety and so I am going to assist you by making it hard for you to get drunk. I will sentence you to Sing Sing for ten years. That may take the edge off of your appetite."

"You're some temperance man, I'll say," said Krauss as he was led away. "Wonder if all the hooch will be gone when I get out." Krauss was found guilty of stealing a phonograph from the home of Mrs. Mary Patrowski of 1542 New Haven Avenue, Far Rockaway.

Judge Humphrey also imposed a fine of $250 on a negress charged with selling liquor in Jamaica and $50 each on five men found guilty of having whiskey.

FOOD TAX INVOLVES FUTURE OF SOVIET

Coming Levy on Peasants Is Expected to Test Feeling Toward Present Regime.

ORDERS URGE MODERATION

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, July 9.—"The way in which the food tax is collected from the peasants during the next three months will be a test by which Russia's future may be decided. If the Government manages to collect the tax fully, but without extortion in any quarter or serious disturbance, it will mean that the Soviet régime is genuinely established on a basis of popular support."

This statement was made to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent by a foreigner of twenty years' experience in Russia, who stressed the vital importance of the agricultural situation in this first year of peace since the revolution.

"If the peasants get a fair deal," he concluded, "the future of Russia is assured, but if the urgent need of money induces the Government to try to enrich itself at the peasants' expense I predict that the temporary advantage thus gained will lead to disaster in the long run."

It is already evident that the harvest will be exceptionally good in relation to the area planted. The first reports of the crop of Winter rye being harvested in the south show an unusually heavy yield per acre.

What, then, are the intentions of the Government? The question was answered today by a circular letter addressed by Stahlin, Lenin's right-hand man, a member of the inner council of five and Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, to the communist organizations in towns and villages throughout Russia. After emphasizing the importance at the present juncture of fully collecting the food tax—which varies according to the number of dependents, &c., from 5 to 15 per cent. of the total crop—Stahlin orders the Communists to pay the utmost attention to the following points:

Co-operate in the collection of the tax in every possible way; avoid the abuses, corruption, &c., that crept in in previous years; see that no one pays too much, no one too little, and that on the whole the tax is honestly collected; avoid the use of force unless it is clear that there is a deliberate attempt to evade collection; then use force adequately, rapidly and mercifully; keep in touch with the central organizations and send frequent reports of progress for the preparation of statistics to help in the general plan.

In point of fact, the Communists would discuss political parties not the slightest foundation, and that all the powers here represented work very loyally together, keeping each other informed of all that happens, and that so far our unity of front is perfect. We had a meeting of the First Commission this afternoon, and we all agreed on the course to be pursued in the negotiations with the Russians."

Questioned as to the duration of the conference and the many reports circulating that the conference may break up any day, M. Cattier replied:

"We are approaching the crucial point. The conference may last ten days or several months. No one can tell, although the next few days must give an indication. The line to be followed by every one is the maintenance of our unity of front up to the end, in order that we may succeed or fail together."

As a consequence of the Russian delegate Sokolnikoff's recent propaganda in the form of an optimistic statement to the press regarding the state of the negotiations, Van Dutch Secretary of the Nansen Committee for Relief in Russia addressed the latter asking detailed information, as the people of Holland feel that it was no longer necessary to continue donations. Litvinoff has replied, saying that the representatives of all the relief societies working in Russia have been asked to meet in Berlin on July 9, when these questions will be discussed.

Litvinoff supports Sokolnikoff's statements, which he says are based on official figures, and, moreover, are upheld by recent information reaching the Russian delegation. The reports about the famine in Ukraine received by the Nansen committee cannot, he says, be of recent date.

While endeavoring to support Sokolnikoff's propaganda, however, Litvinoff evidently feels that the optimistic note has been carried somewhat too far, for he endeavors to make a further appeal for help by pointing out that the effects of the coming harvest cannot possibly be felt in many districts for months to come, so that "there is still an enormous field for humanitarian work, and it is to be hoped help will not be slackened."

Chicago Hears Parents Want Miss Angell to Forget Latest Romance.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Miss Dellora Angell, 20-year-old heiress to the $38,000,000 estate of John W. Gates, is aboard an ocean liner on her way to Europe. She is chaperoned by her father, Robert F. Angell, and her stepmother.

Friends say a three months tour of the Continent is planned to let the young heiress forget her latest romance with Lester Norris, son of Cal Norris, Lake Forest furniture dealer and undertaker. Young Norris, who is 21 years old, is a commercial artist and illustrator, with an office in Batavia.

He and Miss Angell were schoolmates and recently they have been motoring over the winding Lake Forest roads. Then suddenly Miss Angell's trunks were packed for a European tour. But before the departure the two were seen once again on the North Shore roads. The Angells sailed July 4.

The boy's father denied today that there is any engagement and said his son was very much embarrassed by the linking of his name with that of Miss Angell.

K. of C. War Fund Percentage 17.60.

In an account published in THE TIMES on July 2 concerning the accounting suit filed in the Supreme Court by the United War Work Campaign, Inc., for the drive in the week of Nov. 11, 1918, it was stated that the budget of the Knights of Columbus called for $30,000,000, or 17.60 per cent. of the total of $170,500,000. The correct percentage was 17.60, the mistake being due to a typographical error.

Exonerated of Crime, Father Seeks Publicity To Regain His Good Name for Sake of Son

George H. McCullough, a taxicab driver, who lives at 307 West 111th Street, yesterday asked THE NEW YORK TIMES to give him back his good name through publicity. McCullough has a boy who is growing up and he doesn't want "any reflections cast upon him as he grows into manhood." He doesn't want the neighbors to make the lad ashamed of his father.

McCullough once figured in a big piece of news, an attack by robbers on the East Brooklyn Savings Bank in which two men were killed. Gordon Fawcett Hamby since has expiated that crime in the electric chair. McCullough, doing his duty as a good citizen, helped to send him there. It was McCullough who drove the taxicab in which Hamby and his confederates went to Brooklyn. The driver was one of the first persons arrested. He was indicted of first degree murder. It was an important story at the time and much was printed about it.

Then subsequent investigation showed that McCullough was absolutely innocent. He didn't know his fares or their criminal intent. Harry E. Lewis, then District Attorney of Kings County and now a Supreme Court Justice, exonerated McCullough, and on Nov. 26, 1919, appeared before Judge Mitchell May in the Kings County Court and had the indictment dismissed.

The crime had been committed on Dec. 13, 1918, public interest in the case was exhausted, and so it happened that nothing was printed about McCullough's exoneration. McCullough thought his neighbors would know it, anyway, and that everything would be all right, but it wasn't.

"I have unfortunately delayed calling this to your attention," says McCullough's letter to THE TIMES, "because I did not think people were so prone to gossip and scorn. But the situation has become so intolerable to my family that I plead with you to assist me in this matter."

Investigation After Theft Discloses That Two Were Killed by Poisoned Tea.

PARIS, July 10.—Light on the extent of the ramifications of Soviet organizations throughout Europe and the audacity with which their agents carry on their work has been discovered by the Paris police, who have found traces of the spy bureau of a secret council which, according to Russian Nihilist traditions, condemns to death and executes any of its members who disobey the instructions received.

Ex-Premier Kerensky, who still plays an active part in Russian politics among the exiled Russian colony here, recently discovered that one of his secretaries, an officer in the Russian army, had been abstracting a number of important documents. Suspecting from the nature of the stolen documents that the theft could only have been prompted by a desire to serve Bolshevist interests, Kerensky, after a stormy interview, dismissed his secretary, at the same time reporting him to the French police.

The police at once made a search of the ex-officer's lodging, and of the Latin Quarter room of a young Russian girl student at the Sorbonne, who was his friend and associate. It was here that evidence was discovered of the recent execution of two Bolshevist spies, who failed to carry out instructions from the Central Council.

The victims, who were condemned to die at a secret court-martial, were requested to visit a Soviet agent. Received with attentive hospitality, they were invited to take tea from a steaming samovar. Various matters were discussed, the men again being charged with a mission, this time imaginary. Returning home both died the same evening, the tea having contained a deadly slow poison.

When the bodies were discovered by the landlord a letter was found announcing their intention to commit suicide, which was a clever forgery, but at the time was accepted by the police as a bona fide. The affair would, therefore, have been quickly forgotten had not the facts come to light today.

Russian circles here are greatly perturbed, especially in view of the fact that the officer implicated in the theft of Kerensky's documents is the son of a well-known Russian General. The police have arrested him. It is known that the Soviet Paris detectives are now hot on the track of the members of the secret Soviet Council here and arrests are possible within the next few days.

MEXICAN GIRL AVENGES DEATH OF HER FATHER

Editor's 15-Year-Old Daughter Slays Deputy Who Killed Him Last May.

MEXICO CITY, July 10 (Associated Press).—Maria del Pilar Moreno, a 15-year-old girl, avenged this afternoon the death of her father, Jesus Z. Moreno, editor of El Heraldo de Mexico, who was shot and killed last May by Deputy Francisco Tejeda Llorca after a quarrel.

Maria waited before Tejeda Llorca's home, and as he stepped from the doorway fired four times at a few feet distance. All the bullets took effect and death was instantaneous.

The child, who since her father's death has been almost deranged by grief, calmly surrendered to the police. She expressed no regrets, saying she swore vengeance over her father's body, and, now that his death had been expiated, she was prepared to pay the penalty.

A sensation was caused in Mexico City by the killing of Editor Moreno by Deputy Tejeda Llorca, which took place at the entrance to the Interior Department Building. The motive for the killing was believed to have been the editor's attacks in the columns of his newspaper on what he called political evils.

Deputy Llorca was an uncle of Adalberto Tejeda, Governor of Vera Cruz, and it was said that his resentment was directed more against Moreno's criticism of the State Government at Vera Cruz than against any personal attacks.

MEXICO CITY PAPERS STILL ACCUSE BIELASKI

One Publication Says His Arrest Has Been Ordered, but He Is Still at Liberty.

MEXICO CITY, July 10.—There are further rumors of the impending arrest of A. Bruce Bielaski, former head of the Bureau of Investigation of the American Department of Justice, who recently was abducted by bandits and a few days later made his escape. Mr. Bielaski, however, was still at liberty last this afternoon.

One of the newspapers, El Universal Grafico, says this afternoon:

"Bielaski will sleep tonight in Belem Prison. It having been amply confirmed that Bielaski conspired in his own abduction, the judicial authorities have ordered his arrest."

Mr. Bielaski, at his hotel tonight, was ignorant of any arrest order. It is understood that a local judicial order, which has been issued, merely transfers Bielaski's deposition to the Cuernavaca court for revision.

TWO BROTHERS SURRENDER

Third Arrested in March and All Held for U. S. District Court—Raids at Resorts.

Morris Berney and his brother Paul, who say they are in the real estate business at 1,133 Broadway, surrendered to United States Commissioner S. M. Hitchcock yesterday on a complaint charging them with being the principals in a conspiracy to bribe a letter carrier to surrender a letter containing a permit for the withdrawal of 1,100 cases and twenty barrels of whisky.

According to Federal officials, Jacob Gluckow, a Forsyth Street restaurant keeper, offered a letter carrier named Gillen a sum of money for the surrender of a registered letter containing the permit. Morris Berney was at one time a prohibition agent. He was arrested March 21 with another agent named Furey on a charge of extorting money from saloonkeepers at Rochester. Furey was convicted, but the case against Berney was dismissed.

The Berneys were held in $500 bail each on a charge of violating the postal laws. Gluckow is under bail in connection with the alleged conspiracy.

Summonses to answer charges of violation of the dry law were served upon Herman Cohen, manager, and Ernest Petgna, waiter, in a restaurant at 239 East Eighty-sixth Street; John Leatse, manager; Andrew Dumba, waiter, and Martha Hoffman, waitress, in a café at 1,501 Second Avenue; Andrew Burgess, saloonkeeper, 1,055 First Avenue, and T. Decunto, saloonkeeper, 1,285 First Avenue.

Resorts at Long Beach, Centerport, Hempstead and other places on Long Island were visited by prohibition agents Sunday. At Long Beach Mrs. Lena Baufkirch and her bartender, Solomon Oring, of 72 Boulevard, and Mrs. Margaret Moriarity of Beach Street received a summons. At Centerport Archie Hall's roadhouse was visited and summons were left for Hall and Henry Serler, a waiter.

Wood alcohol poisoning is said by the police to be responsible for the production of Henry Bauer, 1,107 Fox Street, the Bronx, and Charles Syracuse, 1,307 Hoe Avenue, the Bronx, who were found unconscious at Westchester Avenue and Fox Street. Both are in a serious condition in Lincoln Hospital.

MOSCOW, July 10.—Forty medals cast from bullets dug from the walls of houses because gold, silver and bronze are lacking have been presented to F. C. Hiebert, Chairman of American Mennonite Relief for Russia, who is leaving for America today, by the villagers of Chortitza, in South Russia. On one side of the medal shows a man distributing bread to women and three children, teh other a steamer flying the American flag.

There are tewo inscriptions in German. "We were hungered and ye gave us meat," and "Thanks to the brethren beyond the ocean."

Hiebert, whose organization is distributing relief through the American Relief Association machinery, states that the Mennonite contributions to date total $500,000, not including 10,000 food packages sold through them in America and Europe for individual Russian beneficiaries.

AGED PAIR TO HOSPITAL.

Neighbors Ask Removal of Helpless Man and Demented Wife.

Henry De Breacque, 69, and his wife, Mollie, 68, were removed in an ambulance to Bellevue Hospital yesterday afternoon from their meagrely furnished apartment in the rear of the first floor of 118 West Fifteenth Street, where they had lived for three years. An ambulance surgeon said Mr. De Breacque was afflicted with senility and congestion of the lungs and that his wife was demented.

The two were married about fifty years ago. The husband for many years made a comfortable living as an interior decorator, working in the homes of many of the wealthiest residents of the city. Among these was Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentiss, who aided the couple financially when the aged man's health began to fail. The Knights of Columbus also contributed toward their support, but neighbors, realizing that the two needed constant medical attention, yesterday requested Policeman Brick of the Thirteenth Street Station to call an ambulance.

SLAIN MAN IS IDENTIFIED.

Police Say Genovie Admits Killing Two, Alleging Attempted Extortion.

The second of the two men killed in the midnight revolver fight on Sunday at 47 First Street was identified yesterday as Raffale J. Eulo, 32 years old, a tailor, of 311 Milburn Avenue, Kingsland, N. J. His dead companion, Frank Gallo, is said to have been a neighbor of Eulo at Kingsland. Captain Carey of the Homicide Bureau said that Carmelo Genovis, who is under arrest, had admitted slaying both men and insisted that it was the result of their attempt to extort money from him.

This motive for the shooting was not accepted by the police, and an investigation is being made of a reported gambling debt. Genovis was held without bail for examination on Friday.

Isaac N. Mills, attorney for Walter S. Ward, will make a final effort to free his client from the Westchester County Jail today, when he will apply to Supreme Court Justice A. F. H. Seeger at White Plains for a dismissal of the murder indictment. It was said that, if necessary, Mr. Mills might divulge at least part of the "secret" which the defense alleges supplied the self-defense motive for the slaying of a former sailor near Kensico on May 18.

ROCHESTER IS COOL TO HEARST CANVASS

HIS NEW PAPER LITTLE AID

Some Think It Was Started to Scare Publishers Elsewhere and Check Opposition.

ROCHESTER, July 10.—In the political retrospect of William R. Hearst the City of Rochester and the County of Monroe stand out as bright spots. When he ran for Governor against Hughes in 1906 he carried this city by a plurality of 660 votes. He came within 2,000 votes of carrying the county. Mr. Hearst did better here than he did in any other part of the State north of the Bronx.

In his second quest for the Governorship the promoters of his boom have not been able to build up any strength in Monroe to help him get the local delegation to the State convention. As far as the present Hearst boom is concerned, this city can be regarded as nothing more than a "prospect." And the prospect has not been improved by the establishment here of a Hearst publication after the editor-politician had failed in his attempt to buy one of the existing dailies.

Until the appearance of the Rochester Sunday American, which within two months is to become a daily, if the present plans are carried out, the outlook here from the Hearst point of view was not bad. Factional strife is undermining the strength of both the Republican and the Democratic parties in the county. In this city which, under normal conditions, is strongly Republican, dissatisfaction with the Republican City Administration and the party leaders at Albany assumed such proportions at the time of the municipal election last year that a Democratic candidate for Mayor, having no special record to commend him to the voters, fell only 2,000 votes short of carrying the city.

Some time ago George W. Aldridge, the veteran Republican leader, has not improved conditions in the Republican organization. A clash of political ambitions is imminent, with several leaders aspiring to succeed Aldridge if the situation had been made to order. It could not very well have been more favorable to a candidate who must depend for strength on his ability to realize on political strife.

The future of Mr. Hearst's Rochester publication as a business venture looks not unpromising, but Democrats not specially opposed to him predict that it will invite general newspaper opposition which will make it practically impossible for anybody to espouse his cause and fight for him in Monroe County. Without the Monroe delegation William J. Conners, who is leading Hearst's fight, could hardly hope to make a demonstration of strength in favor of Mr. Hearst sufficiently convincing to induce Murphy to give his assent to Hearst's nomination.

It is predicted, moreover, that the new Hearst organ will not continue long to burn smoky oil, which is the conception of it so far is ascribed largely to the fact that the issues which have appeared have been free from the characteristic sensationalism of other Hearst publications. The explanation may be that the Hearst forces think it better to spending on local newspaper talent so far to a large extent.

Other obstacles are looming up. There are rumors that such bodies as the Chamber of Commerce may spend the time of Mr. Hearst as a competitor of newspapers already existing which enjoy public confidence and have strong local backing. There are some who believe that an advertising boycott and the barring of the Rochester American from courses on an extensive scale may result from the local resentment.

Mr. Hearst has invariably encountered bitter opposition as a candidate from The Rochester Herald, the Democratic newspaper, edited by Louis M. Antisdale. Mr. Hearst first tried to buy The Herald without disclosing his identity, but failed. Some believe that in starting a newspaper in a crowded local field Mr. Hearst hoped to impress Democratic publishers elsewhere and frighten them out of opposition to his candidacy.

The factional conflict in the Democratic organization would lend itself to Mr. Hearst's purposes, providing the leaders on either side could muster up courage to come out in open espousal of his cause. But with the time at hand for signing petitions for candidates in the primary there has been no indication of any activity on behalf of Mr. Hearst. From the present outlook the very best Mr. Hearst can expect from Monroe, is an uninstructed delegation.

WOMEN TURN FROM HEARST.

Democratic Alliance May Choose Hylan as Candidate for Governor.

Members of the Women's Democratic Alliance, who will meet tonight at the Pennsylvania Hotel to discuss a Gubernatorial candidate, are said to be ready to turn from William R. Hearst to Mayor Hylan. The women, it was said, have reached the conclusion that the Hearst boom has exploded and that they are now anxious to get on "a live one."

The continued growth of anti-Hearst sentiment among the Democrats is said to have influenced the women to unite upon the Mayor in the fight for the Democratic nomination this Fall.

Judge McLaughlin Imposes Sentences Totaling Ninety-Five Years.

Sentences aggregating ninety-five years were imposed yesterday by Judge Alonzo G. McLaughlin in the Kings County Court on persons convicted of robbery. Pleas for mercy made on behalf of several prisoners were refused.

"Mercy to those guilty of highway robbery is a grievous injustice to the millions of law-abiding citizens of the community," said Judge McLaughlin. "It is mere chance that murder did not accompany the attacks of these defendants. Armed as they were with revolvers, they were prepared to commit murder as part of their plan of crime."

Frank Vespole, 20, of 131 Meeker Avenue; Anthony Caputo, 21, of 100 Skillman Avenue, and Nunzio Gandino, 21, of 255 North Eighth Street, each received from seven and one-half to fifteen years in Sing Sing. Thomas Ciccida, 23, of 451 Broadway got five years. Thomas Laconte, 21, of 115 MacDougal Street got from five to fifteen years.

Vincent Steneck, 23, an ex-convict, received a flat sentence of twenty years. Michael Grazis, 45, of 25 Stagg Street got five years, and his wife, Julia, was sent to Auburn for from two and one-half to five years. Alexander Saromofsky, 23, of 199 North Sixth Street got two and one-half to five years.

Cantaloupes Gorge City; Sell at 3 Cents, Wholesale

The New York State Department of Farms and Markets announced that more cantaloupes were received here yesterday than ever before. Receipts from California were 150 carloads. In July last year receipts averaged about thirty cars a day.

Yesterday's arrivals were so large that no room could be found to unload nineteen cars on either of the two piers that are generally used to display the night's supplies from the Pacific Coast.

In spite of the heavy supplies and the late opening hour, most of the melons were sold without demoralization of the market. Large-sized melons sold at 5 cents to 6 cents each wholesale; small cantaloupes 3 cents.

In addition to the California melons there were thirteen cars of North Carolina melons on the market. Large melons from this State brought mostly 3 cents each, wholesale.

INTENDS TO KEEP IT DOWN

Previous Advertisements Tolerated Because of Their Public Usefulness, He Explains.

Julius Miller, President of the Borough of Manhattan, said yesterday that he had ordered the motion picture advertisement on the city-owned triangle at the intersection of Broadway, Seventh Avenue and Forty-third Street removed by next Monday. Mr. Miller also said that on or immediately after that date he was going to take down the sign board which carried the advertisement.

The borough President's action followed complaints from citizens who objected to cluttering up the streets or sidewalks of New York City with any sort of advertising. Yesterday Mr. Miller declared himself heartily in sympathy with the spirit of these complaints, and said he would see to it in the borough of Manhattan at least, that there would be occasion for no more such eyesores.

"Ever since I took office," he said, "I have felt that the situation of that sign in the heart of the Broadway district was unfair to the people of the city. Time and again I have decided to have it taken down, but every advertisement it displayed had the merit of announcing some project that seemed in the interest of the great mass of the citizens.

"As I remember, the first advertising that board carried was a message from President Harding to the people, which was displayed under the auspices of the Rotary Club. Then a New York newspaper, The Daily News, asked for the space to announce its campaign for shoes and clothing for poor children. I felt this motive was good, although I was anxious to get rid of the sign. Mrs. Hearst's milk fund campaign was also on the sign. The last thing, I believe, was an appeal for recruits by the United States Army for the citizens' training camps.

"The application for the present advertisement was made to Commissioner of Public Works Joseph Johnson, who has jurisdiction in matters pertaining to streets and sidewalks. With acquiescence, Commissioner Johnson granted the R. C. Pictures Corporation permission to use the space. Its representatives said they had a picture portraying the life of a policeman, and that in addition a percentage of the receipts from the picture, 10 per cent., I believe, was to go to a fund for widows of patrolmen slain in the line of duty.

"Now, I do not think any one in New York will deny that everything possible should be done to help our splendid police force, and especially the dependents of the men who perish in our defense. That is why I approved the use of the sign.

"But the use of that board has gone too far. The permit expires on July 16, and under no circumstances will I allow it to be renewed. That triangle there in the centre of the busiest section of our city must be kept free from encroachments.

"Of course, there may be an occasion, such as arose in the late war, when public interest will overwhelmingly demand use of the space for some purpose that we can't yet foresee. Outside of that, we will keep that space free."

THRILLING EXPERIENCE, SAYS MRS. ROCKEFELLER

BOZEMAN, Mont., July 10 (Associated Press).—With their faces bronzed and almost blistered from facing the blizzard that swept Saturday over the peaks of Yellowstone National Park, Mrs. Percy Rockefeller and her party told today of their experiences. They arrived in Bozeman last night.

"It was the most thrilling experience, and one of the most delightful, too, that I have ever known," said Mrs. Rockefeller. "We were not lost, but were caught in a fierce snowstorm that raged nearly two hours on the very summit of Mt. Washburn.

"When we left the lower section of Yellowstone Canyon the sun was shining and it was a most beautiful day. We were in a big touring car without side curtains, and as we neared the top of Mt. Washburn the snow began to fall and the wind began to blow in regular gale. We thought nothing of that, however, at the time, and kept right on.

"By the time we reached the top, however, the mercury had fallen and the wind was biting cold, while the snow fell in a regular blinding sheet. At the top of Mt. Washburn, fortunately for us, is a little log cabin. We were glad to see that, I can tell you, and we took refuge in it. All of our party turned in and secured logwood from near by, and some boards. In the cabin was a fireplace, and there we started a roaring fire.

"Our first concern was to get Mr. Fuller, our chauffeur, warmed up. He had failed to bring his overcoat and gloves and had remained at his post, driving the car, while we were sheltered by our wraps from the winds.

"In the cabin we found it cosy and warm. We kept a fire going, but as the snow piled up outside and the wind increased in fury, we wondered whether we were going to be marooned there, and there was a little feeling of anxiety. None of us said anything about it, however.

"After about two hours of a heavy snowfall the wind died down and the clouds rolled away so we could see some distance. Our chauffeur went out and inspected the roads and said he thought we could make the trip back. So we all climbed into the big car and started. All went well until we ran into a snow bank that blocked the way. A little careful backing of the drifts by the machine opened a way finally, and we went down the mountainside.

"It seemed odd to all of us to be caught in such a snowstorm in the very middle of July, but we really enjoyed every minute of it."

Sharp Decline in French and Belgian Bonds — Stock Market Irregular.

Uniformity of trend was entirely lacking in yesterday's markets. Reflection of the German situation was to be found in the sharp decline in French and Belgian bonds on the Stock Exchange as well as in the decline of cotton prices. The bond market as a whole, however, was firm and the stock market displayed irregularity with narrow price changes predominating. The foreign exchange market, instead of going still lower, as the result of the Central European situation, showed somewhat higher prices for Belgian and French francs, lira and marks than those which ruled at the close of last week. The labor situation as related to the coal strike and the railroad difficulty apparently had no influence on the markets in general. Even this news was conflicting, the railroad strike being marked by violence in some quarters whereas it appeared that a settlement of the coal strike might be arrived at by the acceptance of President Harding's proposal that the difficulties be submitted to arbitration.

The really noteworthy development of the day was the decline in French and Belgian bonds, since the weakness seemed to be so closely linked up with the Central European difficulties. The French 7½s declined 2¾ points, the French 8s at 100 showed a loss of 2¾ points, the Belgian 8s declined 2¾, the Paris-Lyons 6s at 76 showed a drop of 2¼, and the Framerican 7½s declined 1¾ points. Heaviness in these issues created sympathetic weakness in other foreign bonds. On the whole, however, the news of yesterday with relation to German political and economic affairs was no more disturbing than at the close of last week, and it was not quite clear why so much pressure should have developed on the French and Belgian issues. Apparently some holders of these securities showed a degree of doubt regarding the German situation that was quite out of proportion to the seriousness of the case. France and Belgium are not going bankrupt even if there is a moratorium on reparations.

In the foreign exchange market the upturn in rates probably represented no change of sentiment with regard to affairs abroad but rather was brought about by profit taking on the part of speculators for the decline who had been selling francs, lira and marks for some time past in the expectation of just what has developed. In such a case, with the news out, there was bound to be some covering. Contrary to what has been the rule on recent days, sterling displayed weakness, closing at $4.43¾ as compared with a previous price of $4.44¼.

Steel tonnage figures of the United States Steel Corporation which were announced yesterday for June, showed an increase of 331,303 tons, a gain that was quite out of line with expectations. The impression had prevailed that the steel companies were reluctant to take heavy forward business at this time because of the uncertainties with relation to the railroad strike and the coal strike. Orders on June 30 amounted to 5,635,531 tons, the largest quota since April, 1921. Shipments of steel by the corporation during June were about on the same basis as in May and the gain in unfilled tonnage therefore appears to indicate that new business last month was in the neighborhood of 1,400,000 tons, a rate which is in excess of capacity. The steel figures simply indicate that the steel trade has been making progress toward complete recovery at a pace that has exceeded even the most optimistic predictions of only a short time ago.

The cotton and grain markets moved in opposite directions. Cotton declined because of the fear that the German situation might be disturbing to export trade particularly since Germany has been a heavy buyer of American cotton. The action of cotton here followed the lead of Liverpool. After an early decline the wheat market made a fair gain, the free selling of wheat last week apparently having improved the technical position so that the late covering yesterday caused a brisk upturn.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Continental Rates Show Advancing Tendency After Early Irregularity—Sterling Lower.

After a foreign session of irregularity in which European exchanges hovered around Saturday's levels, yesterday's market turned strong in the afternoon and at the close French, Italian and German remittances, which have been notably weak of late, developed strength and closed at good sized advances. On the other hand, checks on London were weak, finishing at $4.43¾ from $4.44¼ Saturday.

Francs advanced to 7.95 cents from 7.81, while lire got up to 4.48 cents from 4.41. Berlin held steady around 10¾-one-hundredths of a cent, moving up from .19. In the Central Europeans the feature was Czechoslovakia, which got up to a new high for the year at 2.85 cents. Scandinavians were dull, South Americans and Easterns lower.

In the subjoined table the quotation on sterling represents dollars and decimals of a dollar; all others represent cents and decimals of a cent. Quotations preceded by the decimal mark indicate a price measured in fractions of a cent.

OPPORTUNITIES in SOUND BONDS

It is possible, however, by careful discrimination and a study of values to still obtain sound bonds that are selling out of line.

AMERICAN OBTAINS BAKU OIL CONCESSIONS

H. M. Day of Barnsdall Corporation Reaches Preliminary Agreement With Krassin.

THE HAGUE, July 10 (Associated Press).—Henry Mason Day of New York, President of the International Barnsdall Corporation, who arrived here last week for conferences with Leonid Krassin regarding the development of his company's property in Russia, concluded a preliminary agreement with M. Krassin today and will leave for Moscow July 24 to negotiate a final agreement for the development.

It is proposed that the operations shall be carried on jointly by the American corporation and the Soviet Government.

Mr. Day will take with him to Moscow a party of seven engineers and financial and legal experts to assist in the negotiations for the final agreement.

Oil development in Government-owned fields in the Baku and Grozni regions, which have not been under private ownership previously, is provided for in the agreement.

The party of which Mr. Day is the head consists of Edward Reiser of San Francisco, Eugene O'Connell, Philadelphia; Edward Griffin, New York, and Philip Chadbourne, Boston, engineers; Hunter Marston, New York, and Grant Forbes, Boston, financial experts, and George Ronald, Chicago, legal adviser.

Mr. Day and his associates visited the Caucasus months ago, when they mapped out the oil fields and prepared plans which originally were presented to M. Krassin at Genoa. The party probably will go by airplane from Germany to Moscow.

Announcement was made two months ago by executives of the Barnsdall Corporation that through a subsidiary, it was negotiating for permission to exploit certain sections of the Baku fields in Russia. Preliminary negotiations with the Russians have been going on since that time. No announcement has been made by the corporation as to the extent of the development planned and none will be made, officials say, until the final agreement has been signed.

EXPRESS CONTRACT RECEIVES APPROVAL

SOME WANT LARGER SHARE

Minority Said to Include New York Central, Wabash and the Kansas City Southern.

A majority of the member roads of the Association of Railway Executives has approved the new uniform express contract with the American Railway Express Company, which was presented to the railways recently by W. B. Storey, President of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and Chairman of a committee of executives appointed last year to outline a new contract.

A minority disapproved Mr. Storey's report on the ground that they were entitled to a larger percentage of the express revenues than the new stipulations call for. According to information in Wall Street yesterday the minority includes the New York Central, Wabash, Kansas City Southern, Delaware & Hudson and Denver & Salt Lake Railways.

Officers of each railway are analyzing the proposed contract with respect to their individual condition, and definite conclusions probably will not be reached for several weeks. Executives roughly estimate that the new contract will add about $10,000,000 annually to railroad revenues. It goes into effect March 1, 1922.

The principal changes in the contract decided upon by Mr. Storey's committee are embodied in the following points: First, the new contract would give to all railways which move express matter in carload lots 85 per cent. of the revenues accruing from that traffic. There is no comparison of this percentage with the old contract, executives point out, as the construction of the old contract is on entirely different lines.

The second stipulation would give the railways a larger voice in determining what expenses the express company should incur, and the third item provides that when the return to the express company exceeds 6 per cent. on property investment, then the excess will be divided 75 per cent. to the carriers and 25 per cent. to the express company.

Those railroads which do not subscribe to the new contract have the alternative of forming independent express companies or inaugurating fast freight service, it was explained. The American Railway Express is the only express company now in operation handling the business over all lines throughout the country, with the exception of the Southeastern Express Company, which functions for the Southern Railway and Mobile & Ohio.

In railway quarters a belief prevailed that the railway companies which have not approved the terms of the new contract will probably come in later. It is known that some of the chief executives of the dissenting roads are conferring with express company officials with the idea of clearing up some of the puzzling points, and a decision is expected soon.

TO EXAMINE EXPRESS RATES

Interstate Commerce Commission Plans Inquiry at Once.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Interstate Commerce Commission announced today that an investigation would be instituted immediately into the reasonableness of existing express rates in all parts of the country. Hearings will be arranged later, the order said, and a plan of procedure outlined.

Though freight rates were reduced July 1, generally 10 per cent. from the highest level reached during the war, express rates have been maintained substantially unchanged since 1920. A considerable number of complaints involving express charges are before the commission.

GREATER THAN EXPECTED

Forward Business of 5,635,531 Tons Sufficient to Keep Plants Busy for Five Months.

The monthly statement of forward business on the books of the United States Steel Corporation as of June 30 shows a total of 5,635,531 tons, the largest reported since April last year, and an increase of 381,303 tons over May 31. The gain was much larger than had been generally expected in financial circles. Shipments of finished steel during June were about on a par with those of May, or about 1,100,000 tons, so that the increased business was virtually due entirely to new booking. Almost every branch of the steel company reported increased business during June. The greater part of this was the result of increased buying by equipment manufacturers, railroads and the building trades.

The total of 5,635,531 tons of unfilled business is stated to be sufficient to keep the plants busy at the current rate of output for about five months. Current operations are about 75 per cent. of capacity. This is considered favorable, in the event of a lull in buying during the Summer.

A decline in new business had been looked for during July and August, but it was learned yesterday that there had been no let-up in demand during the first ten days of July. New business booked thus far this month is said to be holding its own with that booked during the first ten days of June, and should the remainder of the month hold up as well as the closing weeks of June it is predicted that another increase in forward business will be reported at the close of July.

According to reports in the steel trade, the independent companies also fared well during June, as much business which would have ordinarily gone to the Steel Corporation went to the independents because the corporation was unable to meet delivery requirements on many orders.

| May | 5,254,228 | 5,402,457 | 10,940,426 |
| April | 5,096,917 | 5,845,224 | 10,359,747 |
| March | 4,494,148 | 6,254,765 | 9,982,075 |
| February | 4,141,629 | 6,253,[illegible] | 9,[illegible] |
| January | 4,[illegible] | 6,[illegible] | 9,[illegible] |

| | 1921. | 1920. | 1919. |
|---|---|---|---|
| December | 4,265,414 | 8,149,122 | 8,268,[illegible] |
| November | 4,250,542 | 9,021,471 | 7,122,330 |
| October | 4,296,829 | 9,536,852 | 6,472,685 |
| September | 4,560,676 | 10,374,804 | 6,384,038 |
| August | 4,831,026 | 10,905,038 | 6,106,103 |
| July | 4,830,324 | 11,118,468 | 5,878,[illegible] |

The peak of unfilled tonnage was reached in April, 1917, when bookings amounted to 12,168,069. There was virtually a steady decline since May, 1918, when bookings totaled 11,[illegible], ranging to 11,118,468 in July, 1920. An other decline set in which continued until last February.

GIVES PHONE COSTS IN CITY.

New York Company Submits Figures at Commission Hearing.

Figures showing the receipts and expenses of the New York Telephone Company were submitted yesterday to the Public Service Commission in Albany during the State-wide hearing on rates. The commission is seeking to establish a charge for telephone service that will be uniform in all sections of the State, instead of the present method of establishing different rates based on the costs in small areas.

R. B. Walker, general superintendent of traffic of the company, filed a statement showing that during 1921 the company collected $12,825,000 for toll service furnished exclusively by its own lines. During the same period it also collected $16,244,[illegible] for service over the lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which the New York company received $3,017,143.

Mr. Walker's statement disclosed that the New York Telephone Company spent $1,668,000 in 1921 for maintaining and operating its restaurants and received $1,248,640 in restaurant charges. The company also spent in the same year $115,883 for maintaining rest rooms for its employes. Today G. W. Whittemore, the company's valuation engineer, will be called as a witness for the purpose of explaining how he had compiled figures showing the cost of reproducing the company's property.

In its complaint filed with the court in the action for injunction restraining the commission from attempting to force a reduction in telephone rates appears the statement that it would cost $[illegible],000,000 to reproduce the property used by the company in the telephone service, and that the "fair and reasonable value of the property is in excess of $[illegible]."

White Motor Truck Sales Mount.

The White Motors Company reports June sales of trucks to be the largest of any month since September, 1920. Sales for the second quarter of the year were 40 per cent. above the first quarter, and 23 per cent. above the second quarter of last year.

Moves Foreign Exchange Quarters.

The foreign exchange department of the Bank of Manhattan has been removed to 36 Pine Street, owned by the bank. The officers of the institution note that in 120 years the property at 36 Pine Street has had but three owners. The Bank of Manhattan acquired it in 1799, sold it in 1808 and repurchased it in 1919.

Report of Lawyers Mortgage Co.

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY

Dodge Manufacturing Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Delaware, with a business established forty-four years ago, is to-day the largest manufacturer of power transmission machinery in the world. Its products consist of steel, wood and cast iron pulleys, shafting, couplings, clutches, hangers, bearings, rope transmission, elevating and conveying machinery, etc., staple articles that are in constant demand by every manufacturing establishment.

The four manufacturing plants, located in Mishawaka, Indiana, and Oneida, New York, engaged in the manufacture of these essential products, possess unusually good facilities for both manufacturing and shipping.

Branch offices and warehouses are maintained in large cities throughout the United States with important distributing agencies in foreign countries, thus offering every facility for the distribution of Dodge products.

EARNINGS

Annual net earnings of the properties acquired by Dodge Manufacturing Corporation, after allowance for depreciation, and interest on the $2,250,000 bonds to be presently outstanding (the Company's only funded debt and closed mortgage), available for Federal Taxes and Preferred Dividends, are as follows:

| | | | |
| Five years preceding 1921 | $890,960 | equivalent to | 6.31 times dividend requirements |

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY
REFUNDING AND IMPROVEMENT 6's
Due 2047

We recommend the purchase of these bonds at the present market. The net yield is approximately 5.60%, which we believe to be more than that offered by any other railroad bond equally well secured and legal for Savings Banks in New York.

There were originally issued $230,000,000 Northern Pacific-Great Northern Joint 6½s, of which one-half have since been converted into Great Northern 7s. The remaining $115,000,000 6½s (which have been called for payment July 27th, 1922, at 103½) are being rapidly converted into Northern Pacific 6s and the present floating supply of the latter is abnormally large. After the termination of the conversion privilege on July 13th and as the distribution of the new bonds proceeds, we believe that they are likely to appreciate in market value.

The present market is approximately 106½. The bonds are not callable until 1936 and then only at 110. The 4½% issue, secured by the same mortgage, is selling at a price to yield only about 5.20%.

We believe that this is a real opportunity to purchase a bond legal for Savings Banks in New York under market conditions which, for special reasons, are unusually favorable.

You Should Not Substitute for the Guaranteed Mortgage a Near-Guaranteed One

It is not enough for the investor to turn away from the Ponzis with their 50% interest offers, the Lindsays with their easy profits through the bucket-shops, from the oil ventures and the countless get-rich-quick lures that, according to the U. S. Treasury, filch more than $500,000,000 annually from the unwary and the uninformed.

The investor must find another way to invest his savings or he will cease to save. He is therefore turning more frequently than ever before to the mortgage market. But even in this safest field of investment many pitfalls are being invented for him.

This Company has been for thirty years selling mortgages guaranteed by the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Co. (Capital and Surplus $12,000,000). We have had panics, wars, and hard times during that period, but at no time has there been any loss in these mortgages. The investor should choose them in preference to any other form of mortgage investment or investment of any class.

OROZAVE RENEWS OIL FIELD THREATS

...el Declares He Will Blow Up Pipe Lines and Pumps if 15,000 Pesos Is Not Paid.

...mand for Ransom Is Made on British-Owned Company—Other Raids Still Unexplained.

...ASHINGTON, July 10.—Gorozave, ... Mexican rebel, who has been de...nding ransom from American and ...er foreign corporations owning oil ...perties in the interior of the Tam...o field, is again on the rampage, ac...ding to official reports received today ... Secretary Hughes from Vice Consul ...w at Tampico.

...he bandit leader has now demanded ...00 pesos before July 10, Consul Shaw ...orted. He has delivered an "ulti...tum" in which he threatens to in...urate a campaign of blowing up pipe ...s and pumping stations if the money ...not paid.

...onsul Shaw stated that he had been ...formed by the Corona Oil Company ...t Gorozave is using the Pecera camp ...that company as headquarters, though ...s only twelve miles from the Aguada ...mp of the Cortes Oil Company, which ...the headquarters of the Mexican Fed...l detachment sent into the district ...cope with the rebels. Consul Shaw ...d in his official dispatch that the ...itude of Gorozave was "becoming ...y."

...he Consul did not state specifically ... names of those on whom the de...nd was made for payment of the ...om, but it is assumed it was made ... the British-owned Corona company, on which previous demand was made for payment of ransom to Gorozave by July 2.

No further mention was made by Consul Shaw of Gorozave's demand on the Cortes Oil Company at the Aguada camp for 15,000 pesos ransom. The original report from the Consul last week stated that Gorozave was holding forty Americans at that camp for ransom. Later reports indicated the Americans had been freed. It is assumed, since Mexican Federal troops were reported to have arrived at the Aguada camp, that ransom was never paid.

Previous official reports from Consul Shaw about Gorozave's activities said he had seized the Pecera camp and demanded 9,000 pesos by July 2 and was holding eighty-five persons, including half a dozen Americans, until the ransom was paid, but later reports indicated these persons had been released. So far as the State Department information goes, none of the various ransoms demanded by Gorzave has ever been paid.

It was stated at the State Department today that the detailed report of the capture and escape of A. Bruce Bielaski near Cuernavaca, requested of Charge d'Affaires Summerlin by the department, had not been received.

VERA CRUZ, July 10 (Associated Press).—The Tampico oil region is now entirely free of rebels, according to advices received at military headquarters recounting the decisive defeat of the bandits Gorozave and Francisco Lara and their pursuit into the State of Puebla by General Guadalupe Sanchez. The Federal commander, it is added, has created flying columns to patrol the roads leading to the various oil camps to insure against further raids.

The situation in this city, where martial law was declared recently following outbreaks by the striking members of the Tenants' Union, continues tranquil. Carlos Palacios, a member of the State Chamber of Deputies, has assumed leadership of the Tenants' Union during the imprisonment of the Communist organizer, Heron Proal.

Proal was placed on trial Saturday on charges of homicide, attacking and wounding policemen and assaulting soldiers. Sixty of the syndicalists arrested with Proal also were arraigned. They denied all the charges.

FIND CURB MARKET USEFUL TO BUSINESS

GREAT HARM IN ABOLITION

With New York Stock Exchange It Aids in Raising and Mobilizing Capital, Answers State.

The New York Curb Market and the New York Stock Exchange were declared to have very useful functions, in the great majority of replies to a questionnaire sent by the New York University Bureau of Business Research to members of the American Economic Association. Seven of the ten questions concerned the necessity and importance of Stock Exchanges in general and the New York Curb Market in particular, and a great majority of the replies expressed belief in the economic necessity of these institutions.

Of the 203 replies, 184 were affirmative and eight more affirmative with qualifications. Only four answered "No" to the question as to whether exchanges should be continued.

"It may be stated positively," said a statement issued by the bureau, "that the great majority of those members of the American Economic Association who replied to the questionnaire are of the opinion that to abolish either the New York Stock Exchange or the Curb Market would only have one of two effects—it would either be disastrous or would merely lead to the setting up of some substitute."

Some of the replies declared that the abolition of the Curb Market would mean the rise of a less desirable substitute and result in "a reversion to more primitive methods with scattered and localized dealings." Other answers called attention to the injury that would be done to the raising and mobilization of capital. Some twenty replies were to the effect that, if the Curb Market were abolished, it would injure business in general and retard industrial development. The bureau's statement continued:

"The questionnaire elicited that the advantage of the New York Stock Exchange which appealed most strongly was the increased mobility of capital. This was checked by 169 persons and underscored as important seventy-seven times. The next most important advantage is the fact that stock exchanges provide a public barometer of market trend. The only disadvantage suggested that received large attention was the point that exchanges may encourage speculation by ignorant persons. This last disadvantage was partly offset by a considerable number of replies pointing out that no arrangements would be able to prevent the weakness of human nature from finding expression in buying and selling."

There were 132 persons replying who said they considered the rules of the Curb Market effective and thirty-seven more who indicated that they regarded them as fairly satisfactory. Only two persons thought the rules entirely unsatisfactory or inadequate.

ANSWERS SUIT FOR $100,000

Harold Swain Denies Liability for Misuse of Estate Funds.

Harold Swain, lawyer, filed an answer in the Supreme Court yesterday to the suit brought against him as a former member of the law firm of Reeves, Todd & Swain to hold him and the other members of the firm accountable for losses to a client sustained through the acts of Harold Reeves, one of the members and brother of Alfred G. Reeves of the New York Law School, head of the firm.

The actions aggregate more than $100,000 and are brought by the estates of Ellen P. and John Prentice Kellogg, executors of the estate of Armide Vogel Smith, of which Mrs. Alva E. Belmont also was an executrix and who has also sued to recover a sum she has been compelled to refund to the Smith estate because of the losses due to the acts of Herbert Reeves.

The partners of Herbert Reeves are sued on the ground that they failed to warn the Smith estate of the acts of Herbert Reeves at a time when the loss to the estate was only $25,000. Mr. Swain alleges that at this period, in 1911, he retired from the firm and knew nothing about the misuse of the estate funds, and at that time the remaining partners assumed all the liabilities of the firm.

Mr. Swain also contends that the three executors would have detected the loss but for their own negligence, also that the suits are barred by the statute of limitations.

County Treasurer in Chicago Names Sears Widow as Delinquent.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 10.—County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr appeared before County Judge Frank Righeimer today and asked judgment against delinquent property owners in Cook County for approximately $25,000,000.

Among the names on the tax books was that of Mrs. Anna Sears, widow of the founder of Sears, Roebuck & Co. County Treasurer Carr asked the court for a judgment against the Sears estate holdings in Cook County for $1,700,000.

This judgment, Mr. Carr told the court, was asked on account of the fifteen-year litigation of personal property assessments, which have amounted to that sum.

TALKS OF LUCILLE FAILURE.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 10.—Lady Duff Gordon, discussing today with a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent the affairs of Lucile, disclaimed all responsibility for the concern's present financial position.

"I don't understand how the trouble arose," she said. "When I left New York in 1919, the business was in flourishing condition and the value of the good-will was very high, but since then I have had nothing whatever to do with its management, and although I heard rumors of its going wrong I could do nothing to save it.

"I was induced to give up control for what seemed to me an excellent offer. I was to get a fixed salary and all I was to do was to supply models. Then I was directed by the new management to come over to Paris, and they only gave me two weeks to break up my beautiful home in New York and take a steamer.

"I know it is said that I owe money to the firm, but I am sure that was all covered in the arrangement that I made. At present, my son-in-law, the Earl of Halsbury, and other lawyers are looking into my case, and before long they will make it clear that I am in no way to blame."

Lady Duff Gordon expressed a strong desire to return to New York and explained that she was not forced to depend on dress designing for her living.

"I am getting bored by clothes," she said, "and with price of labor today good clothes are so very expensive. I have many irons in the fire and may go in for something else. Perhaps it may be house decoration, but not on old lines, and I know a great deal about artistic photography. I can't tell yet what I shall take up."

It is one of the richest agricultural areas in the South, producing a variety of important crops including cereals and cotton, valued at $14,200,441 annually, according to the 1920 Government Agricultural Reports. The average value of farm land in the County is reported to be in excess of $100 per acre.
The City of Sumter, the County Seat, is one of the most substantial and progressive cities in the State. The resources of its banks are reported to be in excess of $8,000,000. The County is served by six railroad lines radiating from the County Seat and furnishing excellent transportation facilities to adjacent places and more distant markets.
These bonds are the second and final installment of $1,000,000 authorized for road and bridge purposes and constitute practically the sole debt of the County. They are arranged to mature serially in order that provision may be made annually for the discharge of the debt. They are a direct and general obligation of the entire County, payable from an unlimited tax levied against all the property contained therein. In addition, the bonds were authorized by a majority vote of the qualified electors.

Logan, the county seat, is a progressive city, with paved streets, buildings mostly of brick construction, an up-to-date business section and a prosperous, aggressive citizenry.
INDUSTRY
Logan is one of the largest shipping points on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway. It is a wholesale distributing centre for a prosperous section. The Kentucky & West Virginia Power Co. is located here and is now spending approximately $2,000,000 on improvements. Both city and county are engaged in permanent industries which assure the continued growth of the communities.
SAFEGUARDS
Under the laws of West Virginia the constitutional indebtedness of counties (including all road districts) is limited to 5% of the assessed valuation. We are advised that the assessed valuation of Logan County for 1922 will be in excess of $50,000,000.

BETTER HARVESTS OF CROPS FORECAST

Higher Average Than for Last Five Years Is Indicated in July Report.

CORN PROSPECTS DECLINE

Wheat and Oats Also Below Other Years—Bumper Potato and Tobacco Yield Expected.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Crops in general promise better harvests this year than their average for the last five years, forecasts of the Department of Agriculture, based on July 1 conditions, issued today, indicate. Bumper crops of white and sweet potatoes and tobacco are forecasts and most of the crops are larger than last year's. With the exception of wheat, corn and oats, acreages this year range from 1 to 22 per cent. larger than those of 1921.

Corn acreages are increased this year in most of the corn belt States, but in the cotton States decreases are shown, while in Iowa, largest corn-producing State, there is a 2 per cent. decrease, and in Missouri a 3 per cent. decrease. The crop in general made good progress to July 1, except in the Southeast, where it has been neglected for cotton. Growth has been slow east of the Mississippi, but stands are good and fields fairly well cultivated. Further West rapid growth has been made.

Winter wheat production forecasts show a decline of 38,000,000 bushels compared with June forecasts. Severe damage has been reported from heat waves and hailstorms in Kansas, from drought, high temperatures and winds in Nebraska, and from shriveling in Oklahoma and black chaff and take-all in some sections. Wheat remaining on farms July 1 is 31,041,000 bushels, or 25,000,000 bushels less than stocks a year ago.

Reason for Potato Crop.

The large crop of white potatoes forecast this year is due largely to increased acreage in Western and Northwestern States, while all important producing States show increases of from 5 to 10 per cent.

A 45 per cent. increase in tobacco acreage in Kentucky and increases of 36 per cent. in Maryland, 25 per cent. in Virginia, 13 per cent. in North Carolina, 35 per cent. in Tennessee, 24 per cent. in Ohio, and 25 per cent. in Indiana, account for the large tobacco crop. Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New England, however, reported decreased acreages.

The nineteen leading crops have a total area of 341,753,000 acres this year, compared with 345,140,000 acres last year, a reduction of about 1 per cent., due principally to Winter wheat and oats.

Production of corn was forecast at 2,860,000,000 bushels. That is 29,000,000 bushels more than the five-year average, but 220,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop.

The country's wheat crop was forecast at 817,000,000 bushels, having been decreased by 38,000,000 bushels as a result of conditions in June.

Spring wheat production was forecast at 248,000,000 bushels and the condition 83.7 per cent.

All wheat condition was 78.9 per cent. of normal.

The corn production forecast of 2,860,000,000 bushels was based on an estimated area of 103,234,000 acres, or 99.4 per cent. of last year's acreage, and a condition of 85.1 per cent. of a normal on July 1.

MORSE MUST STAND TRIAL.

He and Eleven Others Are Denied Appeal From Washington Court.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Government won its second victory today in the cases of Charles W. Morse, his three sons and eight others indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the United States and embezzlement. The Court of Appeals denied these defendants the privilege of a special appeal from the decision of Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy in Criminal Court upholding the indictments.

The Appellate Court held that there was no occasion for a special appeal. District Attorney Peyton Gordon announced that he would endeavor to bring the defendants to trial as soon as the court convened for the October term.

WEAKNESS ABROAD UNSETTLES COTTON

Liverpool Nervous Over German Situation—Prices Here Lose 56 to 65 Points.

Liquidation that started in cotton Saturday increased materially yesterday causing a decline of over half a cent. This brought the level down a cent and a half from figures reached immediately following the Bureau. Though the financial district seemed but little disturbed by developments abroad, sentiment in cotton circles was decidedly unsettled. Extremely favorable weather for the growing crop prevented aggressive support and buying power failed to withstand weight of contracts thrown on the market. Lack of any short interest was felt when stop-loss orders were reached. Final prices showed a loss of 56 to 65 points.

Liverpool responded to disturbing continental news before New York opened, prices there declining fully a quarter of a cent more than due. Over-Sunday selling orders on the largest scale in some time started October about 30 points off. Trading was active, pressure coming from both Southern and Western sources with local liquidation. As the call progressed, late months reflected presence of substantial buying for trade account. A great many contracts were taken from the ring in the first hour, preventing any further decline of importance until both New Orleans and Liverpool continued to lose ground. When weather conditions were found to be favorable in the extreme and some months in Liverpool registered a loss of about three-quarters of a cent, selling pressure became heavier. After selling around 22.20 October broke through 22 cents to 21.97. New Orleans led this decline, breaking to 21½ cents before support developed. The volume of stop-loss orders when October touched 22 cents here proved smaller than many had anticipated. This fact again served to indicate the limited supply of contracts at the present time. After two hours of trading, with extensive liquidation from many quarters December sold at 21.90, opening figures on that position. October lost some of its premium as reselling of speculatively held contracts proved heavier in that month than in distant ones.

Except a few showers at scattered points in the Carolinas and Georgia, and these mainly light, very little rain fell in the cotton belt. Temperatures at 8 o'clock Sunday night ranged from 88 to 96 over virtually the entire cotton region, and no point posted on the weather map showed a temperature below 74 at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. This provided ideal conditions for best progress of the crop, and temperatures could have been even higher without starting complaints. Following heavy rainfall early this season, precipitation below normal during the six weeks from June 15 to Aug. 1, with moderately high temperatures, is desirable. A strong tap root is formed under such conditions, and when followed by generous rains in August instead of a drought such as occurred last year, a good yield generally results. The question now uppermost from the crop standpoint is, what will August weather be?

But for the moment influences outside cotton itself are dominated. With very little short interest outstanding and almost no disposition to take that side of the market, unsettling European news came at a time when an extensive long interest existed. Liquidation that began Saturday halted around midday, permitting room traders to work October up a quarter of a cent. Steadiness of the stock market encouraged better support and for an hour decided resistance developed. Then the last hour selling was resumed on an extensive scale, carrying prices to new low levels.

Once more New Orleans led the way to lower figures, quotations there breaking 30 points with hardly a halt. This threw cotton on New York and early buyers rushed as rapidly as cotton could be absorbed. October broke through early low figures and this time caught stop-loss orders, driving that month to 21.76. Enough covering occurred in the last fifteen minutes to prevent further recessions and a rally of a few points took place near the close.

COURT FINDS ERROR IN STOCK TAX PLAN

Rules There Is No Authority for Fixing a Basis of $100 on No-Par-Value Issues.

HEAVY REFUNDS ARE LIKELY

Decision on State Levy Affects Many Corporations Doing Business in State.

A decision on the State taxation of so-called "no par value" stock in 1920, which was said yesterday to affect a large number of corporations doing business here and to involve the return by the State of thousands of dollars paid in taxes, has been handed down by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Third Department. The action was brought by the Terminal and Town Taxi Company, successor to the Black and White Taxi Company, through its attorney, Henry M. Powell of Powell & Silver, 51 Chambers Street.

Under the 1920 law, some of the provisions of which have since been amended, corporations were assessed for license and franchise taxes as though each share of "no par value" stock was worth $100. The Terminal and Town Taxi Company contested the legality of the assessment and appealed from the ruling of the State Tax Commission to the Appellate Division.

Although the paid in capital of the company was $815,200, the company contended, the State Tax Commission used as a basis for computing the assessment the value of $100 a share for the stock, including the "no par value" stock, which brought the total capital for tax purposes to $2,078,400. The taxi company set forth that this assumption, based on the provisions of the law in effect in 1920, was arbitrary in the face of proof that the actual value of each share was $8.55.

The decision of the Appellate Division, which was written by Justice Kellog, said:

"There is no authority for the assumption that non par value stock has a value of $100 a share for the purpose of assessing the tax under Section 181. We think that the tax to which the relator is liable under that section must have as its base the actual capital of relator employed within this State."

"The determination of the State Tax Commission should be annulled," the decision concludes, "and the case remitted to the Commission for further action in accordance with this opinion."

CONTEST $2,000,000 WILL.

Legatees Object to Executors of Mrs. Henry P. Booth's Estate.

A motion for the appointment of a temporary administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Angie M. Booth, widow of Henry P. Booth, former President of the Ward Steamship Company, will be argued today before Surrogate Cohalan, according to Arthur F. Driscoll of the law firm of O'Brien, Malevinsky & Driscoll.

The contestants are Marie Allison Landort of Port Washington, L. I., a grandniece; Adelaide A. Lawrence, a sister, who lived with Mrs. Booth at the latter's home, 4 Riverside Drive, up to the time of Mrs. Booth's death; and the children of two brothers of Mrs. Booth. The contest, Mr. Driscoll said, is not because of the legacies received by the beneficiaries, but on account of their dissatisfaction with the executors, Robert F. Greacen, an attorney of 60 Wall Street, and P. Merrill. In the contest proceedings the executors are represented by Frederick J. Moses.

Mrs. Booth's sister received $500,000 and interest on one-fifth of the residue for the rest of her life. To her brother Frank Mrs. Booth bequeathed $150,000 and the interest on one-fifth of the residuary estate, following the death of Mrs. Lawrence. A similar bequest was made to the grandniece, and smaller bequests were made to other relatives. The total value of the estate is estimated at $2,000,000.

SAY S.P. ROAD EVADES ORDER

Shippers Complain of Propaganda Against Dissolution.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Complaint was filed with the Department of Justice today in behalf of producers and shippers of the Pacific Coast against the alleged activities of the Southern Pacific Railway, in endeavoring to "create sentiment and action against the decision of the Supreme Court ordering dissolution of the partnership of that road with the Central Pacific."

Announcement that the complaint had been filed was made by the California Committee of Producers and Shippers, the statement adding that the proof was based "on efforts of the Southern Pacific Railway to stampede commercial organizations into supporting its attempt to evade the intent of the Supreme Court decision."

Assurance was received the committee said, that the petition would be considered by the department prior to the next hearing of the dissolution case.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

Manhattan Railway Calls on All to Deposit Shares for Reorganization.

The stockholders' Protective Committee of the Manhattan Railway Company, headed by Alvin W. Krech, issued a notice to the stockholders yesterday announcing that about 60 per cent. of the outstanding shares of the company had been deposited or were pledged for deposit under the plan of readjustment.

Practical unanimity of action, however, is necessary, according to the committee's statement, and unless the holders of practically all of the undeposited stock co-operate in putting through the plan by depositing their stock the plan will fail, it is said. The committee has extended to July 25 the time within which further deposits may be made.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT DECREASED IN JUNE

Production of 30 Companies Is 2,634,477 Tons, Against 2,711,141 in Month of May.

BEATS JUNE OF LAST YEAR

Tonnage for 1921 Is 19,184,084, Less Than That of Any Year Since 1908.

Production of steel ingots in the United States in June shows a reduction from the total in May, the decrease being the first reported since last December, when output was curtailed because of the end of the year holidays. The decrease, however, was slight in comparison with the gains reported in recent months.

Output, according to reports compiled from the American Iron & Steel Institute from thirty companies producing about 87.5 per cent. of the country's total, was 2,634,477 tons, against 2,711,141 in May and 1,003,406 in June last year.

WHEAT BULLISH, RALLIES AT CLOSE

Wet Weather and Strike Influenced Market, but Selling Pressure Caused Early Decline.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Wet weather and the railroad strike were the bullish influences in the wheat market, and while there was a small break early a strong rally came later with the close at net gains of ½ to ⅞ cent. Corn was weak and ⅝ to 1 cent lower. Oats ⅛ cent lower, and rye ⅛ to ½ cent lower. Local selling pressure was mainly responsible for the opening decline of 1 to 1¼ cent in wheat, the lower Liverpool cables and favorable weather in the Northwest being the depressing influences. Strong commission houses absorbed the surplus in the pit around $1.10¼ and under for September, and shorts covered freely on the way up, with considerable buying by houses with seaboard connections, presumably against export business.

A less pessimistic view prevailed regarding the foreign financial and political situation and the rail strike is rapidly coming to the fore as a big influence. The Chicago & Alton has embargoed loadings of livestock and perishables on account of the strike, and there were rumors of embargoes against grain with the Alton restricting loadings in Illinois. Wet weather is delaying threshing in the Southwest. Country offerings were fairly liberal in some sections and small in others.

The breaking of a forty-five-day drought in Northern Illinois led to rather general rains and a 250-acre fire in Cook County, Ill., early. The market showed stubborn resistance to pressure until near the last when stop-loss orders were caught. At 63½ cents for September commission houses again took the buying side and made a fractional rally. July acted a little tight and went to 2½ cents under the September against 3 cents at the close Saturday. Cash demand good.

Oats received good support on the breaks and held within narrow limits throughout the day. New England was after cash oats with sales of 180,000 bushels. Evening up for the Government report was a factor in all grains toward the last.

Rye was affected by favorable crop reports and slow export demands, the latter due to the German financial situation. Hedging sales had a depressing influence while support was lacking.

NEED MUTUAL CONFIDENCE.

Relation of Importer and Exporter as Seen by Colonel Robinson.

The relation of the importer to the exporter was the topic discussed by Colonel Myron W. Robinson, President of the American Manufacturers' Export Association, at a recent dinner of the National Council of American Importers given at the Pennsylvania Hotel. Colonel Robinson said in part:

"In export trade the interests of the American manufacturer and exporter are identical and should work as close together as the manufacturer and his own sales force.

"Foreign trade was never of more consequence than today. Import trade never more necessary. To check our foreign trade would mean international disaster. To check our imports would mean the end of our export trade. We need our export trade to keep up our capacity and production. We need the import trade on many things we do not make and for the purpose of restoring foreign countries and the balancing of the world's trade.

"In the relation of exporter to importer the question of tariff is vital to both. No good tariff can possibly come from a discussion that is not based upon facts but upon mutual jealousies, false statements and accusations and misunderstandings. There are advocates of low tariff or free trade who seem to think that manufacturers are a band of conspirators trying to rob the public; advocates of high tariff who believe the manufacturers above selfish motives, but believe the importers grasping profiteers employing but little labor, and hence of no benefit. Midway between the two extremes in the tariff discussion are those who wish to see a reasonable tariff for those American industries that need it, and yet who desire to encourage so far as possible importations into this country in order that our export trade, so necessary to our prosperity, be maintained. It seems to me that this is the sane attitude to take."

TRY "GROWING THEIR OWN."

Less American Tobacco Being Used Abroad, It is Said.

Cigar smokers are decreasing in the United States, while cigarette smoking increases. This tendency is also observable in Europe, where American tobacco is being used to a lesser degree than formerly. Experiments have shown that the tobacco plant, originally imported from some part of America or adjacent islands, can be grown elsewhere in equal quantity, if not quality.

Christopher Columbus, or his sailors, discovered the aromatic leaf—some say on the island of Cuba—but a few of the men led by Columbus also discovered and explored the island of Tobago in 1459, three years before they landed in Cuba. Columbus named the island Assumption, but the British, who have owned it since 1762, called it Tobago, from the fact that the Carib natives were inveterate smokers.

American cigarettes have much increased in European cities since the armistice and are widely displayed in the shops of Cologne, Frankfort-on-Main, Paris, London, Brussels, Antwerp, Marseilles, Calais and Boulogne. These are especially conspicuous in Antwerp, where virtually every shop vending cigarettes carries ample stocks of American brands, owing to the enormous numbers of passengers entering and leaving that port on the River Scheldt from and to the United States.

On the other hand, few American cigarettes find their way to Scandinavia, and Holland usually prefers cigars, which come from Dutch possessions in Java and Borneo. Even during the war quite a smokable cigar could be purchased in Amsterdam or Rotterdam for two cents, and the best cigars were often procurable for four cents. It is not unusual in Holland to see a 7-year-old boy walking with his father and smoking as large a cigar as his parent.

Great Britain is supplying its needs largely from its tropical sister States, instead of depending, as was once the case, upon Virginia for her supply of tobacco leaf. Her imports of tobacco in 1921 were valued at about $103,000,000 and weighed about 200,000,000 pounds.

There are about fifty specimens of tobacco plants, most of them derived from America, whence the first sample was imported into Spain in 1558, and in 1586 Sir Walter Raleigh and Ralph Lane (the first Governor of Virginia) introduced the leaf to England. Virginia favors "Nicotiana tabacium," as also do Cuba, the Philippines and Latakia. "Nicotiana persica" is the renowned Shiraz tobacco of Persia, and East India prefers "Nicotiana rustica" (imported from Mexico), which also thrives in Germany and Hungary.

India is rapidly developing the growth of tobacco, and South Africa is increasing its output, while tobacco is produced with greater freedom than formerly in both England and Ireland. Australia is not so prominent, but the West Indian Islands, Ceylon and North Borneo are rapidly advancing as tobacco-producing countries. Indeed it is predicted that before many years have passed American tobacco will have a much reduced sale in Europe, and that the British Empire will be, in this respect, self-supporting.

Members of New Club Are Builders of Good Citizenship.

Of the myraid clubs and societies of this great city, the well-worn adage may be applied, "there is always room for one more." And a branch of a national organization has been started here which, if its organizers and its aims signify anything, is to exert a powerful influence in civic affairs. It is called the Civitan Club of New York, and the members, having coined their name from the Latin word for the State, call themselves "builders of good citizenship."

"This is a forum whence men of standing in the community can send out a note of courage to the people," said F. A. Wilson-Lawrenson, the President, at a recent organization meeting in the Astor Hotel. It aims to guide the thought of the people into international channels, so that they shall think along those lines instead of in terms of their own back yards.

The original Civitan Club was formed in 1917 in Birmingham, Ala. By last year it had spread to seventy-three cities, say its organizers, and had a national membership of something like 4,000. It is similar to the Rotary clubs and Kiwanis clubs, but instead of being made up largely of business men, it is composed of men from every branch of business and professional life. The 200 charter members of the New York Civitan Club comprise bankers, lawyers, manufacturers, ministers, surgeons, physicians, chemists, advertisers, publishers, hotel men, dentists and social workers, not to mention others not classified in these groups.

The sort of things that Civitans have been doing is indicated by the following: In Baltimore last year the City Administration to appropriate $800,000 for the public schools, secured educations for poor boys and had crippled children sent to the country for a rest cure, in Louisiana the Baton Rouge Civitans, it is said, broke a ring of crooked politicians there and through the State.

On the Board of Governors of the New York Civitan Club are William A. Whitehouse, De Lancey Kountze, Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., George W. Ochs-Oakes, George Brokaw Compton, the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, Dr. E. Sharp Whitin, William T. Gilbert, Robert G. Thach, John Wanamaker Jr., Francis Howland and C. E. Whitmore. The charter members include former Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, D. W. Griffith, Sam A. Lewisohn, Walter T. Black and Suffragan Bishop Herbert Shipman.

The club will have no clubhouse, but will hold monthly or semi-monthly luncheons, at which men of prominence will speak and where general discussion will be the order of the day. Political and religious issues are barred, but the topics to be discussed are of a wide range, including intellectual subjects, finance, economics, commerce and international affairs.

ELKS OPEN NATIONAL REUNION AT SEASIDE

HUNDREDS FROM THIS CITY

New York Delegation From "Mother Lodge" to Lead Parade of Thousands on Thursday.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 10.—The fifty-eighth annual reunion of the Grand Lodge of Elks opened here today with the dedication of the site of the proposed new million-dollar home of the Atlantic City Lodge on Virginia Avenue near the Boardwalk. The ceremonies were witnessed by several thousand visitors.

Governor Edwards delivered the address of welcome at the session tonight on the Steel Pier. Harry Bacharach, Grand Esquire and former Mayor of this city, presided.

Frank D. Fallon is at the head of the delegation from New York, No. 1, and Exalted Ruler Harry C. Kensing is here with Brooklyn, No. 22.

New York, the "mother lodge," will occupy the position of honor at the head of the parade on Thursday. It will be reviewed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt. Exalted Ruler Fallon declared tonight that the New York delegation probably would number 750. The band and drill corps will arrive on Thursday.

In his address tonight Grand Exalted Ruler W. W. Mountain reviewed the work of the Grand Lodge the past year. He asserted that the membership was now about 850,000 and that it was expected to pass the million mark in another year.

The first business session of the Grand Lodge occurs tomorrow. One of the most important reports will be that of the Elks National Memorial Headquarters Building Committee, headed by former Governor Tener of Pennsylvania. The edifice will be built in Chicago.

It is generally accepted that J. Edgar Masters of Charleroi, Pa., will be the next Grand Exalted Ruler. The convention probably will return to Atlantic City next year and Portland, Ore., is seeking the 1924 reunion.

SAYS KLAN MUST UNMASK.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 10.—The emphatic statement that the members of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan must unmask, failing in which he will call upon the Legislature to make the wearing of masks in public a criminal action, was made in a letter sent by Governor Thomas Hardwick to W. W. Rainey of Columbus, and just given out today at the Executive offices.

This letter was in reply to one from Mr. Rainey, who is now supporting the Governor for re-election, but who opposed him in his first race. Referring to the Klansmen, the Governor says:

"I quite agree with you that we should not be intolerant, even toward honest, law-abiding members of the Ku Klux Klan. There are many honest people who are in it and who went into it with highest and most patriotic motives, for its creed and principles are patriotic and unassailable; outrages by mobs of masked men are growing in number in this State, however, and these performances must be checked. It is my earnest hope that the leaders of this organization may promptly realize the necessity for discarding the mask and for removing all secrecy about their membership list.

"Unless they do it will be necessary, in the interests of the public and of law and order, to take strong steps to make the wearing of masks criminal in this State and I shall unhesitatingly advise and recommend such a course to our general assembly.

"We have no room for invisible government in this State. So long as I am Governor and can prevent it we shall not have it, either in the Klan palace or the United States Capitol at Washington. At any rate, I shall do all in my power to combat it from whatever source it may come. Whatever were the excuses for the first Ku Klux Klan—and they were strong and numerous—there are none for any Klan of a similar character operating to enforce their own opinions and to execute their own desires outside of the law and courts of the State. It cannot be tolerated by the honest men and women of this State, and I do not believe it will be tolerated by them."

MRS. HOTCHKISS DROWNED.

Bride of Retired Machine Gun Man is Found at Fairfield.

FAIRFIELD, Conn., July 10.—The body of a woman found floating in Long Island Sound at Fairfield Beach today was identified tonight as Mrs. Edward S. Hotchkiss of Bridgeport. Before her marriage to Mr. Hotchkiss four months ago she was Miss Jane Richmond Borden of Erie, Pa. Dr. W. H. Donaldson, medical examiner of Fairfield, said that he would ascribe the death as due to accidental drowning in his report to Coroner Phelan.

Mrs. Hotchkiss, who was 35 years old, arrived at Fairfield Beach in a taxicab and went immediately to a bathing pavilion, where she rented a bathing suit. She was unaccompanied and was seen a few minutes later walking on the beach apart from other groups of bathers. She went into the water, and less than a half hour later a life guard in a rowboat discovered her body floating with the tide. Efforts to restore life in the body failed.

STONE COPING HITS GIRLS.

Two Are Taken to Hospital in Precarious Condition.

As occupants of the tenement house at 148 North Fourth Street, Brooklyn, were sitting on the front steps last night a stone coping, 6 feet long, 20 inches wide and 8 inches thick, fell. It struck full across the knees of two girls, Emily Keddies, 16, of 200 Metropolitan Avenue, and Waldyslaw Czarnivitz, 5. It grazed the knees of Helen Bishoff, 16, and of Mrs. Anginetta Czarnivitz, mother of Waldyslaw. Others were struck by mortar and fragments of stone.

Dr. Lipton, called from the Greenpoint Hospital, sent the two children to the hospital and treated the others for shock and abrasions. At the hospital it was said that the children were in a precarious condition from internal injuries.

The police learned that the coping was struck by lightning a month ago.

Indictment Against Moran & Co. Was Dismissed Some Time Ago.

Justice McAvoy, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday, ordered the jury in the trial of corporations and individuals of the Heating and Piping Association on a charge of violating the State anti-trust law, to acquit five more of the defendants. They were Frank J. Fee, Wells & Newton Co., William P. Olvaney, H. G. Woolfolk & Co. and Samuel Raisler.

It also developed that the indictment against Moran & Co. was dismissed a few days after indictments were returned against forty individuals and corporations in the alleged combine, but through error, the firm was mentioned among those placed on trial last Wednesday. The trial will be continued today.

Gray Goods Prices Steady.

Trading in the local gray goods market yesterday was not very active, but prices were firmly sustained at the advance. Sellers were unwilling to sell past Aug. 1, but for delivery during the remainder of this month, sales of 38½-inch 64-60s and 39½-inch 68-72s were made at 8⅝ and 9⅝ cents respectively. For 38½-inch 60-48s sellers were asking 7¾ cents. Inquiry for 6.15-yard sheetings was fairly large during the day, and near-by business was reported at 7 cents net. For some lots of 5.50s buyers paid 7⅛ cents net. For 36-inch five-yard sheetings 8½ cents was the price. Sateens were firmly sustained on the basis of 13½ cents for 39-inch 4.30s.

Boys' Clothing for Fall.

Buying of boys' clothing for Fall continues on a restricted basis. Retailers are ordering slowly and mostly of the cheaper lines. As in the case of men's clothing, there has only been a slight response to the argument of higher prices because of increased cost of fabrics. However, with the Fall season considerably nearer, manufacturers now look for more proportionate sales of the better lines. The demand is practically all for suits with two pairs of trousers. Some makers say there has been a slackening in the demand for tweeds and that worsteds are coming into considerably more favor. For the current season, wash suits have sold well. This type has met the consumers' demand for economy, and makers of them have been kept very busy.

Dress Ornaments Called For.

Dress ornament manufacturers are now receiving a large amount of early orders for merchandise to be used on Fall garments. From all indications, the use of decorations will be widespread. Large cachons of steel have been in great demand, according to prominent makers, with decorative buttons and clasps of the same metal featured. Large orders for jet buttons have also been received. "That jet buttons will be among the leading types of ornaments during the Fall is no longer a prediction, but a reality," said one manufacturer yesterday. Crystal circles, to be used as clasps, are also coming to the fore, with jade, periwinkle, tango and various combinations being the leading colors.

Percales Reported Very Active.

Although business in percales in this market is more active in some quarters than in others, on the whole there is little to complain about. Buyers apparently realize that the goods are cheap, with cotton and gray goods at their present levels, and are taking advantage of an opportunity to load up before current prices are withdrawn or advanced. Southern buyers, in particular, were reported yesterday to be trading freely, probably because they have a better idea of the cotton situation and the possibilities it holds. Three prominent Southern wholesalers were in the showroom of a certain local house yesterday at one time, and were said to be buying in spite of the fact that the salesmen have only recently returned from their trips.

Another Kind of Fraud.

With a view to the prevention of a fraud which is being cleverly carried on at the present time, a prominent Fifth Avenue tailor has issued a letter of warning to his customers. The fraud is practiced by individuals who watch the employe take the package to the home of the customer, where it is generally receipted for by servants. Having noted the location, the party working the fraud proceeds to the house and tells the servant there has been an error either in the merchandise delivered or in the name and address. The servant gives the package back, and the result is the loss of the goods. The firm in question advises that, under no circumstances, should return of the package be made without written order.

Denim Situation Unusual.

Despite the more active demand for denims at first hand, which has led to the withdrawal of several important lines for the time being, it was said yesterday that the situation in these goods is still unusual. With 19 cents the asking price reported on 2.20-yard white-back goods and 16½ to 17 cents asked for 2.40-yard "double and twiste" by first hands, second hands are said to be willing to sell on the basis of 18 cents for the former. Due to the relatively rapid rise of the goods from the low mark they touched, cutters of the goods can make a better profit by selling them in the piece at close to the present market than by making them up into garments. Only a few days ago substantial lots of the goods were offered here by second hands at 18 cents.

Merchant Tailors Doing Well.

Merchant tailors continue to report good business. The ordering of suits for the current season has been very satisfactory, and preparations are now being made for the Fall. From the amount of advance orders already placed the trade inclines to the belief that the Fall will see a large increase in buying. In the orders thus far received there has been a considerable drift toward fancy and unfinished worsteds. There has been, especially, a good demand for fabrics with single or double hairline stripes or plaids with stripe running through. While some prominent in the trade say there has been a falling off in collections during the present month, no importance is attached to this, as it is a seasonal occurrence.

Knitted Ties in Demand.

Manufacturers of knitted ties say the volume of early Fall orders thus far received from retailers has been good. They point out that the knitted tie has been in better demand this season than ever before and claim this is because of its superior wearing qualities as compared with cut silk ties. This marked popularity they expect to continue during the coming season. In the Fall lines, a considerable variety of patterns is being featured by leading makers. Lengthwise and bias stripes are conspicuous as are Jacquard figures and the so-called Marquisette effects. There is a wealth of color in many patterns, with the tendency strong toward the more prominent shades.

Jute Crop Figures Received.

The first definite estimates of the shortage of the current jute crop in India were contained in cables received in this market yesterday. They set the shrinkage of acreage cultivated this year at 38,000, reducing the total area under jute in 1922 to 1,425,000 acres. Figuring three bales to the acre, the estimated crop is placed at a total of 4,275,000 bales. If the jute harvested is not all of normal quality, however, this estimate will be reduced. Due to bad weather, estimates of a crop not exceeding 4,000,000 bales have been made. This according to C. E. Rockstroh, would be the smallest crop harvested in at least twenty-five years, and he predicts that the shortage will be felt to considerable extent in this country during the early part of next year. The average crop (estimated) since 1904 has run from 7,600,000 to 8,000,000 bales and only a surplus of the 1921 crop is reported on hand. Shipments of burlaps from Calcutta during June are placed tentatively at less than 50,000,000 yards.

Underwear Opening Not General.

Naming of prices on lightweight lines of underwear for next Spring was not nearly as general as had been looked for in view of the decision made recently at Utica that July 10 should be the date for the action. Most concerns held off in order to see what the "other fellow" was going to do. The most authentic prices heard of during the day were $3.25 a dozen for men's balbriggan separate shirts and drawers; $6.50 for balbriggan union suits, and $6.50 for ribbed union suits. On this basis it was predicted that the cheaper lines would be opened today or tomorrow at $3 to $3.12½ a dozen for the shirts and drawers, and that the better goods would be quoted at $3.50. Buyers seemed disappointed at the few prices named, and very little real business was reported. Leading lines of athletic goods for Spring were also unpriced, though some of the lower known ones were quoted on. Goods of this type made in Pennsylvania mills were said to be priced on the same basis as last year's opening, with New York State lines about 5 per cent. higher than at that time.

2 WHO MISSED SHIP TO SUE WHITE STAR

22 SEEING SIGHTS HERE

Owners of Liner Giving Them Allowance While They Wait to Go on the Olympic.

Two of the sixty second-class passengers who were left behind by the White Star liner Majestic when it sailed at 11 A. M. Saturday for Southampton and Cherbourg will bring suits for damages against the company today, it was announced yesterday by Fred E. Klein, an attorney. One of them is Mrs. Charles Evans of 631 East 188th Street, who demands $10,000, and the other is Arthur Geiger a Pittsburgh lawyer, who asks for $25,000 damages. They will leave today on the Berengaria for Southampton. Klein, who was on the pier when the Majestic sailed, said that he was acting as attorney for thirty of those left behind. He had advised fifteen of these people, he added, to settle with the company, as they were persons of small means who could not afford to wait.

Thirty of those who missed the ship sailed on the Zeeland at noon Saturday in the second cabin and two in the first cabin, while one went in the first cabin of the White Star liner Baltic. One will leave on the American liner St. Paul tomorrow, and the two who are suing will go on the Cunarder Berengaria at noon today. Twenty-two have decided to remain in New York until Saturday and leave on the Olympic.

The twenty-two are from the Middle West and wish to see New York, now they are here. They are being allowed $5 a day for their expenses, and those whose hand baggage was carried off on the Majestic are being given an extra allowance to purchase toilet articles.

Mr. Klein, who was expected at the White Star office yesterday but did not go there, asserts that his clients were on the pier in plenty of time to catch the vessel and that the delay was caused by the steamship clerks. This is denied by officials of the line, who state that the passengers were not at the gangway fifteen minutes before the Majestic sailed and that only two of them, Mr. and Mrs. Perkins of Cleveland, had their tickets wrongly stamped from 10 to the sailing hour. All others, they said, had the correct time, 11 A. M., on the tickets, and several were chatting with friends on the pier instead of going to the gangway to get their tickets examined and stamped.

Transit Board Orders Plans for Transfer of Subway and Elevated Entrances to Stores.

Plans to relieve the congestion of pedestrian traffic in Greeley Square by the removal of subway kiosks and elevated stairways and constructing entrances to the rapid transit lines converging at that point in the store of Gimbel Brothers and the store of Saks & Co., were considered yesterday by the Transit Commission. The change has been advocated by Borough President Julius Miller of Manhattan and property owners in the neighborhood, including the proprietors of the McAlpin and Waldorf-Astoria Hotels.

General Lincoln C. Andrews, executive officer of the commission, directed the commission's engineers to prepare plans for the removal of the obstructions. It is proposed to transfer the escalator to the elevated railroad at Thirty-third Street to the triangular plot between Broadway and Sixth Avenue and to substitute entrances in the store buildings for the Sixth Avenue sidewalk entrances to the Hudson tubes. Removal of these obstructions will permit the widening of Thirty-third Street at this point.

It is also proposed to continue the Thirty-third Street pedestrian tunnel which now runs from the Pennsylvania Station to Sixth Avenue by turning it northward to Broadway and Thirty-fourth Street to connect with the Broadway subway. Frederick A. Gimbel of Gimbel Brothers attended the conference yesterday and consented to the placing of the entrances in the stores on condition that they should be constructed to harmonize with the architectural design of the two buildings.

The commission closed the hearing on the valuation of the property of the New York Railways Company and on testimony of John H. Madden, its valuation engineer, revised the tentative estimate of value to $35,261,413. The estimate of the company, prepared by Stone & Webster, engineers, was $91,351,638. The attorneys for the company received permission to submit briefs later.

ROB SAFE OF $12,000 GEMS.

Burglars Also Get $450 War Stamps in Builder's Absence.

Twelve thousand dollars' worth of jewelry and $450 in war saving stamps were stolen from a safe in the home of Angelo G. Fasany, a builder, of 2,501 Friebe Avenue, the Bronx, on Sunday by burglars, who cut the combination and removed the safe door with electric drills, the police of the Westchester station let it be known yesterday.

Fasany, with his wife and seven children, attended a birthday party at the home of a relative Sunday afternoon and evening. On returning home late he found the gate leading to the three-story private dwelling which he occupies unfastened. The outer door leading from a vestibule into the living rooms of the house had been forced.

The safe in which were stored the jewels was on the third floor. It was found in the centre of the room on its side, with the door completely torn off. Among the missing jewels are two five-carat diamond earrings and a six-carat diamond ring, the property of Mrs. Fasany. There was also a seven-carat diamond ring which belonged to Mr. Fasany.

Four-fifths of your entire opportunity to sell goods is in the shaded area on this map. That is your market—where freight rates, population, distribution facilities, wealth per capita, and purchasing habits all unite to move goods at the swiftest and most economical rate. These economic factors in the promotion of sales cannot be overlooked.

You can go outside of this market if you wish—or if you must—and increase your sales, but your profits will not increase proportionately. In most cases they will not increase at all. You will strike a condition of diminishing returns—due to the economic factors of distribution.

When you buy advertising space in McCall's Magazine, eighty per cent. of your energy is applied in the shaded area where freight rates are not prohibitive; where your salesmen travel continuously; where you have plenty of dealers; where the purchasing population is thickest; where sales can be promoted most economically.

If the 1,700,000 families who read McCall's Magazine every month lived on a single street, this street would stretch from Boston to San Diego—3,000 miles—with a home every twenty-five feet on both sides of the street. This is McCall Street—the most famous thoroughfare in the world.
